Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the Front had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

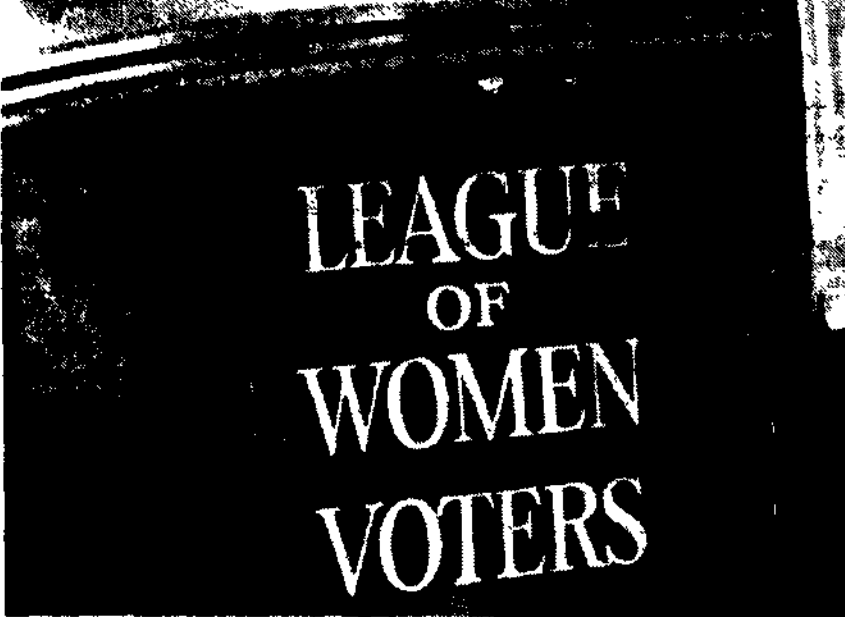

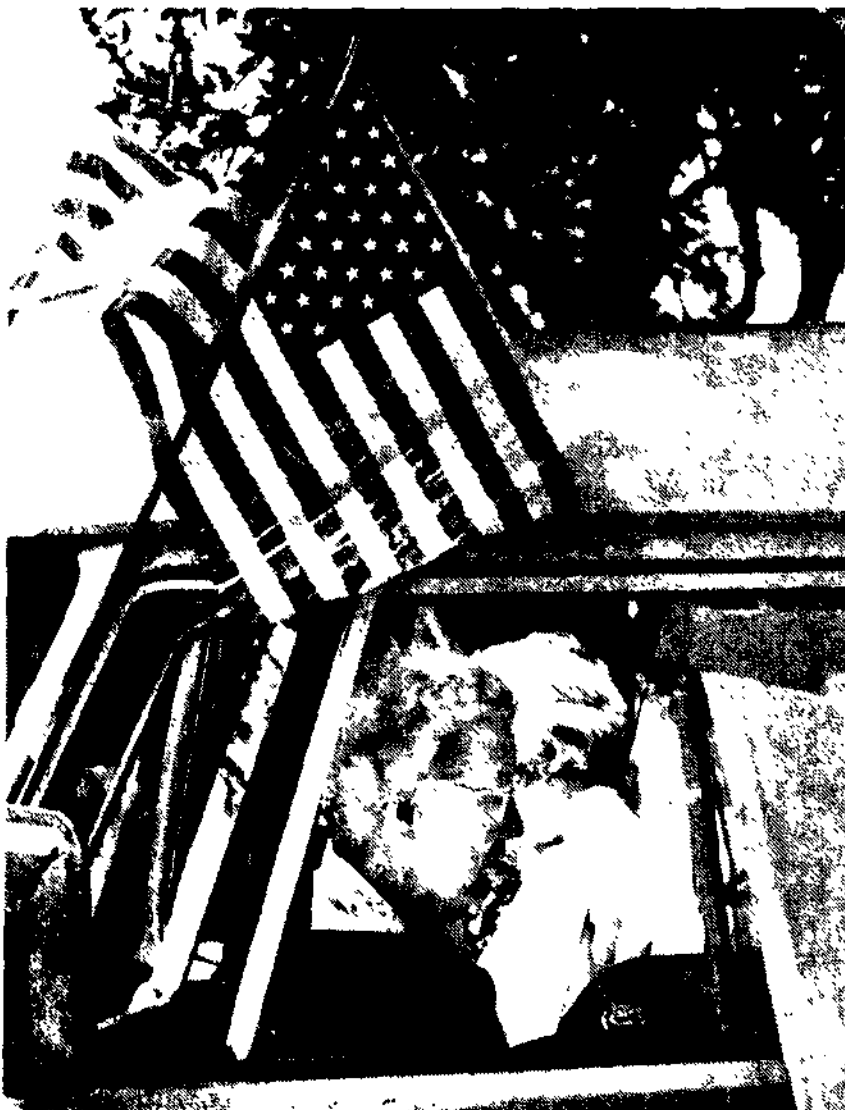

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc., of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes, "as I understand them."

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

VOTESWAGEN signed up 18 voters yesterday at the Lutheran Home for the Aged in northern Arlington Heights yesterday. The bus, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, has already registered 156 persons since it swung into action a week ago.

Police Have Anti-SDS Booklet

by MURRAY DUBIN

Besides providing police protection to the community, the Arlington Heights Police Department has been offering one added but unasked for item — conservative political literature.

Innocently displayed on the police desk in the village hall Wednesday was a pile of small, white, four-page booklets printed in Dallas and dated June 13, 1969.

The booklet was entitled "Life Line." The headline on each booklet was "Freedom Talk" and the headline under that was "SDS — Students To Destroy Society." ABOUT SDS, LIFE Line said, "Under the guise of academic freedom, arrogant and hard-core militants are determined to destroy our educational system." The booklet includes this description of the 1965 LDS convention in Kewadin,

Mich.: "All facilities at the site were coed, and over 250 participants, regardless of sex or color, shared cabins and bathrooms. The facilities were filthy, but no more so than many of the barefooted, bearded, unkempt delegates."

Life Line, a reprint of a daily radio commentary, labels the SDS and its affiliates as "very much huns and vandals. Our concern must be to deal with them with a strong hand."

When asked what the politically conservative literature was doing in the police station, Chief L. W. Calderwood said, "They're sent to the department and we distribute them to the officers because they are part of our life today."

"WE TRY AND KEEP our officers as well informed on both sides of every issue as we can..."

Calderwood added that if SDS sent his office literature, it would be displayed, too. "We receive J. Edgar Hoover's reports and the Christian Science Monitor, among others. It is just too bad I can't assimilate them all."

The Arlington Heights Police Department has not as yet received literature from any organizations on the "left."

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the Herald that he did not know anything about the display of Life Line, but said, "I don't think we should be a clearing house for all types of material. I'll look into it."

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack Siegel was surprised when told of the matter. "I don't think it is very good policy and I don't think the village should push material like that."

Though not sure of the legality of such a display in the village hall, Siegel said, "I don't think the village should push anybody's political views, and if this continues, we would have to present all political views."

Life Line could not be found on the police desk Thursday afternoon.

Arlington Loses

Falling victim to its own errors, the Arlington Heights entry in the Ninth District American Legion double elimination baseball tournament suffered its first loss of the tourney, losing to Park Ridge last night, 6-2, in a ballgame that took three days to complete.

Arlington Heights and Park Ridge originally took to the field Tuesday evening at Maine South, but after 10½ innings the game was called on account of darkness with the score tied at 0-0. Moving to Recreation Park in Arlington Heights Wednesday night, the two ballclubs then played another 10 innings before darkness again halted the game, this time with the score knotted at 2-2.

But last night at Maine South there were no ties, and after 30½ innings of baseball a winner was finally decided: Park Ridge.

PARK RIDGE exploded for three unearned runs in the third inning off Heights starting pitcher Bob Leja, then added three more runs — one of them unearned — in the fifth to claim the victory. In all, Arlington Heights committed four crucial errors in the ballgame, all but one accounting for a Park Ridge tally. Arlington's two runs came one at a time in the third and fourth innings. After Dave Lundstedt led off the third with a single to left, relief pitcher Dave Jones cracked a shot down the third base line to move Lundstedt to third. A walk to Mike Wulbecker loaded the bases, and it seemed that Heights was in for a big inning.

But Cary Salm popped up for the first out, and Jack Bastable hit an infield grounder that was thrown to the plate to force out Lundstedt. Bruce Frase salvaged the bases loaded situation, though, by lacing an infield single to score Jones. A fielder's choice ended the inning.

ARLINGTON'S SECOND run came in the fourth when Dow Woodard slashed a single to right and then went all the way to third on a pair of errors. A single to left off Wulbecker's bat brought Woodard home, and a deep fly to center field ended the inning.

The score at that time was 3-2, but Park Ridge counted three more runs in the fifth to put the game out of reach as Arlington used a total of four pitchers to stifle Park Ridge scoring.

Shopping Center Closer

A new 10-acre shopping center at the southwest corner of Arlington Heights and Golf roads moved a step closer to construction Wednesday night.

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission unanimously approved the rezoning request of developer Lee Romano, who plans to build an air-conditioned, enclosed shopping center with 100,000 square feet of rentable area.

The land in question is now zoned for single-family and manufacturing. The petitioner requested a change to business zoning.

Leo Mueller's motion to approve the rezoning request was riddled with provisions that the petitioner will have to fulfill. These included proper drainage, lighting, public improvements and sidewalks.

ARCHITECT ROBERT Babbitt presented a revised landscape of the area to the commission and indicated added planters, a fence on the south and west side, trees, a widened area along the center of the mall and a widened rear service corridor.

The village board will hear the petition on Aug. 4.

Campus To Be Ready Early

Harper Junior College trustees heard good news last night for a change from contractors hurrying to complete their new campus at Roselle and Algonquin Roads, Palatine.

Corbetta Construction Co. spokesmen said occupancy dates for many areas of the community colleges' six buildings have been set ahead. They predicted that the college board will be able to hold its next meeting, Aug. 14, in the spacious new board room in the college center.

"You may not have any coffee," grumbled food service director Ed Goodwin, who was told last night that the campus kitchen will not be ready until Aug. 18, although the cafeteria and faculty dining room will be turned over to the college by Aug. 11.

Contractors had better news for John Thompson, head of the biological sciences building. They said science laboratories will be ready by Oct. 15 in usable shape, instead of the Nov. 15 date predicted earlier.

Contractors delayed in doing exterior site work because of the wet summer weather now are beginning to spread top soil around the building. "If we can get two consecutive weeks of good weather, we will be able to complete walk ways and road work that needs doing," the spokesmen said.

Other critically needed community college facilities now being finished include — the permanent counseling area to be ready Aug. 15; the game room, where temporary counseling quarters will be set up during registration, also Aug. 11; and the college book store ready to have shelves installed before the same date.

The lecture demonstration building this week was still almost completely bare of finish work, but the men from Corbetta promised it will be ready for use by Sept. 15, the day that some 5,000 to 6,000 Harper students start fall classes.

Candidates Hit Spending Levels

Government spending, specifically the recently passed state income tax, occupied the top spot last night as 11 congressional candidates gathered in Wheeling township.

Two of the front runners, Philip Crane of Winnetka and Samuel Young of Glenview, came on strong and loud for reducing government spending.

Crane gained the Palatine township GOP endorsement Tuesday night and Young won the Northfield township endorsement this week too.

Crane, speaking rapidly before the 150 Republicans gathered in the VFW Hall in Arlington Heights, tagged spending as the most critical issue in this campaign.

He urged a return to 1961 federal spending levels and slashed out at Democratic "meddling, spending, and mismanagement" since 1953.

Young, stressing he would tell the people "What is right with this country," said he believed budget cuts could be made across the board at the federal level.

Alan Johnston, a State Representative, Kenilworth, who gained the New Trier Township endorsement two weeks ago staunchly defended his support of the state income tax in the legislature.

If elected, he, too, stressed that expenses had to be cut and inflation stopped. If elected he said he would support an extension of the surtax.

Wheeling Township's native candidate, Eugene Schlickman, a state representative and former township committeeman stated that he would support up grading the federal job training program and expanding the number of day care centers in the nation. He said he was not satisfied with the past "self perpetuating welfare system."

Other candidates included Gerald Marks of Wilmette, Joseph Mathewson of Winnetka, Yale Roe of Winnetka, David Roe of Glenview, Alan Weber of Evanston and John Nimrod of Skokie. Nimrod gained the Niles township GOP endorsement last night.

The audience which looked on quietly throughout most of the evening, aimed most of its questions toward the candidates on economics, the ABM, the Vietnamese war and student unrest.

Six Wheeling Township Republican organizations sponsored the candidates night and endorsement will follow within about a week.

Near the end of the meeting, Yale Roe, in response to a question from the audience, said he would not support conservative Philip Crane if nominated in the primary. Roe said that a victory for Crane would not be representative of the wishes of the constituency.

BOLI-Toll Problem Is Cleared Up

Entanglements between the southside sewer and water project of the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) and the Illinois Tollway Commission have apparently been straightened out.

BOLI members were told by Charles McBride, representing the engineering firm of Consoer, Townsend and Associates, that plans made by engineers for ramps at Arlington Heights Road and the Northwest Tollway were in his office by Wednesday afternoon.

McBride said that if he hadn't gotten the plans and authorization by the board to make necessary changes in the project, the contractors would have had to stop work by noon today.

The project under construction includes the installation of sewer and water mains in the southern part of Arlington Heights.

McBRIDE SAID THE engineers for the tollway ramps had accidentally seen construction in the area and investigated to find out who was doing it. They contacted McBride's firm, BOLI's consulting engineer for the project.

The tollway-hired engineers told McBride they were concerned about protecting the sewer and water mains in areas adjacent to where the ramps will be built.

McBride was authorized by the board to make the engineering changes to include protective concrete encasements for the sewer pipes and piping encasements for the water mains.

Protection to prevent breakage in the lines is necessary since heavy equipment will be used to construct the ramps and the excess pressure might cause the newly installed lines to break. Also, in some spots over the water and sewer mains, 15 feet of fill will be used in grading the ramps. The lines will have to be able to support this additional weight.

Sidewalk Days Schedule

Today's Sidewalk Days schedule is:

—Art Fair at the Murphy Carpet parking lot at 17 S. Dunton.

—Talent Teen Show at 8 p.m. at Eastman and Dunton.

—Carnival at the commuter parking lots across from Bowen Hardware between Evergreen and Arlington Heights Road and the commuter lot adjacent to Davis, between Vail and Dunton.

—Saturday will feature a fashion show at 2 p.m. in the lobby of the 1st Arlington National Bank and the third day of the carnival.

Dist. 214 Tax Hike Proposed

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget, geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12.5-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed new 2,500-pupil Rolling Meadows high school.

The district will seek the advice of a bond consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant may be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year-only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines. School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71.

—Increase in teachers salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants, borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers' salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $300,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Salary levels for 1970-71 will be determined next spring by negotiations with the Dist. 214 Teachers Association salary committee.

With that in mind, board member Richard Bachhuber of Mount Prospect urged Wednesday that the board approve a bal-

Simon Gets Promoted

Marine Corporal William G. Simon Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Simon Sr. of 1701 N. Rand Road, Arlington Heights, was promoted to his present rank by Lt. Col. Anderson, commanding officer, construction and engineering battalion, Marine Corps Base, Twenty Nine Palms, Calif.

Corporal Simon was cited for outstanding academic accomplishment in the marine tactical data system operators course. He averaged 95.23 per cent, the highest marks since the school opened three years ago.

Before entering the service in February 1968, Corporal Simon attended Wisconsin State University in Stevens Point.

Starred In 'Seasons'

Mrs. Mary Weber, of Arlington Heights, recently played in an Illinois State University Theater production of "The Four Seasons," a play by Arnold Wesker.

The cast of four played combinations of the two central characters. Mrs. Weber is the former Mary Flodin.

'Pot' Law Concern

The recent relaxation of laws governing penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana have caused a stir in local police departments.

The law permits a first time offender who has less than 25 grams of the illegal weed to be charged with a misdemeanor rather than the former felony charges.

One reason the law was approved by the state legislature was that many offenders were being pronounced not guilty by judges who felt the penalty was too stiff.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher of Wheeling said, "The law wasn't being upheld before and I have no reason to believe the new law will be upheld now. Many courts will still not convict the offender."

UNDER THE OLD law, anyone charged with possession of marijuana was automatically under the stigma of having a felony charge on his record and was tried in felony court. The new law will permit local courts to try offenders.

Elk Grove Police Chief Harry Jenkins disagreed with Horcher because, as he says, the new law will lead to "better adjudication."

He elaborated, "The idea is good because judges were reluctant to find defendants guilty because of the excessive penalty and the felony charge. Now maybe they'll look at things differently."

"I am in favor of this new law because it will let the cases be handled locally and accepted for public inspection at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

A public hearing on the budget will take place Sept. 11 in the board meeting room at Stuenkel administration center, 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Then the school board will be ready to approve the budget possibly with amendments.

Property taxes to cover the school district budget will be paid in 1970.

THE PROBLEM OF marijuana usage in the area is centered among the young people, the chiefs agree.

Horcher said, "There was quite a problem here about a year ago, but it seems to have cleared up by now."

He bemoaned the fact that because of "existing rules," it is not possible to make arrests on circumstantial information.

The Wheeling police had information on a narcotics ring in the area last August. Horcher says, but couldn't make any arrests until January.

Horcher expressed concern about the children who were reached by the drugs before the police could stop drug traffic.

Jenkins said the problem is minimal in Elk Grove, and although he didn't believe there are any addicts, there are "plenty of experimenters and users."

ESMOND SAID HE wasn't sure that an increase of violations would occur because of the relaxed penalties, but Jenkins seemed confident that it would not.

"I don't look on it as a relaxed law," the Elk Grove police chief said, "marijuana is still illegal and the violation of the law is still in effect."

Now It's Nimrod's Turn

Niles Township GOP Committeemen John Nimrod received his party organization's unanimous endorsement Thursday night in his campaign for 13th district congressman.

Nimrod was the only candidate put up for consideration and was given a standing ovation. There were 109 out of 117 precinct captains present to deliver their support. Almost immediately after the short session ended Nimrod left for the Wheeling township GOP candidate's night in Arlington Heights.

The committeemen's endorsement was a mere formality since the organization had earlier urged Nimrod's candidacy in the special congressional election.

Nimrod, of Skokie, is one of 11 GOP candidates seeking the seat of former Congressman Donald Rumsfeld. Winner of the Oct. 7 primary will face Democrat Edward Warman of Skokie in the Nov. 25 general election.

Nimrod is Niles Township supervisor. When announcing his candidacy for Congress, he resigned as assistant director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

HE WAS PRESIDENT of his own business, Temrock Inc., Barrington, until a merger dissolved the company in 1963.

Earned His Wings

Steven A. Spoeth, 1710 S. Chesterfield, Arlington Heights, has earned a private pilot certificate from the institute of aviation at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

The certificate was earned during spring semester this year through ground and flight courses given by the institute at the University of Illinois-Willard Airport.

Robbins is Promoted

John R. Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Robbins, 2311 S. Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights, was recently promoted to the rank of Navy Lieutenant (junior grade).

Robbins successfully completed the four-week course at the Flight Systems School of the Naval Aviation Schools Command at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. A graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., Lieutenant (j.g.) Robbins entered the service in June 1964.

Named to Dean's List

Beverly S. Seng, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Seng, 725 S. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, was included on the dean's list at Augustana College in Rock Island.

The list includes students whose grade point average for the spring semester was in the A range, from 3.50 to 4.0.

"Zelly" was chosen Best-in-Show at the Kids Dog Show yesterday, part of Arlington Heights Sidewalk Days. Ricky Fitch, 834 N. Hickory, owns the prize winning entry.

Dist. 59 Board Election Tomorrow

by JUDY COVELLI

Less than 2,000 voters in Dist. 59 are expected to turn out to the polls tomorrow. These men especially are sure to be there though, and right now they're all out can campaigning for the election.

The three men will vie for one seat on the Dist. 59 board. The newly elected member will hold his seat only until the next election in April, 1970.

The candidates are Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers, Des Plaines; Joseph P. Jennings, 38 Essex Road, Elk Grove Village; and Paul Neuhauser, 1821 Magnolia, Mount Prospect.

They represent a wide range of experience, representing each of three major communities served by Dist. 59.

Artemenko, a former member and president of the Dist. 59 board of education, is employed as an executive with United Air Lines. He served on the board until last April when he chose not to run for re-election.

Neuhauser ran third in last April's election. He lost his bid for election to the school board by 26 votes. Neuhauser is a special agent for the intelligence division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

He was endorsed by the Teacher's Council of Dist. 59 Wednesday.

Jennings is new to the school board race and cites his experience in management and accounting as attributes for his election. He was a part of management for a hotel chain and is president of his own manufacturing firm. He has two children in Dist. 59 and has been a township school trustee. He resigned that post Tuesday.

The summer vacation season may be a deterrent to voter turnout tomorrow and the candidates' predictions aren't high.

"I would say there'll be a rather limited turnout — maybe 800 to 1,000," Artemenko said Thursday.

Neuhauser said that he thought there'd be a pretty good turnout, maybe comparable to the April election when there were approximately 1,900 voters.

"I'm looking for a good turnout because it's been an active campaign," he said.

Jennings said he couldn't really predict but he knew that all three candidates had been working hard during the campaign.

Issues during the campaign have ranged from the selection of the new superintendent to the hot lunch program. Also of concern to the district has been the teacher-pupil ratio, communication of teacher complaints, the hiring of a communications specialist, the merit pay system, and a proposed 21 cent educational tax increase for the fall.

These issues have caused havoc in the district in the last few months and the new board member, whoever he may be, is walking into a touchy situation. Dist. 59 voters are hoping for quick solutions to drawn-out problems and the board has a lot of work facing it.

Meanwhile, the byword for Saturday night for three men in Dist. 59 is "wait." "I'll be waiting as I'm sure the others will," Jennings said. "I'll probably be at district headquarters to shake the hand of the winner or losers as the case may be."

Artemenko is expected to appear at the headquarters to await the election results and Neuhauser said that he'd be there or at home — but all will be waiting.

For two of them the wait may last months, until the election in April, when all three have said they will run again.

Neuhauser Backed

School Dist. 59 is slowly emerging from the middle of a hurricane. It has been the subject of debate among angry parents, teachers and taxpayers.

The past three months have been turbulent ones for the district. The resignation of Dr. Donald Thomas, the sudden vacancy of a seat on the board and the furor over the transfer of Forest View Principal Tom Warden have left the district emotionally exhausted.

The district must now prepare for the fall resumption of school activities by going to the polls and electing a man to sit on the board of education.

That man should be Paul Neuhauser. This newspaper endorsed Neuhauser when he was a candidate in the April election, an election from which former board member Gene Artemenko voluntarily absented himself.

Neuhauser lost his bid for election in April, but by the narrowest of margins. This newspaper subsequently endorsed the appointment of Paul Neuhauser to fulfill the unexpired term of George Blanchard. The board of education chose to avoid the issue by calling a special election.

Neuhauser's qualifications have remained intact. As a special agent for the Internal Revenue Service, his professional qualifications are of the highest quality. His continued interest in the district has been borne out through his determination to be a successful candidate for the Dist. 59 board. He is a determined and able candidate who can provide the district with professional scrutiny and an objective eye.

Neuhauser's affiliations with the teachers of the district has been an issue in the campaign. He has made it clear that his wife will resign her teaching position at Jay. His affiliation with the teachers of the district is thus no more or less than the other candidates.

Once elected, Neuhauser should be able to offer Dist. 59 the qualities of inquisitiveness and direction the board requires.

Rolling Meadows High School Gets Dist. 214 Approval

by MARY SCHOOF

Final approval has been given by the High School Dist. 214 board to plans for its new Rolling Meadows high school whose enrollment will almost certainly include students from southwest Arlington Heights. Attendance boundaries for the new $9.1 million high school are not expected to be set until next spring, more than a year before the school opens in September, 1971.

But Asst. Supt. Roderick McLennan acknowledged at Monday's board meeting that the new school attendance area will include some parts of Arlington Heights Dist. 25.

IT WILL probably also include some Arlington Heights students in Elk Grove Dist. 59 south of Central Road and north of the Tollway. An estimated 1,200 Rolling Meadows students now assigned to Forest View High School will attend the new school.

Opening of the new school will also mean a shift in Forest View High School attendance boundaries — and the likely transfer of Dist. 214's Des Plaines students to Forest View from Elk Grove High.

APPROVAL OF the plans paves the way for bids to be let this fall for the 2,500-pupil school, located on a 40-acre site the district owns on Central Road directly across from Sacred Heart of Mary High School.

Architect Alden Orput of Orput-Orput and Associates, Skokie, said the okay will make it possible for his firm to complete working drawings for the building.

He said the firm will come back to the school board Aug. 11 with final cost estimates and a recommendation on whether the high school should be heated by electricity or gas.

PLANS APPROVED Monday call for the new school to be constructed about 400 feet south of Central Road. Auto parking lots and bus unloading areas will be available both at the front and rear of the building.

The new school will have a Little Theater seating 500. Dividers will make it possible for the theater to be converted into three lecture areas during the school day.

Two student cafeteria areas will double as student commons at other than lunch hours. They can also be converted into dancing space for parties.

Demountable walls in academic areas will make it possible for the school district to change the size and arrangement of classrooms if the high school steps up its plans for individual study projects — a nationwide trend which may or may not get greater use in the Dist. 214 schools in future years.

In urging use of the demountable walls, Supt. Edward H. Gilbert said they would add to the building's flexibility.

SPACE FOR a future swimming pool has been provided at the southwest corner of the building behind the gymnasium.

The school district last year discussed possibility of construction of an indoor swimming pool there with Rolling Meadows Park District officials.

Park officials said they were not ready to go ahead with the pool plans at that time but encouraged the school district to provide stubbed-in utilities so the pool could be put in later.

Lindstrom: Probe

Rev. Paul Lindstrom, national head of the Remember the Pueblo Committee, yesterday repeated three demands in the wake of the Pueblo and EC-121 incidents last year.

Lindstrom, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Arlington Heights Rotary Club, called for a Senate investigation of the Pueblo affair, demanded the return of the Pueblo and asked for the repatriation of thousands of prisoners held in Communist countries.

The minister of the Church of Christian Liberty in Prospect Heights charged among other things that Cuba still holds 928 citizens as prisoners.

He asserted that his committee has the passport numbers of those citizens whose Constitutional rights are being violated.

LINDSTROM ALSO said that 389 men are unaccounted for in North Korea and about 1,000 men are unaccounted for or held by the North Vietnamese or the Viet Cong.

He encouraged the 35 Rotarians to pray for the men held captive and to provide the "legs behind prayer" through letters of protest to United States officials.

He said that Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Panthers mount a public relations campaign for their own ends by bombarding newspapers with thousands of letters and calling in to radio talk shows. He urged members of the audience who agreed with him to do the same.

Lindstrom repeated, as he has in the past, that Communist countries do not respect a "waving or vacillating position." "We're only encouraging a fifth or tenth-rate power to take aggressive steps."

HE STATED THAT Secretary of State Dean Rusk, prior to the release of the men told him three times that the United States would not issue an apology to the North Koreans. However, the apology was made later in conjunction with the release of the men.

The apology and the USS Pueblo are now being used throughout the Communist and neutral world for propaganda purposes, he charged.

In conjunction with his church, Lindstrom conducts the Christian Liberty Academy for students from kindergarten through tenth grade.

'Pot' Arrests Made

by GERRY DE ZONNA

Four men who are reportedly part of the major narcotic distribution in the Northwest suburbs have been arrested by Mount Prospect police and state narcotics agents for the possession and sale of 10 pounds of homegrown marijuana.

The arrests made Friday night in the parking lot of the Red Balloon Restaurant at Rand and Central roads, included two Mount Prospect residents, Craig Halvorsen, 17, and John Reeder, 28, Juan Colorado, 23, of Des Plaines and Arturo Silva, 34, of Mundelein were also arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Mount Prospect detective division announced the arrests at a press conference yesterday morning. The Herald knew of the arrests Monday, but withheld publication upon the department's request pending the arrest of an Evanston man who is believed to be part of a drug conspiracy.

A STATE NARCOTICS agent, posing as a potential buyer, arranged the sale with the four men and then alerted Mount Prospect police as to the time and place of the transaction.

The agent met with the four men shortly after 8 p.m. Friday at the parking lot and agreed to pay them $1,100 in exchange for 10 pounds of uncut marijuana. The men, who reportedly smelled trouble, left the scene, but returned shortly after 10 p.m. with the merchandise in a shopping bag.

Detectives Richard Yost, Richard Pascoe and Robert Barrone of the Mount Prospect Police Department said they and state narcotics agents watched the men unload the marijuana from the trunk of their car.

"As soon as the agent paid them the money, we closed in on the group. They were still counting the money — $1,100 in small bills. They made no attempt to resist arrest because we had come out in full force," Yost said.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this case for more than two months, and we finally caught them after extensive investigations, checks, and surveillance. We notified the Illinois State Narcotic bureau after sources informed us of the subjects' activities," Bopp said.

The marijuana, which has already been sent to the crime laboratory in Joliet for identification, was reportedly grown in the area. "The marijuana was uncut and pure. It could be cut, sifted and mixed with other ingredients to yield a $40,000 harvest."

Voting Set Tomorrow

Voting for the new school board member for Dist. 59 will be held from 12 noon to 7 p.m. tomorrow at nine polling places throughout the area.

To be eligible to vote a person must be 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state for one year, of the county for 90 days and of the school district for 30 days.

Voters must be registered to vote in general elections from a residence located in the school district. Registration may be made at local village and township halls.

Polling precincts are located in nine elementary schools.

Precinct 1—Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Drive, Elk Grove Village.
Precinct 2—Rupley School, 305 E. Oakton Road, Elk Grove Village.

Precinct 3—High Ridge Knolls, 588 S. Dara James, Des Plaines.
Precinct 4—Ridge School, 650 Ridge Ave., Elk Grove Village.

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET - Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the "Front" had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for re-election as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc. of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes, "as I understand them."

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

Dist. 59 Contest Decided Tomorrow

by JUDY COVELLI

Less than 2,000 voters in Dist. 59 are expected to turn out to the polls tomorrow.

Three men especially are sure to be there though, and right now they're all out campaigning for the election.

The three men will vie for one seat on the Dist. 59 board. The newly elected member will hold his seat only until the next election in April, 1970.

The candidates are Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers, Des Plaines; Joseph P. Jennings, 38 Essex Road, Elk Grove Village; and Paul Neuhauser, 1821 Magnolia, Mount Prospect.

Joe Jennings

They represent a wide range of experience, representing each of three major communities served by Dist. 59.

Artemenko, a former member and president of the Dist. 59 board of education, is employed as an executive with United Air Lines. He served on the board until last April when he chose not to run for re-election.

Neuhauser ran third in last April's election. He lost his bid for election to the school board by 26 votes. Neuhauser is a special agent for the intelligence division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

He was endorsed by the Teacher's Council of Dist. 59 Wednesday.

Jennings is new to the school board race and cites his experience in management and accounting as attributes for his election. He was a part of management for a hotel chain and is president of his own manufacturing firm. He has two children in Dist. 59 and has been a township school trustee. He resigned that post Tuesday.

The summer vacation season may be a deterrent to voter turnout tomorrow and the candidates' predictions aren't high.

"I would say there'll be a rather limited turnout — maybe 800 to 1,000," Artemenko said Thursday.

Neuhauser said that he thought there'd be a pretty good turnout, maybe comparable to the April election when there were approximately 1,900 voters.

"I'm looking for a good turnout because it's been an active campaign," he said.

Jennings said he couldn't really predict but he knew that all three candidates had been working hard during the campaign.

Issues during the campaign have ranged from the selection of the new superintendent to the hot lunch program. Also of concern to the district has been the teacher-pupil ratio, communication of teacher complaints, the hiring of a communications specialist, the merit pay system, and a proposed 21 cent educational tax increase for the fall.

These issues have caused havoc in the district in the last few months and the new board member, whoever he may be, is walking into a touchy situation. Dist. 59 voters are hoping for quick solutions to drawn-out problems and the board has a lot of work facing it.

Meanwhile, the byword for Saturday night for three men in Dist. 59 is "wait." "I'll be waiting as I'm sure the others will," Jennings said. "I'll probably be at district headquarters to shake the hand of the winner or losers as the case may be."

Eugene

Artemenko is expected to appear at the headquarters to await the election results.

Paul

and Neuhauser said that he'd be there or at home — but all will be waiting.

For two of them the wait may last months, until the election in April, when all three have said they will run again.

High School Taxes May Jump 20 %

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget, geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey — will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12 1/2-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed new 2,500-pupil Rolling Meadows high school.

The district will seek the advice of a bond consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant may be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year-only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk

Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines.

School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71.

—Increase in teachers salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants, borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers' salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $300,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Narcotics Charged to Four

by GERRY DE ZONNA

Four men who are reportedly part of the major narcotic distribution in the Northwest suburbs have been arrested by Mount Prospect police and state narcotics agents for the possession and sale of 10 pounds of homegrown marijuana.

The arrests, made Friday night in the parking lot of the Red Balloon Restaurant at Rand and Central roads, included two Mount Prospect residents, Craig Halvorsen, 17, and John Reder, 28, Juan Coronado, 23, of Des Plaines and Arturo Silva, 34, of Mundelein were also arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Mount Prospect detective division announced the arrests at a press conference yesterday morning. The Herald knew of the arrests Monday, but withheld publication upon the department's request, pending the arrest of an Evanston man who is believed to be part of a drug conspiracy.

A STATE NARCOTICS agent, posing as a potential buyer, arranged the sale with the four men and then alerted Mount Prospect police as to the time and place of the transaction.

The agent met with the four men shortly after 8 p.m. Friday at the parking lot and agreed to pay them $1,100 in exchange for 10 pounds of uncut marijuana. The men, who reportedly smelled trouble, left the scene, but returned shortly after 10 p.m. with the merchandise in a shopping bag.

"As soon as the agent paid them the money, we closed in on the group. They were still counting the money — $1,100 in small bills. They made no attempt to resist arrest because we had come out in full force," Yost said.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this case for more than two months, and we finally caught them after extensive investigations, checks, and surveillance. We notified the Illinois State Narcotic bureau after sources informed us of the subjects' activities," Bopp said.

The marijuana, which has already been sent to the crime laboratory in Joliet for identification, was reportedly grown in the area. "The marijuana was uncut and pure. It could be cut, sifted and mixed with other ingredients to yield a $40,000 harvest."

"Usually marijuana in such a pure state as this will be handled by five or six different buyers, each diluting the quantity and reselling it. Marijuana right now is at a high premium because there's none coming in from Mexico. This isn't the harvest time there," Yost said.

"We consider these men as major contacts or wholesalers in marijuana. They're not dealing with nickel or dime packages, but with the big money. Marijuana traffic is an on-going problem in the suburbs, and we know that by arresting these four men we won't be terminating the problem."

"THEY'RE ONLY one small part, but a significant part. Although we have made no further arrests, others are implicated in the crime," Bopp said.

The four men were released earlier this week on $10,000 bail. They are to appear at the Niles Felony Court July 29. Conviction for the sale of marijuana imposes a 10 to 20 year jail sentence and a possible fine, pending the decision of the judge.

High School Taxes May Jump 20 %

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget, geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12.5-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

Seeks Break on Parking

Local builder Salvatore DiMucci last night told the Mount Prospect Zoning Board of Appeals that it's a hardship for any businessman when organized government passes an ordinance which is unreasonable.

DiMucci said compliance with the village's four-to-one parking ratio would make it economically unfeasible for him to develop a small shopping center at the southwest corner of Golf and Busse roads.

He is seeking approval for a three-to-one parking ratio rather than the four-to-one ratio required by the ordinance. The village requires all businesses to provide four square feet of parking space every one square foot of building space.

"It's a burden on the businessman to pay the taxes for the four-to-one required parking ratio when it is not necessary. I am sure the ordinance was originally passed with good intentions, but now we have had time to experiment with the four-to-one parking requirement. It's been my experience that we don't need as much space," DiMucci said.

"A three-to-one ratio would be more than adequate for parking at any shopping center. It is not only a waste of space, but also a waste of money to meet the village's present parking requirements," DiMucci said.

G. E. Jacobsmeier, chairman of the board, told DiMucci that the commissioners could not grant a variation for the economic good of the petitioner.

"But economy is the American way of life. If we forget the profit and the economy, then what interest would the businessman have in developing his property?" DiMucci asked.

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk

Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines.

School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71.

—Increase in teachers' salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers' salaries.

Narcotics Charged to Four

by GERRY DE ZONNA

Four men who are reportedly part of the major narcotic distribution in the Northwest suburbs have been arrested by Mount Prospect police and state narcotics agents for the possession and sale of 10 pounds of homegrown marijuana.

The arrests, made Friday night in the parking lot of the Red Balloon Restaurant at Rand and Central roads, included two Mount Prospect residents, Craig Halvorsen, 17, and John Reder, 28. Juan Coronado, 23, of Des Plaines and Arturo Silva, 34, of Mundelein were also arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Mount Prospect detective division announced the arrests at a press conference yesterday morning. The Herald knew of the arrests Monday, but withheld publication upon the department's request, pending the arrest of an Evanston man who is believed to be part of a drug conspiracy.

A STATE NARCOTICS agent, posing as a potential buyer, arranged the sale with the four men and then alerted Mount Prospect police as to the time and place of the transaction.

The agent met with the four men shortly after 8 p.m. Friday at the parking lot and agreed to pay them $1,100 in exchange for 10 pounds of uncut marijuana. The men, who reportedly smelled trouble, left the scene, but returned shortly after 10 p.m. with the merchandise in a shopping bag.

Detectives Richard Yost, Richard Pascoe and Robert Barrone of the Mount Prospect Police Department said they and state narcotics agents watched the men unload the marijuana from the trunk of their car.

"As soon as the agent paid them the money, we closed in on the group. They were still counting the money — $1,100 in small bills. They made no attempt to resist arrest because we had come out in full force," Yost said.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this case for more than two months, and we finally caught them after extensive investigations, checks, and surveillance. We notified the Illinois State Narcotic bureau after sources informed us of the subjects' activities," Bopp said.

The marijuana, which has already been sent to the crime laboratory in Joliet for identification, was reportedly grown in the area. "The marijuana was uncut and pure. It could be cut, sifted and mixed with other ingredients to yield a $40,000 harvest."

"Usually marijuana in such a pure state as this will be handled by five or six different buyers, each diluting the quantity and reselling it. Marijuana right now is at a high premium because there's none coming in from Mexico. This isn't the harvest time there," Yost said.

"We consider these men as major contacts or wholesalers in marijuana. They're not dealing with nickel or dime packages, but with the big money. Marijuana traffic is an on-going problem in the suburbs, and we know that by arresting these four men we won't be terminating the problem."

"THEY'RE ONLY one small part, but a significant part. Although we have made no further arrests, others are implicated in the crime," Bopp said.

The four men were released earlier this week on $10,000 bail. They are to appear at the Niles Felony Court July 29. Conviction for the sale of marijuana imposes a 10 to 20 year jail sentence and a possible fine, pending the decision of the judge.

Police Have Anti-SDS Booklet

by MURRAY DUBIN

Besides providing police protection to the community, the Arlington Heights Police Department has been offering one added but unasked for item — conservative political literature.

Innocently displayed on the police desk in the village hall Wednesday was a pile of small, white, four-page booklets printed in Dallas and dated June 13, 1969.

The booklet was entitled "Life Line." The headline on each booklet was "Freedom Talk" and the headline under that was "SDS — Students To Destroy Society."

ABOUT SDS, LIFE Line said, "Under the guise of academic freedom, arrogant and hard-core militants are determined to destroy our educational system."

The booklet includes this description of the 1965 SDS convention in Kewadin, Mich.: "All facilities at the site were cord, and over 250 participants, regardless of sex, enjoyed shared cabins and bathroom. The facilities were filthy, but no more so than many of the barefooted, bearded, unkempt delegates."

LIFE Line, a reprint of a daily radio commentary, labels the SDS and its affiliates as "very much huns and vandals. Our concern must be to deal with them, with a strong hand."

When asked what the politically conservative literature was doing in the police station, Chief L. W. Calderwood said, "They're sent to the department and we distribute them to the officers because they are part of our life today."

"WE TRY AND KEEP our officers as well informed on both sides of every issue as we can..."

Calderwood added that if SDS sent his office literature, it would be displayed, too. "We receive J. Edgar Hoover's reports and the Christian Science Monitor, among others. It is just too bad I can't assimilate them all."

The Arlington Heights Police Department has not as yet received literature from any organizations on the "left."

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the Herald that he did not know anything about the display of LIFE Line, but said, "I don't think we should be a clearing house for all types of material. I'll look into it."

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack Siegel was surprised when told of the matter. "I don't think it is very good policy and I don't think the village should push material like that."

Though not sure of the legality of such a display in the village hall, Siegel said, "I don't think the village should push anybody's political views, and if this continues, we would have to present all political views."

LIFE Line could not be found on the police desk Thursday afternoon.

Candidates Hit Spending

Government spending, specifically the recently passed state income tax, occupied the top spot last night as 11 congressional candidates gathered in Wheeling township.

Two of the front runners, Philip Crane of Winnetka and Samuel Young of Glenview, came on strong and loud for reducing government spending.

Crane gained the Palatine township GOP endorsement Tuesday night and Young won the Northfield township endorsement this week too.

Crane, speaking rapidly before the 150 Republicans gathered in the VFW Hall in Arlington Heights, tagged spending as the most critical issue in this campaign.

He urged a return to 1961 federal spending levels and slashed out at Democratic "meddling, spending, and mismanagement" since 1933.

Young, stressing he would tell the people "What is right with this country," said he believed budget cuts could be made across the board at the federal level.

Alan Johnston, a State Representative, Kenilworth, who gained the New Trier Township endorsement two weeks ago staunchly defended his support of the state income tax in the legislature.

If elected, he, too, stressed that expenses had to be cut and inflation stopped. If elected he said he would support an extension of the surtax.

Wheeling Township's native candidate, Eugene Schlickman, a state representative and a former township committeeman stated that he would support up grading the federal job training program and expanding the number of day care centers in the nation. He said he was not satisfied with the past "self-perpetuating welfare system."

Other candidates included Gerald Marks of Winnetka, Joseph Mathewson of Winnetka, Yale Roe of Winnetka, David Roe of Glenview, Alan Weber of Evanston and John Nimrod of Skokie. Nimrod gained the Niles township GOP endorsement last night.

The audience which looked on quietly

Now It's Nimrod's Turn

Niles Township GOP Committeemen John Nimrod received his party organization's unanimous endorsement Thursday night in his campaign for 14th district congressman.

Nimrod was the only candidate put up for consideration and was given a standing ovation. There were 109 out of 117 precinct captains present to deliver their support. After a momentary delay for the short session ended Nimrod left for the Wheeling township GOP candidate's night in Arlington Heights.

The committeemen's endorsement was a mere formality since the organization had earlier urged Nimrod's candidacy in the special congressional election.

Nimrod, of Skokie, is one of 11 GOP candidates seeking the seat of former Congressman Donald Rumsfeld. Winner of the Oct. 7 primary will face Democrat Edward Worman of Skokie in the Nov. 25 general election.

Nimrod is Niles Township supervisor. When announcing his candidacy for Congress, he resigned as assistant director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

HE WAS PRESIDENT of his own business, Temrock Inc., Barrington, until a merger dissolved the company in 1963.

Nimrod's endorsement makes him the fourth candidate to get a township organization's support. Other endorsements have been Alan Johnston in New Trier Township, Phil Crane in Palatine Township and Sam Young in Northfield Township.

Four township organizations yet to endorse are Evanston, Wheeling, Schaumburg and Elk Grove.

Check Thomas Travel Bill

Although Donald Thomas officially resigned his post as school superintendent of Dist. 59 July 1, he still seems to pop up on the agenda at school board meetings. He was on the disbursement list presented at Monday night's meeting.

A $500 check was listed for Thomas's administrative travels. His contract says that he was to be issued up to $1,000 for a two-week educational trip for the district. Another $500 was to be included on the disbursement lists in August.

The board questioned the check and asked if there was any supportive evidence that Thomas went on the trip or that it cost $1,000.

The matter was to be checked into and the disbursement list was approved with the exception of the $500 check.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board voted to participate in legal action against publishers and wholesalers of library editions of children's books initiated by the state.

The state is seeking damages for a complaint that alleges that the defendants conspired to fix the prices for particular books at artificially high levels from 1959 through 1967. The suit has been filed as a class action on behalf of all public schools in the state.

In other action the board approved contracts offered to returning teachers and to teachers new to the district. They approved leaves of absence, resignations and administrative contracts.

Vacancies for the 1969-1970 school year were reported as: 13 elementary, 13 junior high and three special education. Staff members not returning were reported at 121 as compared to 107 last year.

Residents View 13th

Last spring State Rep Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, sponsored HB 1241, setting up the mechanics for municipalities to annex adjoining unincorporated areas by ordinance.

The bill met with such heavy and well organized opposition from Prospect Heights residents that it was stopped in a Senate committee.

Now Schlickman is seeking the Republican nomination for the 13th District Congressional seat. To win the nomination he must be able to count on heavy support from the district he now represents in the Illinois General Assembly. Prospect Heights is a part of that district.

LEADERS OF THE various home-owners groups in the Prospect Heights area expressed varying views on how his HB 1241 sponsorship will affect his support in the Prospect Heights area.

"My opinion is that he has hurt his chances because he sponsored the bill," said Mrs. Marie Caylor, a director of the Euclid-Lake Homeowners Association. Mrs. Caylor is the woman who led the fight in Prospect Heights against the bill.

"He probably sponsored the bill 'innocently,' not realizing how many people it would hurt," she said.

Mrs. Caylor admitted that "there are some people in the area who will vote for him definitely, simply because they don't want someone from the North Shore."

Ralph Van Patten of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association took a different view. "I think his sponsorship of 1241 helped his chances. This was a bill that had some good features in it, actually," he said.

"I THINK Schlickman's chances are pretty good in my area. I don't think anyone could hold 1241 against him."

Van Patten and Mrs. Caylor agree that Prospect Heights residents would rather vote for a local candidate than one from the North Shore. Van Patten predicted this would be the most important factor in how Prospect Heights residents cast their votes.

Mrs. Georgeanne Gardner, president of the Parkview Homeowners Association, also agreed that because Schlickman is a local candidate, his chances of support from Prospect Heights are good.

But, she added, "The average Prospect Heights person will take his sponsorship of 1241 into consideration before they vote. How much they'll give it is undeterminable."

She added, "If the people look at his entire record, maybe they'll support him. But, politics is a funny game where the thing you did most recently is remembered the most."

"THE BILL HAS GOT to hurt him, even though he has been a good state representative," said William Richter. Richter was president of the Woodview Homeowners Association at the time 1241 was being considered by the legislature.

"You have a very independent-type person out here in Prospect Heights. For the legislature to take away their votes on what their future would be they were a little taken back," Richter said.

Neil LeFevre, a member of the Randwood Homeowners Association said he thought "Schlickman's chances are good, in spite of 1241." He too predicted Schlickman's chances in the area would be helped because he is a local candidate.

According to Abner Baumann, president of the Wolf Mandel Improvement Association, "The bill stirred up tremendous opposition in our area. It's a bit difficult to say whether his vote-getting power was hurt by the bill."

Neuhauser Backed

School Dist. 59 is slowly emerging from the middle of a hurricane. It has been the subject of debate among angry parents, teachers and taxpayers.

The past three months have been turbulent ones for the district. The resignation of Dr. Donald Thomas, the sudden vacancy of a seat on the board and the furor over the transfer of Forest View Principal Tom Warden have left the district emotionally exhausted.

The district must now prepare for the fall resumption of school activities by going to the polls and electing a man to sit on the board of education.

That man should be Paul Neuhauser.

This newspaper endorsed Neuhauser when he was a candidate in the April election, an election from which former board member Gene Artemenko voluntarily absented himself.

Neuhauser lost his bid for election in April, but by the narrowest of margins. This newspaper subsequently endorsed the appointment of Paul Neuhauser to fulfill the unexpired term of George Blanchard. The board of education chose to avoid the issue by calling a special election. Neuhauser's qualifications have remained intact.

As a special agent for the Internal Revenue Service, his professional qualifications are of the highest quality. His continued interest in the district has been borne out through his determination to be a successful candidate for the Dist. 59 board. He is a determined and able candidate who can provide the district with professional scrutiny and an objective eye.

Neuhauser's affiliations with the teachers of the district has been an issue in the campaign. He has made it clear that his wife will resign her teaching position at Jay. His affiliation with the teachers of the district is thus no more or less than the other candidates.

Once elected, Neuhauser should be able to offer Dist. 59 the qualities of inquisitiveness and direction the board requires.

Voting Set Tomorrow In Dist. 59

Voting for the new school board member for Dist. 59 will be held from 12 noon to 7 p.m. tomorrow at nine polling places throughout the area.

To be eligible to vote a person must be 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state for one year, of the county for 90 days and of the school district for 30 days.

Voters must be registered to vote in general elections from a residence located in the school district. Registration may be made at local village and township halls.

Polling precincts are located in nine elementary schools:

- Precinct 1—Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Drive, Elk Grove Village.
- Precinct 2—Rupley School, 305 E. Oakton Road, Elk Grove Village.
- Precinct 3—High Ridge Knolls, 588 S. Dara James, Des Plaines.
- Precinct 4—Ridge School, 650 Ridge Ave., Elk Grove Village.
- Precinct 5—Devonshire School, 1401 S. Pennsylvania, Des Plaines.
- Precinct 6—Forest View School, 1901 Estates Drive, Mount Prospect.
- Precinct 7—Juliette Low School, 1530 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.
- Precinct 8—Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.
- Precinct 9—Robert Frost School, 1308 S. Cypress Drive, Mount Prospect.

Tape Theft Reported

Milton Grudewicz, 23, of 4714 Arbor Dr., Rolling Meadows, reported to police $360 worth of stereo tapes were stolen from his car at Randhurst Tuesday.

Police said the thieves gained entry to the car through an open window.

Local Group on TV Show

A local group will have "hit the big time" when it appears on a CBS special Tuesday.

The "Showcase Six" was chosen for the special part of the CBS Repertoire Workshop series designed to feature new groups in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Jim Grady, a graduate of Prospect High School and now a student at Northwestern University is the composer-arranger-performer of the group.

During the special, the group will perform eight numbers, three of which are original compositions by Grady.

The "Showcase Six" use piano, bass and drum accompaniment.

They were recently seen on the Jim Conway Show and the Midwest edition of the All-American College Show.

All members of the group are students at Northwestern.

The special will be broadcast at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Harper Gets Early Move Dates

Harper Junior College trustees heard good news last night for a change from contractors hurrying to complete their new campus at Roselle and Algonquin Roads, Palatine.

Corbetta Construction Co. spokesmen said occupancy dates for many areas of the community colleges' six buildings have been set ahead. They predicted that the college board will be able to hold its next meeting, Aug. 14, in the spacious new board room in the college center.

"You may not have any coffee," grumbled food service director Ed Goodwin, who was told last night that the campus kitchen will not be ready until Aug. 18, although the cafeteria and faculty dining room will be turned over to the college by Aug. 11.

Contractors had better news for John Thompson, head of the biological sciences building. They said science laboratories will be ready by Oct. 15 in usable shape, instead of the Nov. 15 date predicted earlier.

Contractors delayed in doing exterior site work because of the wet summer weather now are beginning to spread top soil around the building. "If we can get two consecutive weeks of good weather, we will be able to complete walk ways and road work that needs doing," the spokesman said.

Other critically needed community college facilities now being finished include—the permanent counseling area to be ready Aug. 15; the game room, where temporary counseling quarters will be set up during registration, also Aug. 11; and the college book store ready to have shelves installed before the same date.

The lecture demonstration building this week was still almost completely bare of finish work, but the men from Corbetta promised it will be ready for use by Sept. 15, the day that some 5,000 to 6,000 Harper students start fall classes.

Rolling Meadows High School Gets Dist. 214 Approval

By MARY SCHOTT
Final approval has been given by the High School Dist. 214 board to plans for its new Rolling Meadows high school, whose enrollment will almost certainly include students from southwest Arlington Heights.

Attendance boundaries for the new $9.1

million high school are not expected to be set until next spring more than a year before the school opens in September 1971.

But Asst. Supt. Roderick McLennan acknowledged at Monday's board meeting that the new school attendance area will include some parts of Arlington Heights Dist. 25.

It will probably also include some Arlington Heights students in Elk Grove Dist. 59 south of Central Road and north of the Tollway. An estimated 1,200 Rolling Meadows students now assigned to Forest View High School will attend the new school.

Opening of the new school will also mean a shift in Forest View High School attendance boundaries — and the likely transfer of Dist. 214's Des Plaines students to Forest View from Elk Grove High.

APPROVAL of the plans paves the way for bids to be let this fall for the 2,500 pupil school located on a 40-acre site the district owns on Central Road directly across from Sacred Heart of Mary High School.

Architect Alden Orput of Orput Orput and Associates, Skokie, said the okay will make it possible for his firm to complete working drawings for the building.

He said the firm will come back to the school board Aug. 11 with final cost estimates and a recommendation on whether the high school should be heated by electricity or gas.

PLANS APPROVED Monday call for the new school to be constructed about 400 feet south of Central Road. Auto parking lots and bus unloading areas will be available both at the front and rear of the building.

The new school will have a Little Theater seating 500. Dividers will make it possible for the theater to be converted into three lecture areas during the school day.

Two student cafeteria areas will double as student commons at other than lunch hours. They can also be converted into dancing space for parties.

Demountable walls in academic areas will make it possible for the school district to change the size and arrangement of classrooms if the high school steps up its plans for individual study projects — a nationwide trend which may or may not get greater use in the Dist. 214 schools in future years.

In using use of the demountable walls, Supt. Edward H. Gilbert said they would add to the building's flexibility.

SPACE FOR a future swimming pool has been provided at the southwest corner of the building behind the gymnasium.

The school district last year discussed possibility of construction of an indoor swimming pool there with Rolling Meadows Park District officials.

Park officials said they were not ready to go ahead with the pool plans at that time but encouraged the school district to provide stubbed in utilities so the pool could be put in later.

Lindstrom: Probe

Rev. Paul Lindstrom, national head of the Remember the Pueblo Committee, yesterday repeated three demands in the wake of the Pueblo and LC-121 incidents last year.

Lindstrom, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Arlington Heights Rotary Club, called for a Senate investigation of the Pueblo affair, demanded the return of the thousands of prisoners held in Communist countries.

The minister of the Church of Christ in Liberty in Prospect Heights charged among other things that Cuba still holds 928 citizens as prisoners.

He asserted that his committee has the passport numbers of those citizens whose Constitutional rights are being violated.

LINDSTROM ALSO said that 389 men are unaccounted for in North Korea and about 1,000 men are unaccounted for or held by the North Vietnamese, or the Viet Cong.

He encouraged the Rotarians to pray for the men held captive and to provide the legs behind prayer through letters of protest to United States officials.

He said that students for a Democratic Society and the Black Panthers mount a public relations campaign for their own ends by bombarding newspapers with thousands of letters and calling in to radio talk shows. He urged members of the audience who agreed with him to do the same.

Lindstrom repeated as he has in the past that Communist countries do not respect a warning or vacillating position.

We are only encouraging a fifth or tenth-rate power to take aggressive steps.

HE STATED THAT Secretary of State Dean Rusk prior to the release of the men told him three times that the United States would not issue an apology to the North Koreans. However, the apology was made later in conjunction with the release of the men.

The apology and the U.S.S. Pueblo are now being used throughout the Communist and neutral world for propaganda purposes, he charged.

In conjunction with his church, Lindstrom conducts the Christ the King Academy for students from kindergarten through tenth grade.

'Pot' Law Concern

The recent relaxation of laws governing penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana have caused a stir in local police departments.

The law permits a first time offender who has less than 25 grams of the illegal weed to be charged with a misdemeanor rather than the former felony charges.

One reason the law was approved by the state legislature was that many offenders were being pronounced not guilty by judges who felt the penalty was too stiff.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher of Wheeling said, "The law wasn't being upheld before and I have no reason to believe the new law will be upheld now. Many courts will still not convict the offender."

UNDER THE OLD law anyone charged with possession of marijuana was automatically under the stigma of having a felony charge on his record and was tried in felony court. The new law will permit local courts to try offenders.

Elk Grove Police Chief Harry Jenkins disagreed with Horcher because as he says the new law will lead to "better adjudication."

He elaborated. The idea is good because judges were reluctant to find defendants guilty because of the excessive penalty and the felony charge. Now maybe they'll look at things differently."

I am in favor of this new law because it will let the cases be handled locally and faster, said Newell Esmond, Mount Prospect police chief.

The new law was ushered in only hours before a narcotics raid by Mount Prospect police.

THE PROBLEM OF marijuana usage in the area is centered among the young people, the chiefs agree.

Horcher said, "There was quite a problem here about a year ago but it seems to have cleared up by now."

Neuhauser Is Endorsed

The Teachers' Council for School Dist. 59 endorsed Paul Neuhauser in his bid for election to the Board of Education in a letter to the Herald this week.

Neuhauser is one of three candidates seeking the board seat vacated by George Blanchard when he resigned July 1. Gene Artemenko and Joseph Jennings will oppose Neuhauser at the polls Saturday.

Teachers Council District 59 remains in the position of strongly supporting the election to Paul Neuhauser to this position. At the time George Blanchard submitted his resignation, Teachers Council Dist. 59 passed a resolution urging the board to appoint Neuhauser to fill the vacancy.

This decision was supported by petitions from teachers in eighteen of the district's schools and signed by approximately 85 per cent of the teachers in the district. Thomas Lundeen, Teachers Council president-elect, wrote:

"Since the time we submitted the resolution, the board of education has exercised its right to call a special election. We still feel that Neuhauser is the most highly qualified candidate for the position."

"At a time when finances are a primary concern of schools across the state as well as in Dist. 59, Neuhauser's financial background in his employment with the Internal Revenue Service will prove to be invaluable," Lundeen wrote.

"In the past few years he has had immediate access to the 'grass roots' problems of the district at the school building level through his wife, a former Dist. 59 teacher. We feel that his interest attitude and background combine to make him the candidate who can and will contribute the most to the quality of education in Dist. 59."

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the Front had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc. of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes, "as I understand them."

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

214 Tax May Jump 20%

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget, geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey — will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12.5-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed new 2,500-pupil Rolling Meadows high school.

The district will seek the advice of a bond consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant may be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year-only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines. School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71.

—Increase in teachers salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants, borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers' salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $300,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Salary levels for 1970-71 will be determined next spring by negotiations with the Dist. 214 Teachers Association salary committee.

With that in mind, board member Richard Bachhuber of Mount Prospect urged Wednesday that the board approve a balanced budget for levy purposes that allows funds for a 5 per cent increase.

"Then if you have to go to tax anticipation warrants, it will bring home a point," Bachhuber asserted.

"It does bring up the point that this district is not a bottomless well of money," agreed board member Frank Bergen, also of Mount Prospect.

THE TENTATIVE budget, revised by Weber after Wednesday's meeting, will be accepted for public inspection at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

A public hearing on the budget will take place Sept. 11 in the board meeting room at Slicemeyer administration center, 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Then the school board will be ready to approve the budget, possibly with amendments.

Property taxes to cover the school district budget will be paid in 1970.

LIKE A MAN SITTING on top of the world, smiling Peter Fosbinder sits on top of a rock garden he and his wife Elsie built in their spare time at 2603 Sigwalt St. in Rolling Meadows. The Fosbinders moved to the city two years ago from Medinah, Ill.

From Pebbles To Rock Garden

by BOB ZANIC

A rock garden which takes up half of Peter S. Fosbinder's back yard, at 2603 Sigwalt, Rolling Meadows, is many things but most important it is an affirmation of life.

This tanned and robust man of 61 has put in as much energy into his rock garden and home as he has in his job.

"I've had two jobs all my life," he said. "My shop and my home."

Serving in an executive capacity for the past 30 years, Fosbinder said he has always enjoyed creating and watching things grow.

After living for many years in Medinah, Ill., Fosbinder and his wife, Elsie, came to Rolling Meadows two years ago.

"THE DOCTOR told Pete to take it easy after a heart attack two years ago," said Mrs. Fosbinder. "We had a bigger house in Medinah and a rock garden and Pete was just doing too much, so we got rid of the house," she added.

Fosbinder took the doctor's advice but added, "When a doctor tells you to slow up you better follow his advice, but I have found out that no doctor in the world can tell you what your capacity for work is after your heart attack. You have to find this out for yourself."

The doctor and Fosbinder apparently agreed on another point: even a person who has had a heart attack has to remain active.

"You can't let yourself become an invalid," said Fosbinder. "That's not good."

MONTHLY CHECK-UPS and prescribed medication are adhered to by Fosbinder but he says he doesn't baby himself.

"Although we moved to this smaller house," Mrs. Fosbinder said, "Pete is just as busy as ever. He has to be doing something; the man just can't remain still. When we came here two years ago, this place didn't look like very much," she said with a wave of her hand. "You wouldn't believe what he did to the place."

Pete Fosbinder said he missed his home in Medinah and occasionally he and Mrs. Fosbinder would visit it.

"I had this rock garden, you see, bigger than this one here and I'm sure that's what really sold the house. Well, I knew the people who bought the place would take care of the rock garden and the other items I planted and built but I just couldn't keep myself away from the place," he said.

Mrs. Fosbinder said that she thought perhaps they could build a little rock garden in their new back yard but it wasn't long afterwards that the rock garden grew almost as large as the one in Medinah.

"IT'S OUR PLEASURE," he said. "My wife putters around the yard and helps me with everything."

He stopped and looked at a tree and touched it tenderly with the tips of his strong fingers. "This small tree was dying but I got busy and nursed it back to health. It's only a maple but it's not sick anymore."

When Fosbinder isn't working on his rock garden or planting trees and flowers, he is inside his garage workshop, building birdhouses, additions to his front porch, or window frames.

"I built all of these birdhouses including one for purple martins," he said, pointing to a large, purple-painted bird house mounted on a high pole. "So far the martins have ignored the house. Maybe the color scares them away," he said. "However, wrens and other birds have made good use of the structure."

Ask Reduced Truck Rates

The industrial division of the Rolling Meadows Chamber of Commerce is seeking reduced trucking rates for business in the area.

Richard Erck, a chamber member, said freight rates are not fair in this area. He said rates are higher than in Chicago.

Rates available in suburbs vary. Costs are double to businessmen in Rolling Meadows than to business in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village.

In order to reduce the rates, they must convince the rate-making committee of truckers associations.

Erck said the Interstate Commerce Commission will not force truckers to reduce their rates, but they have to approve it.

RATE REDUCTION has been a campaign of the industrial division that was formed earlier this year.

Rolling Meadows comes within the 10-mile radius of the Chicago city limits and is eligible for inclusion in the metropolitan rate zone upon the city's annexation of O'Hare Field 10 years ago.

The problem is to get the rate-making committee of the trucking companies association to lower the rates.

Erck said involving several communities in a drive for lower rates would help the campaign. Businesses would have to make a presentation to transportation boards in the zone, but no definite progress has been made, he said.

"DON'T ASK me about the hours I put into anything I build around here," he said. "I do something because it gives me pleasure. Time, like money is to be spent. When I spend time or money it is not a question of how much I spend but how much pleasure I get out of the spending."

When the sun has gone down and the weather is warm, the experience of sitting next to the lighted rock garden has no rival, said Fosbinder. Visitors have come from quite a distance to take a look at it. "Most of my rocks were gathered in different parts of the country. All of those pebbles were collected at Zion," he said.

A man who has built and grown things all of his life, Fosbinder said he got his ideas from various garden shows he and his wife have attended throughout the years.

ALTHOUGH HE will retire in several years, he is not worried about what he will do with his time.

"I intend to remain active. Inactivity hurts people," he said. "People spend just as much time and effort trying to do nothing as they would doing something. I've lived long enough to know there will always be something for me to do."

Jung Comes Back

After a year's absence, Paul Jung is back as chairman of the Palatine Township Youth Committee.

Unanimously reelected to his old position this week by the committee, Jung had resigned last July to do graduate study toward a doctorate degree at Northern Illinois University.

Former principal of Jane Addams School, he has returned to School Dist. 15 as director of personnel. A year ago he served as director of an area school cooperative study which covered 10 school districts in the Northwest suburbs.

While complimenting achievements of the group during the last year, he said he looks forward to increasing communication and cooperation with governmental agencies in the township.

"I intend to talk with all the groups about services the youth committee already is providing and also find out what other programs they would like to see offered," he said.

JUNG EXPECTS to contact governmental groups including schools, municipal, police departments and the Illinois Youth Commission to further cooperation.

While Jung was away, Mrs. Elaine Lethem served as interim chairman. Becoming vice chairman of the committee again, she said, "Paul has the unique kind of leadership needed by the committee in its effort to organize youth services and enlist community support. He is absolutely dedicated to young people and to providing for their needs."

She reported the youth outreach program and proposed family counseling were the major accomplishments of the youth committee during the last year.

In February, the outreach program was moved to a store-front location on Northwest Highway which now serves as a drop-in center for teens and headquarters for the outreach staff.

New staff assignments for the outreach center also were announced by Emerson Thomas, executive director of youth services. Dennis Morgan, who has been with the youth committee since September was named program coordinator of the project.

Jay Fournier is the newly appointed outreach worker. A recent graduate of George Williams College, he has training and background in youth programming, according to Thomas.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES at the center include planning, training, discussion, improving relationships and preparation for responsible citizenship. Programs vary as the needs and requests of the young people change.

Mrs. Lethem also reported that plans to bring family counseling services to Palatine Township have been nearly completed.

In a year-long study, educators, doctors and clergy cooperated with the youth committee to demonstrate the need for counseling services.

Because of the study, a community counseling center which is a family agency of the Salvation Army, will begin serving the township in late fall. The service is expected to be expanded as more local financing becomes available.

"PALATINE TOWNSHIP is really fortunate that the Community Counseling Center in Des Plaines is willing to establish a branch office here," Mrs. Lethem said.

"Professionals who work with children in our area are well aware of the highly qualified staff and excellent services established at the counseling center."

"This is a giant step toward effective delinquency prevention in the township," she said.

Accident Injures Boy

A Rolling Meadows youth sustained a broken pelvis and "numerous abrasions on his arms and legs" Tuesday night after he was hit by an auto in front of his home.

John O'Donnell, 8, 2304 Campbell St., darted into the middle of the street from behind an ice cream truck, witnesses said.

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the Front had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc., of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes. "As I understand them."

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

John O'Donnell, 8, 2304 Campbell St., darted into the middle of the street from behind an ice cream truck, witnesses said.

Legion Team Action Slated

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

The 1969 season has worked out well thus far for Coach Bob Grybash and his Palatine American Legion baseball team, but things are getting even better.

Palatine, which took first place in the District Nine Legion standings, has been sitting it out for a week as the other six members of the league are battling in a post-season tournament. Palatine will get back into action this weekend.

Still alive in the post-season tournament are Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Wheeling. The remaining team in this double elimination tournament will play Palatine at 6 p.m. Saturday on an undetermined site. (Times and sites for Palatine's games will be available by calling 394-1700).

THE PALATINE Legion team will play again on Sunday and, if need be, a doubleheader will be played Sunday, or one game Monday.

Palatine Post 690 is in a far better position to go on to the Cook County tournament which follows the District Nine tournament than any other team.

First of all, Palatine's pitching staff is well-rested due to a week of inactivity. In the meantime, the pitching staffs of the other four teams still alive in the District Nine tournament are battling day after day unable to compete against Post 690 for the District Nine championship. And, of course, pitching is the name of the game.

Not only will the needed rest be an aid to the Palatine staff, but Coach Grybash received some good news last week. Left-hander John Dempster is reportedly recovered from a sore arm and will be available if called upon. Dempster's addition to the team has to be a definite plus since he posted a 7-1 record during the high school season.

ANOTHER ADDITION to the staff for the tournament is Tommy Bruns who had a 6-2 record against Mid-Suburban League competition during the high school season. Bruns has kept sharp by pitching for Fremd during this year's Northwest Division Summer Baseball League.

Going with Dempster and Bruns will be the ace of the staff, Dave Hasbach, who hasn't lost a game since opening day — a 1-0 heartbreaker to Park Ridge. Pat Doyle, an ever-improving right-hander, will be starter in one of this weekend's games. For relief help, Grybash can call on Lar-

The professional staff at Palatine Public Library will triple in September when two professional librarians join the staff as adult services librarian and children's services librarian.

Mrs. Eleanor Rebien, Lake Bluff, who is completing her master's work in library science will begin as adult services librarian in mid-September.

Mrs. Alma Mehn, who has worked at the library for six years, will also finish her master's degree in library science and will join the professional staff in September as children's services librarian.

MRS. IDA BULLEN, Palatine Library director, told the library board this week that having two service librarians in the service area will help improve library services.

In her monthly report to the board, Mrs. Bullen said that the library committee set up to purchase art prints for the loan collection has completed its purchasing. The prints will be ready for circulation as soon as they are framed.

If the print collection is successful, she hopes to begin purchasing sculpture for loan on a monthly basis.

"You have to stop thinking of a library as just a place for books," Mrs. Bullen said. "Whatever people want to borrow is what we should have available."

THE LIBRARY HAS begun expanding its services to the nursing homes in the area, taking books to the elderly patients once a week. Mrs. Cleis Jensen, assistant director, said the people in the homes wait for the librarian to come.

"They want to read the books everyone else is reading, so we take orders and bring them back with us the next week."

In other action, the board reviewed the quarterly budget income and expenditures. Since May, the library has spent $7,800 for new books and $875 on periodicals. The library staff is conducting a survey of what magazines are used most in an effort to cut back on the number of subscriptions being taken.

"We take about 306 periodicals, and just don't have the room to store all of them. Some of them belong in graduate libraries rather than a public library," Mrs. Bullen said.

TOTALLY, THE library has spent $31,000 of a $134,700 budget in its first fiscal quarter.

The board also voted to participate in a price-fixing suit against Harper and Row, which the North Suburban Library System is encouraging member-libraries to join. The suit covers purchase of children's books with a library binding from 1959 to 1967.

The board also recommended that purchase of a 16 mm movie projector for recreational films not exceed $550.

ry Anderson and Steve Hearn. Needless to say, Coach Grybash has a solid pitching staff to walk to the mound each day of the tournament.

BESIDES HAVING outstanding pitching, Grybash has a solid lineup which can score runs and play fine defense.

Anderson will play first base and Pete Clark will be at second and both have helped the team with the bat and the glove. Gerry Grybash, the brother of Coach Grybash, has had an outstanding season at shortstop though he played catcher during the high school season.

Third baseman Scott Smith has finally broken out of his slump and his bat will be felt by the opponents. Smith has always had a top-notch glove at the hot corner.

Grybash's outfield leaves many opposing coaches green with envy. In left field he has Al Bambrick, a smooth stroking power hitter who will hit for average as well as the long ball. Veteran Don Wickersham, who has been through this tournament pressure before, covers the territory in center field. Hearn, who joined the squad midway through the season, has performed extremely well and has hit in the clutch.

BEHIND THE PLATE will be Ernie Purcelli and there are not many baserunners who care to test his shotgun arm. Purcelli can also handle the bat.

Grybash also has plenty of bench strength including a fellow like Don Dyvon who was one of the leaders in runs batted in during the high school campaign.

Indeed, Grybash's club looks good on paper and it has looked good on the field all season. Grybash's club is rested and Saturday night and Sunday, no matter who the opponent turns up to be, Palatine has to be the favorite.

NO NEED TO BEG some gas jockey to wipe your windshield when you drive into the Shell service station at Kirchhoff Road and Meadow Drive, in Rolling Meadows this weekend. Ready willing and able to serve you is Mrs. Ger-old Fohlmeister, a member of the community's Junior Woman's Club and a participant in the club's gas pump jamboree.

Junior Women To Handle the Pumps

The Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club will man the pumps at the Shell Service Station at Kirchhoff Road and Meadow Drive today through Sunday during the annual Gas Pump Jamboree.

The station will be open from 9 a.m. through 11 p.m. to day and Saturday. Sunday closing time is 8 p.m.

Children accompanied by an adult will receive a free piece of candy.

Profits from this major fundraising event will go to help support special club philanthropies such as brain research, Project Concern, Mental Health Clinic, Clearbrook Center for the Retarded and scholarships to local students.

Committee chairman Mrs. Ronald Rastang expressed gratitude to Shell station manager Bill Mieska for his contribution and support of the club throughout the past six years.

Club members and their husbands will be raising additional funds during the city's West Fest Days by manning a bratwurst booth.

Niles GOP Supports Nimrod

Niles Township GOP Committeemen John Nimrod received his party organization's unanimous endorsement Thursday night in his campaign for 13th district congressman.

Nimrod was the only candidate put up for consideration and was given a standing ovation. There were 109 out of 117 precinct captains present to deliver their support. Almost immediately after the short session ended Nimrod left for the Wheeling Township GOP candidate's night in Arlington Heights.

The committeemen's endorsement was a mere formality since the organization had entered Nimrod's candidacy in the special congressional election.

Nimrod of Skokie is one of 11 GOP candidates seeking the seat of former Congressman Donald Rumsfeld. Winner of the Oct. 7 primary will face Democrat Edward W. Warren of Skokie in the Nov. 25 general election.

Nimrod is Niles Township supervisor. When announcing his candidacy for Congress, he resigned as assistant director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

He was president of his own business, Kemmerly Inc., in Arlington Heights, until a merger dissolved the company in 1963.

Nimrod's endorsement makes him the fourth candidate to get a township organization's support. Other endorsements have been Alan Johnston in New Trier Township, Phil Crane in Palatine Township and Sam Young in Northfield Township.

Four township organizations yet to endorse are Evanston, Wheeling, Schaumburg and Elk Grove.

Police Have Anti-SDS Booklet

by MURRAY DUBIN

Besides providing police protection to the community, the Arlington Heights Police Department has been offering one added but unasked for item — conservative political literature.

Innocently displayed on the police desk in the village hall Wednesday was a pile of small, white, four-page booklets printed in Dallas and dated June 13, 1969.

The booklet was entitled "Life Line." The headline on each booklet was "Freedom Talk" and the headline under that was "SDS — Students To Destroy Society."

ABOUT SDS, LIFE Line said, "Under the guise of academic freedom, arrogant and hard core militants are determined to destroy our educational system."

The booklet includes this description of the 1965 LDS convention in Kewadin, Mich.: "All facilities at the site were coed and over 200 participants regardless of sex or color shared cabins and bath rooms. The facilities were filthy, but no more so than many of the barefooted, bearded, unkempt delegates."

Life Line, a reprint of a daily radio commentary, labels the SDS and its affiliates as "very much huns and vandals. Our concern must be to deal with them with a strong hand."

When asked what the politically conservative literature was doing in the police station, Chief L. W. Calderwood said, "They're sent to the department and we distribute them to the officers because they are part of our life today."

"WE TRY AND KEEP our officers as well informed on both sides of every issue as we can."

Calderwood added that if SDS sent his office literature, it would be displayed, too. We receive J. Edgar Hoover's reports and the Christian Science Monitor, among others. It is just too bad I can't assimilate them all."

The Arlington Heights Police Department has not as yet received literature from any organizations on the "left."

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the Herald that he did not know anything about the display of Life Line, but said, "I don't think we should be a clearing house for all types of material. I'll look into it."

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack Siegel was surprised when told of the matter. "I don't think it is very good policy and I don't think the village should push material like that."

Though not sure of the legality of such a display in the village hall, Siegel said, "I don't think the village should push anybody's political views, and if this continues, we would have to present all political views."

Life Line could not be found on the police desk Thursday afternoon.

Campus To Be Ready Early

Harper Junior College trustees heard good news last night for a change from contractors hurrying to complete their new campus at Roselle and Algonquin Roads, Palatine.

Corbetta Construction Co. spokesmen said occupancy dates for many areas of the community colleges' six buildings have been set ahead. They predicted that the college board will be able to hold its next meeting, Aug. 14, in the spacious new board room in the college center.

"You may not have any coffee," grumbled food service director Ed Goodwin, who was told last night that the campus kitchen will not be ready until Aug. 18, although the cafeteria and faculty dining room will be turned over to the college by Aug. 11.

Contractors had better news for John Thompson, head of the biological sciences building. They said science laboratories will be ready by Oct. 15 in usable shape, instead of the Nov. 15 date predicted earlier.

Contractors delayed in doing exterior site work because of the wet summer weather now are beginning to spread top soil around the building. "If we can get two consecutive weeks of good weather, we will be able to complete walk ways and road work that needs doing," the spokesman said.

Other critically needed community college facilities now being finished include — the permanent counseling area to be ready Aug. 15, the game room, where temporary counseling quarters will be set up during registration also Aug. 11, and the college book store ready to have shelves installed before the same date.

The lecture demonstration building this week was still almost completely bare of finish work, but the men from Corbetta promised it will be ready for use by Sept. 15, the day that some 5,000 to 6,000 Harper students start fall classes.

'Pot' Law Causes Stir

The recent relaxation of laws governing penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana has caused a stir in local police departments.

The law permits a first time offender who has less than 25 grams of the illegal weed to be charged with a misdemeanor rather than the former felony charges.

One reason the law was approved by the state legislature was that many offenders were being pronounced not guilty by judges who felt the penalty was too stiff.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher of Wheeling said, "The law wasn't being upheld before and I have no reason to believe the new law will be upheld now. Many courts will still not convict the offender."

UNDER THE OLD law, anyone charged with possession of marijuana was automatically under the stigma of having a felony charge on his record and was tried in felony court. The new law will permit local courts to try offenders.

Elk Grove Police Chief Harry Jenkins disagreed with Horcher because as he says the new law will lead to "better adjudication."

He elaborated. The idea is good because judges were reluctant to find defendants guilty because of the excessive penalty and the felony charge. Now maybe they'll look at things differently.

"I am in favor of this new law because it will let the cases be handled locally and faster," said Newell Esmond, Mount Prospect police chief.

The new law was ushered in only hours before a narcotics raid by Mount Prospect police.

THE PROBLEM of marijuana usage in the area is centered among the young people the chiefs agree.

Horcher said, "There was quite a problem here about a year ago, but it seems to have cleared up by now."

He bemoaned the fact that because of

"existing rules" it is not possible to make arrests on circumstantial information.

The Wheeling police had information on a narcotics ring in the area last August. Horcher says but couldn't make any arrests until January.

Horcher expressed concern about the children who were reared by the drugs before the police could stop drug traffic.

Jenkins said the problem is minimal in Elk Grove, and although he didn't believe there are any addicts, there are plenty of experimenters and users.

ESMOND SAID HE wasn't sure that an increase of violations would occur because of the relaxed penalties, but Jenkins seemed confident that it would not.

"I don't look on it as a relaxed law," the Elk Grove police chief said. "Marijuana is still illegal and the violation of the law is still in effect."

Residents View 13th Race

Last spring State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, sponsored HB 1241, setting up the mechanics for municipalities to annex adjoining unincorporated areas by ordinance.

The bill met with such heavy and well organized opposition from Prospect Heights residents that it was stopped in a Senate committee.

Now Schlickman is seeking the Republican nomination for the 13th District Congressional seat. To win the nomination he must be able to count on heavy support from the district he now represents in the Illinois General Assembly.

LEADERS OF THE various homeowners groups in the Prospect Heights area expressed varying views on how his HB 1241 sponsorship will affect his support in the Prospect Heights area.

"My opinion is that he has hurt his chances because he sponsored the bill," said Mrs. Marie Caylor, a director of the Euclid-Lake Homeowners Association.

Mrs. Caylor is the woman who led the fight in Prospect Heights against the bill.

"He probably sponsored the bill 'innocently,' not realizing how many people it would hurt," she said.

Mrs. Caylor admitted that "there are some people in the area who will vote for him definitely, simply because they don't want someone from the North Shore."

Ralph Van Patten of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association took a different view. "I think his sponsorship of 1241 helped his chances. This was a bill that had some good features in it, actually," he said.

"I THINK Schlickman's chances are pretty good in my area. I don't think anyone could hold 1241 against him."

Van Patten and Mrs. Caylor agree that Prospect Heights residents would rather vote for a local candidate than one from the North Shore. Van Patten predicted this would be the most important factor in how Prospect Heights residents cast their votes.

Mrs. Georgeanne Gardner, president of the Parkview Homeowners Association, also agreed that because Schlickman is a local candidate, his chances of support from Prospect Heights are good.

But, she added, "The average Prospect Heights person will take his sponsorship of 1241 into consideration before they vote. How much they'll give it is undeterminable."

She added, "If the people look at his entire record, maybe they'll support him. But, politics is a funny game where the thing you did most recently is remembered the most."

"THE BILL HAS GOT to hurt him, even though he has been a good state representative," said William Richter, Richter was president of the Woodview Homeowners Association at the time 1241 was being considered by the legislature.

"You have a very independent-type person out here in Prospect Heights. For the legislature to take away their votes on what their future would be they were a little taken back," Richter said.

Neil LeFevre, a member of the Randwood Homeowners Association, said he thought "Schlickman's chances are good in spite of 1241." He too, predicted Schlickman's chances in the area would be helped because he is a local candidate.

According to Abner Baumann, president of the Wolf Mandel Improvement Association, "The bill stirred up tremendous opposition in our area. It's a bit difficult to say whether his vote-getting power was hurt by the bill."

Boy Scouts Council To Move Office

The Northwest Suburban Council of Boy Scouts will move its offices to Arlington Heights in October.

Serving 20 communities the new Scout service center will move to 1622 N. Rand Road.

Formerly a square dance center, the building has a 5,000-square-foot auditorium which will be used for large Scout meetings and be available to other groups public service. The committee in charge of locating new quarters for the expanding council staff chose the Arlington Heights site because of the large auditorium space and its central location to villages it serves.

OFFICE SPACE, meeting rooms and a self-service store for scouting supplies are included in plans for the center. Boy Scout officials hope the new quarters will serve scouting needs in the area for the next 10 years.

Dave Price, staff advisor, said the center is the first project in the total $12 million capital development program of the Northwest Suburban Council. Other projects include development of a leader training center at Lakota Scout Reservation near Woodstock, improved facilities at Camp Napowan in Wisconsin and central camp facilities at Namekagon Scout reservation in Wisconsin.

Present Scout headquarters, at 2500 Dempster St. in Des Plaines, are too small to serve the needs of the 16,000 Scouts in the Northwest suburbs. The Des Plaines property now housing a staff of 21, has been sold to Thomas Realty Co. of Des Plaines.

Chairman of the capital development committee is council Pres. Robert Sasser of Park Ridge. Assisting him are M. Edward Smith, Arlington Heights, Carl Klehm, Elk Grove Village, Robert Y. Padock and Roger Sellstrom, Palatine, Donald Heidorn, Mount Prospect, William E. Cornelius and John Metropoulos, Park Ridge, and Harold Smith Jr., Barrington.

Narcotics Charged to Four

by GERRY DE ZONNA

Four men who are reportedly part of the major narcotic distribution in the Northwest suburbs have been arrested by Mount Prospect police and state narcotics agents for the possession and sale of 10 pounds of homegrown marijuana.

The arrests made Friday night in the parking lot of the Red Balloon Restaurant at Rand and Central roads, included two Mount Prospect residents, Craig Halvorsen 17, and John Reder, 28. Juan Coronado 23 of Des Plaines and Arturo Silva, 31 of Mundelein were also arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Mount Prospect detective division announced the arrests at a press conference yesterday morning.

The Herald knew of the arrests Monday, but withheld publication upon the department's request, pending the arrest of an Evanston man who is believed to be part of a drug conspiracy.

A STATE NARCOTICS agent, posing as a potential buyer, arranged the sale with the four men and then alerted Mount Prospect police as to the time and place of the transaction.

The agent met with the four men shortly after 8 p.m. Friday at the parking lot and agreed to pay them $1,100 in exchange for 10 pounds of uncut marijuana. The men, who reportedly smelled trouble, left the scene, but returned shortly after 10 p.m. with the merchandise in a shopping bag.

Detectives Richard Yost, Richard Pascoe and Robert Barrone of the Mount Prospect Police Department said they and state narcotics agents watched the men unload the marijuana from the trunk of their car.

"As soon as the agent paid them the money, we closed in on the group. They were still counting the money — $1,100 in small bills. They made no attempt to resist arrest because we had come out in full force," Yost said.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this case for more than two months, and we finally caught them after extensive investigations, checks, and surveillance. We notified the Illinois State Narcotic bureau after sources informed us of the subjects' activities," Bopp said.

The marijuana, which has already been sent to the crime laboratory in Joliet for identification, was reportedly grown in the area. "The marijuana was uncut and pure. It could be cut, sifted and mixed with other ingredients to yield a $40,000 harvest."

"Usually marijuana in such a pure state as this will be handled by five or six different buyers, each diluting the quantity and reselling it. Marijuana right now is at a high premium because there's none coming in from Mexico. This isn't the harvest time there," Yost said.

"We consider these men as major contacts or wholesalers in marijuana. They're not dealing with nickel or dime packages, but with the big money. Marijuana traffic is an on-going problem in the suburbs, and we know that by arresting these four men we won't be terminating the problem."

"THEY'RE ONLY one small part, but a significant part. Although we have made no further arrests, others are implicated in the crime," Bopp said.

The four men were released earlier this week on $10,000 bail. They are to appear at the Niles Felony Court July 29. Conviction for the sale of marijuana imposes a 10 to 20 year jail sentence and a possible fine, pending the decision of the judge.

Funds for Football Field Lights Plunged in Darkness

In order to get more seats for its football fans, Wheeling High School is willing to forego for a year planned remodeling of its science laboratories.

Principal Tom Shirley gave that word to the High School Dist. 214 board Wednesday when the budget committee asked what he was willing to give up in order to get another 1,000 bleacher seats.

"I'd rather see the science rooms done than the bleachers," board member Richard Bachhuber, Mount Prospect, said. "I guess it depends on where you want to get the pressure," Shirley answered. "The people in the Spur Club have their hearts set on it."

When BACHHUBER, who had unsuccessfully opposed the school board's decision to add bleacher seats this fall at Wheeling, Prospect and Arlington high schools, pressed taxes up.

The principal said, "We don't think we can get the science laboratories remodeled before school starts, anyway. We will give this top priority next year."

Arlington High School, faced with the same problem of trimming other building improvements to offset the estimated cost of adding 1,000 seats to the football field, recommended postponing remodeling of biology laboratories and renovating a girls' gymnasium floor.

Asst. Principal John Rowe said the change in plans would save $12,000.

PROSPECT SCHOOL officials said they will postpone or trim costs on several improvement projects including replacement of a gym floor to insure that the Prospect field can have its seating expanded by 1,000 before the fall grid season.

The school board faced the three schools with the "what to defer" decision Monday.

after approving added seating at Wheeling and Prospect. More seats for the Arlington football field were approved two weeks before.

Bachhuber pushed through the review by pointing out that the seating expenditure would trim by a third the 1969-70 building contingency funds.

He argued that the $79,000 left was too low to provide a safe financial hedge against building costs that may unexpectedly arise.

He said that Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Panthers mount a public relations campaign for their own ends by bombarding newspapers with "thousands" of letters and calling in to radio talk shows. He urged members of the audience who agreed with him to do the same.

Lindstrom repeated, as he has in the past, that Communist countries do not respect a "wavering or vacillating position."

"We're only encouraging a fifth or tenth-rate power to take aggressive steps."

HE STATED THAT Secretary of State Dean Rusk, prior to the release of the men, told him three times that the United States would not issue an apology to the North Koreans. However, the apology was made later in conjunction with the release of the men.

The apology and the U.S. Pueblo are now being used throughout the Communist and neutral world for propaganda purposes, he charged.

In conjunction with his church, Lindstrom conducts the Christian Liberty Academy for students from kindergarten through tenth grade.

Local Group on TV Show

A local group will have "hit the big time" when it appears on a CBS special Tuesday.

The "Showcase Six" was chosen for the special part of the CBS Repertoire Workshop series designed to feature new groups in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Jim Grady, a graduate of Prospect High School and now a student at Northwestern University, is the composer-arranger-performer of the group.

During the special, the group will perform eight numbers, three of which are original compositions by Grady.

The "Showcase Six" use piano, bass and drum accompaniment.

They were recently seen on the Jim Conway Show and the Midwest edition of the All-American College Show.

All members of the group are students at Northwestern.

The special will be broadcast at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Lindstrom: Probe

Rev. Paul Lindstrom, national head of the "Remember the Pueblo" committee, yesterday repeated three demands in the wake of the Pueblo and EC 121 incidents last year.

Lindstrom, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Arlington Heights Rotary Club, called for a Senate investigation of the Pueblo affair, demanded the return of the Pueblo, and asked for the repatriation of "thousands" of prisoners held in Communist countries.

The minister of the Church of Christian Liberty in Prospect Heights charged, among other things, that Cuba still holds 928 citizens as prisoners.

He asserted that his committee has the passport numbers of those citizens, whose Constitutional rights "are being violated."

LINDSTROM ALSO said that 389 men are unaccounted for in North Korea and about 1,000 men are unaccounted for or held by the North Vietnamese or the Viet Cong.

He encouraged the 35 Rotarians to pray for the men held captive and to provide the "legs behind prayer," through letters of protest to United States officials.

Good Place for a Pinch

Elk Grove Policeman Ronald Iden was at the right place at the right time Wednesday.

In fact, he made four separate arrests for similar reasons at the same location three different times.

At 12:45 a.m., Iden, roaming around town in his squad car, spotted a vehicle at Arlington Heights and Higgins roads with the rear license plate dangling from one bolt.

He stopped the car, driven by Frederick C. Waterbury III, of 109 Berkley, Hoffman Estates, and asked for the 19-year-old's driver's license.

Waterbury turned to his companion in the auto, Robert C. Philpott, 18, of 529 Fairview Circle, Schaumburg, and asked him for his wallet, which supposedly contained the asked-for license, but which turned out to be the one belonging to Philpott.

ARREST NUMBER ONE. Iden brought the pair back to the station. Waterbury was charged with driving with an improperly affixed license plate, driving with a suspended license and using another person's driver's license.

Police also charged Philpott with unlawful use of a driver's license (allowing Waterbury to use it for identification), police said. Both youths were released on $1,000 bonds.

Iden drove by the same intersection at 3:30 a.m. when he detected another traffic violation, arrest number two.

Ronald J. Kotila, of Elgin, was stopped and charged with driving his auto with a noisy muffler. When Kotila was taken to the station, it was learned he was driving on a suspended license. He was freed on $500 bond.

ABOUT 5:30, IDEN toured the intersection again and once more spotted a violation.

A car, driven by Rick Wilson, of Chicago, was functioning with one white tail light. Wilson became the fourth person arrested at the same corner in five hours.

When he was brought to the station, however, police said it was discovered Wilson didn't have a driver's license at all. His bond was $500.

New Subdivisions Proposed to City

Two new subdivisions that would add 43 houses to the city were proposed at the Rolling Meadows City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Westcreek, north of Salt Creek near Central Road School and Tall Oaks, east of Plum Grove Road and west of Creekside, were presented in a pre-annexation hearing.

Westcreek is a proposed planned development with 21 three- to four-bedroom houses, in the $38,000 to $40,000 price range.

Tall Oaks, which would be next to Dawn Gate on the south side, would be a 22-home development of houses costing $50,000 and up.

BUILDERS FOR Tall Oaks asked that street lights and sidewalks be waived as in the Dawn Gate development. Gas lights would be installed on each lot in lieu of street lights.

However, aldermen protested the omission of sidewalks, saying school children will walk in that area to go to Plum Grove School.

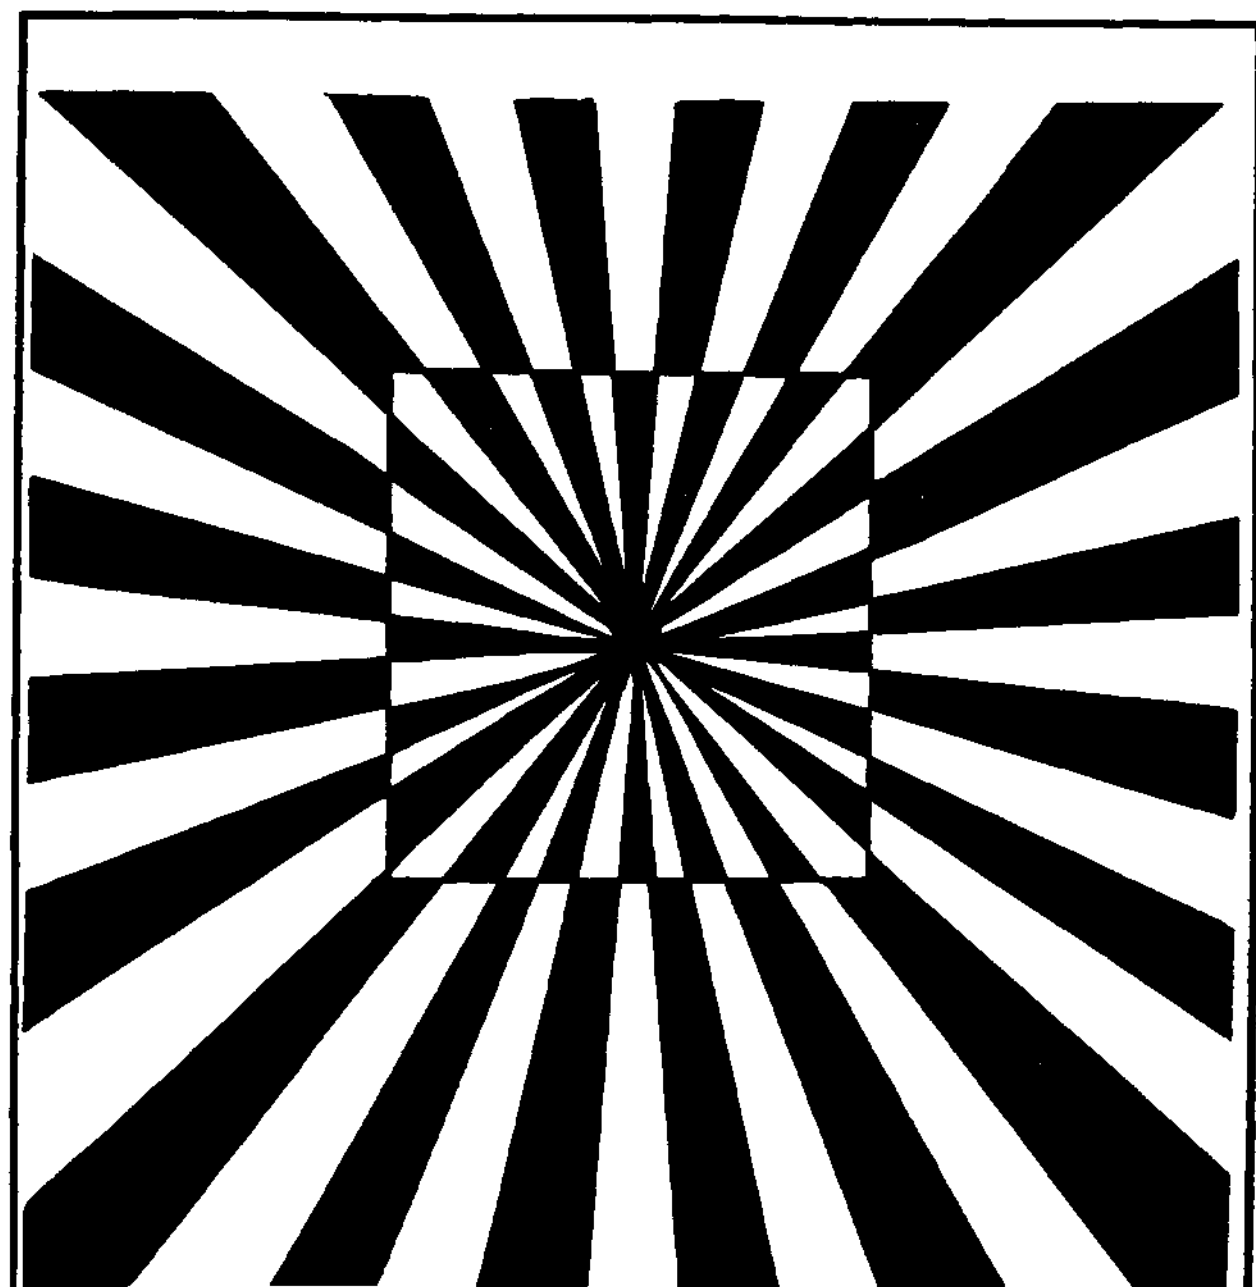

A Rolling Meadows resident asked what drainage plans had been made for the Westcreek subdivision, as drainage in that area has been a problem.

City engineer Edgar Fletcher said the drainage situation will be studied.

Action on annexation of the two subdivisions will be taken at the next council meeting, Aug. 12.

214 Tax May Jump 20%

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12.5-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed new 2,500-pupil Rolling Meadows high school.

The district will seek the advice of a bond consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant may be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year-only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines.

School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71

—Increase in teachers salaries

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants, borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $300,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Salary levels for 1970-71 will be determined next spring by negotiations with the Dist. 214 Teachers Association salary committee.

With that in mind, board member Richard Bachhuber of Mount Prospect urged Wednesday that the board approve a balanced budget for levy purposes that allows funds for a 5 per cent increase.

"Then if you have to go to tax anticipation warrants, it will bring home a pain," Bachhuber asserted.

"It does bring up the point that this district is not a bottomless well of money," agreed board member Frank Bergen, also of Mount Prospect.

THE TENTATIVE budget, revised by Weber after Wednesday's meeting, will be accepted for public inspection at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

A public hearing on the budget will take place Sept. 11 in the board meeting room at St. Schenmyer administration center, 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Then the school board will be ready to approve the budget, possibly with amendments.

Property taxes to cover the school district budget will be paid in 1970.

Jubilee Finale Seeks Entries

Entries are being accepted for Wheeling's Diamond Jubilee "grand finale parade" to be held at 2 p.m. Aug. 24.

Groups, clubs, businesses, churches and individuals in and around Wheeling may get entry forms at Jubilee Headquarters, 315 E. Dundee Road. Deadline is Aug. 14.

PRIZES WILL BE awarded to the best overall entry and to 15 special categories.

Adeline Schneider, one of Wheeling's oldest residents, will be the grand marshal of the parade.

Residents View 13th

Last spring State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, sponsored HB 1241, setting up the mechanics for municipalities to annex adjoining unincorporated areas by ordinance.

The bill met with such heavy and well-organized opposition from Prospect Heights residents that it was stopped in a Senate committee.

Now Schlickman is seeking the Republican nomination for the 13th District Congressional seat. To win the nomination he must be able to count on heavy support from the district he now represents in the Illinois General Assembly. Prospect Heights is a part of that district.

LEADERS OF THE various homeowners groups in the Prospect Heights area expressed varying views on how his HB 1241 sponsorship will affect his support in the Prospect Heights area.

My opinion is that he has hurt his chances because he sponsored the bill," said Mrs. Marie Caylor, a director of the Euclid Lake Homeowners Association. Mrs. Caylor is the woman who led the fight in Prospect Heights against the bill.

Deny Zoning For Clark

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission denied the petition of the Clark Oil Co. to zone the property at 17-21 Dundee Road for use as a service station.

At last week's plan commission meeting, Marathon Oil Co.'s rezoning petition for a service station on the land adjacent to the Clark site was approved.

Prior to the decision Leonard Schneeburger, construction supervisor for Clark Oil Co., told the commission that to his knowledge Clark never had to close one of their service stations.

Irwin Land attorney for the petitioner, reminded the commission that Clark has no repair operation nor any clutter. "Clark Oil Co. has no station in Arlington Heights and is very anxious to enter into the village."

AFTER THE MOTION to deny the petition was presented, Commissioner James Ryan said, "In my humble opinion, two gas stations back to back aren't necessarily poor planning."

"I'd rather see gas stations in a concentrated area than strung along for blocks."

"When we granted Marathon their rezoning request, we passed judgment in favor of Clark also. How can we reach a different conclusion on Marathon than we do here?"

"He probably sponsored the bill 'innocently,' not realizing how many people it would hurt," she said.

Mrs. Caylor admitted that "there are some people in the area who will vote for him definitely, simply because they don't want someone from the North Shore."

Ralph Van Patten of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association took a different view. "I think his sponsorship of 1241 helped his chances. This was a bill that had some good features in it, actually," he said.

Mrs. Georgette Gardner, president of the Parkview Homeowners Association, also agreed that because Schlickman is a local candidate his chances of support from Prospect Heights are good.

But, she added, "The average Prospect Heights person will take his sponsorship of 1241 into consideration before they vote."

School Is Sought

by SUE CARSON

Residents in the Strathmore and Ballantrae subdivisions of Buffalo Grove want a model community school to be started at the Longfellow School, according to a survey taken earlier this month.

The results of the survey were revealed Thursday at a meeting of the Ball State University Community Education Study Group and area residents. The university study group made the survey.

The study group also concluded that a more in-depth survey should be conducted to determine what specific programs residents would like in the area of community education.

IN THE AREA OF recreation and social activities, the study group reported that 316 people surveyed indicated that recreation is one of the three most important community problems. One hundred seventy-five respondents indicated on the questionnaire that additional recreational activities are needed in the community.

"Assuming our findings are valid, one of the most common felt needs of the community in recreation is a program or some opportunity to attend more plays, concerts or other art events," those conducting the survey reported.

The survey also showed that three times as many people like to participate in competitive team sports than actually do.

The study group recommended that a lecture series which would bring together many people of the community would be beneficial.

THE STUDY GROUP further recommended that basketball, bowling and volleyball be the first recreational activities introduced for the men and then "slimnastics" and volleyball be the first started for women.

They also suggested starting family recreation nights and chartering buses for those who would like to attend plays, concerts and similar cultural events.

In the area of health and welfare, the study group noted that 185 respondents stated that health and welfare were important concerns, but only 16 felt this subject was an important community problem.

"Since a fair number indicated an interest in community education programs regarding health, nutrition, family living and other health or welfare problems we feel any programs at this time should be informative and preventative in nature," the group reported.

ADULT PROGRAMS suggested by the study group for possible implementation were child growth and development, nutrition, sex education, drugs, poison prevention, first aid, mental health and health facilities.

In the area of education, finance and employment, the committee stated that those surveyed feel education is of primary community concern. Finance and employment of secondary community concern.

Of 319 responses, 173 people expressed a desire to learn an art or craft, 143 wanted to enroll in college-level courses, 79 in college graduate-level courses, 128 wished further information concerning parent and child relationships and 101 wanted nursing school facilities to be provided.

A large number of persons answered the questionnaire expressed a desire to study personal growth, self-improvement and community problems, and 139 said they would like to enroll in an evening course.

IN THE AREA OF civic problems, the study group noted that 77 per cent of the respondents expressed a concern with civic problems, primarily in the area of roads and lighting. Only a few residents expressed a concern with crime in the area.

Sixty-eight persons said they wanted to become more involved in political activities.

The group concluded that since this area of Buffalo Grove is quite new, residents have not yet identified their civic concerns. They recommended that a citizens group be formed to study local government and civic problems that might arise in the future.

The Ball State group conducted the survey July 9 through 11 in cooperation with the Illinois Center for Community Education Development and School Dist. 214. Approximately one-third of the residents in the Strathmore-Ballantrae section of Buffalo Grove were contacted to answer the survey questionnaire.

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the United Front of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the Front had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months, the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter F. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Marijuana Law Causes Stir

The recent relaxation of laws governing penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana have caused a stir in local police departments.

The law permits a first time offender who has less than 2.5 grams of the illegal weed to be charged with a misdemeanor rather than the former felony charges.

One reason the law was approved by the state legislature was that many offenders were being pronounced not guilty by judges who felt the penalty was too stiff.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher of Wheeling said, "The law wasn't being upheld before and I have no reason to believe the new law will be upheld now. Many courts will still not convict the offender."

UNDER THE OLD law, anyone charged with possession of marijuana was automatically under the stigma of having a felony charge on his record and was tried in felony court. The new law will permit local courts to try offenders.

Elk Grove Police Chief Harry Jenkins disagreed with Horcher because, as he says, the new law will lead to "better adjudication."

He elaborated, "The idea is good because judges were reluctant to find defendants guilty because of the excessive penalty and the felony charge. Now maybe they'll look at things differently."

"I am in favor of this new law because it will let the cases be handled locally and faster," said Newell Esmond, Mount Prospect police chief.

The new law was ushered in only hours before a narcotics raid by Mount Prospect police.

THE PROBLEM OF marijuana usage in the area is centered among the young people, the chiefs agree.

Horcher said, "There was quite a problem here about a year ago, but it seems to have cleared up by now."

He bemoaned the fact that because of "existing rules," it is not possible to make arrests on circumstantial information.

The Wheeling police had information on a narcotics ring in the area last August. Horcher says, but couldn't make any arrests until January.

Horcher expressed concern about the children who were reached by the drugs before the police could stop drug traffic.

Jenkins said the problem is minimal in Elk Grove, and although he didn't believe there are any addicts, there are "plenty of experimenters and users."

ESMOND SAID HE wasn't sure that an increase of violations would occur because of the relaxed penalties, but Jenkins seemed confident that it would not.

"I don't look on it as a relaxed law," the Elk Grove police chief said, "Marijuana is still illegal and the violation of the law is still in effect."

Wheeling Band Performs

The Wheeling High School summer band held the first of three free concerts at Heritage Park Wednesday night. Concerts will also be held Aug. 6 and Aug. 20 in the park at 7:30 p.m.

The students, directed by John Higgins, assistant band director, played a variety of selections from "Mary Poppins." Other selections played by the concert band included Henry Fillmore's "Americans We," Jerry Blisk's "Black M," Clifton Williams' "Variation Overture," J. P. Sousa's "El Capitan" and "650 East" by Wayne Oldham and Jack Hale.

THE JAZZ BAND played "Night Coach" by John Higgins, and the jazz sextet played three selections: "Sunny," "Mercy, Mercy" and "Booga-Booga Loo."

Erwin Brick is the new director of the school's band. Originally from St. Louis, Brick taught at Collinsville High School in Collinsville where he was band director.

Brick, who began his job July 1, replaces Dean DePoy, who started the Wheeling High Band and led it to National award fame. DePoy has become director of bands at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind.

NO SCOFFING is allowed during proceedings of Wheeling's Kangaroo Court sessions, as Dolores Blank learns from her pie-in-the-face penalty. An-

'Pot' Arrests Made

by GERRY DE ZONNA

Four men who are reportedly part of the major narcotic distribution in the Northwest suburbs have been arrested by Mount Prospect police and state narcotics agents for the possession and sale of 10 pounds of homegrown marijuana.

The arrests made Friday night in the parking lot of the Red Balloon Restaurant at Rand and Central roads, included two Mount Prospect residents, Craig Halvorson, 17, and John Roder, 28. Juan Coronado, 21, of Des Plaines and Arturo Silva, 31, of Mundelein were also arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Mount Prospect detective division announced the arrests at a press conference yesterday morning. The Herald knew of the arrests Monday, but withheld publication upon the department's request, pending the arrest of an Evanston man who is believed to be part of a drug conspiracy.

A STATE NARCOTICS agent, posing as a potential buyer, arranged the sale with the four men and then alerted Mount Prospect police as to the time and place of the transaction.

The agent met with the four men shortly after 8 p.m. Friday at the parking lot and agreed to pay them $1,100 in exchange for 10 pounds of uncut marijuana. The men, who reportedly smelled trouble, left the scene, but returned shortly after 10 p.m. with the merchandise in a shopping bag.

Detectives Richard Yost, Richard Pascoe and Robert Barrone of the Mount Prospect Police Department said they and state narcotics agents watched the men unload the marijuana from the trunk of their car.

"As soon as the agent paid them the money, we closed in on the group. They were still counting the money — $1,100 in small bills. They made no attempt to resist arrest because we had come out in full force," Yost said.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this case for more than two months, and we finally caught them after extensive investigations, checks, and surveillance. We notified the Illinois State Narcotic bureau after sources informed us of the subjects' activities," Bopp said.

The marijuana, which has already been sent to the crime laboratory in Joliet for identification, was reportedly grown in the area. "The marijuana was uncut and pure. It could be cut, sifted and mixed with other ingredients to yield a $40,000 harvest."

"Usually marijuana in such a pure state as this will be handled by five or six different buyers, each diluting the quantity and reselling it. Marijuana right now is at a high premium because there's none coming in from Mexico. This isn't the harvest time there," Yost said.

"We consider these men as major contacts or wholesalers in marijuana. They're not dealing with nickel or dime packages, but with the big money. Marijuana traffic is an on-going problem in the suburbs, and we know that by arresting these four men we won't be terminating the problem."

"THEY'RE ONLY one small part, but a significant part. Although we have made no further arrests, others are implicated in the crime," Bopp said.

The four men were released earlier this week on $10,000 bail. They are to appear at the Niles Felony Court July 29. Conviction for the sale of marijuana imposes a 10 to 20 year jail sentence and a possible fine pending the decision of the judge.

Bond Vote Is Set

The Adlai Stevenson High School Building addition bond referendum will be Sept. 20, the board of education decided Monday.

Architects estimate the board will need about $2,200,000 to add enough classrooms and physical education facilities to bring building capacity up to 1,200 students. If approved, the new addition would be completed by fall, 1972.

Because enrollment estimates indicate that the new addition may be full by opening date, the board also is considering a second bond issue of about $800,000 for the same ballot. If approved, this would permit the board to start construction of the second addition as soon as the need for it is definitely established and bonding power becomes available. This would bring student capacity up to 1,500 students.

Final decision on amounts to be asked and whether both bond issues will go on the September ballot will be made by the board at a special adjourned meeting Monday.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board hired

four new teachers. Stuart Bradley, who received his bachelor's degree in foreign language from the University of Michigan and a master's from Windham College, will teach German and French. He has completed additional graduate work at the Sorbonne in Paris and at the Goethe Institute in Munich, Germany.

Elizabeth Ann Knudson, a 1966 graduate of Augustana College with four years of experience, will join the business education department.

Shirley Dawson will join Stevenson's physical education staff this fall after completing summer graduate work at Wheaton College.

The Rev. Michael A. Paul, pastor of the Long Grove Community Church, will become a part-time instructor in the social studies department. He was graduated from North Park College in 1960 with a history major and received his divinity degree from the same school in 1968.

Supt. Harold Baner told the board he is still looking for a math department chairman to complete the 1969-70 teaching staff.

Northfield Endorses Young

Sam Young of Glenview, Northfield Township GOP committeeman, and 13th District Congressional candidate, easily picked up a unanimous endorsement from his own party organization last night.

After several motions and much discussion as the party members established procedures, Young as given a unanimous 55 vote endorsement on a second show of hands.

Alan Johnston of Kenilworth and Joseph Mathewson of Winnetka were nominated in addition to Young. On the first vote, Young got 51, Johnston, 4, and Mathewson, 0. The next motion was to make the question a unanimous endorsement.

Young then re-entered the room. They had asked him to leave during the voting and deliver a party pep talk. He requested the organization's support saying he cannot win without their help.

Previous motions determined the organization would endorse on a basis of a simple majority of voting members present and by a show of hands. There are 116 voting members in the organization.

Young was the first candidate endorsed. Nominations were then closed, another motion was made to reopen nominations and Johnston and Mathewson were also put up for consideration.

HE IS ONE of 11 Republican congressional hopefuls campaigning their way to the Oct. 11 primary. Winner of the primary race will face Democrat Edward Warman of Skokie in the Nov. 25 general election.

New Trier Township Republicans endorsed Rep. Alan Johnston of Kenilworth July 9 and Johnston has said he may capture the Evanston organization's support.

Niles Township is sure to go to its committeeman, John Nimrod of Skokie, tonight and Wheeling Township is expected to go to its former committeeman, Eugene Schlickman.

Young is an attorney and is a former assistant secretary of state and former state securities commissioner.

IN HIS campaigning, Young has viewed the Vietnam war as a front against world Communist aggression and one that must be won on American terms.

On ABM, the candidate has argued the United States must maintain military superiority to induce Russia to abandon the arms race. He has called for vigorous prosecution of participants in college riots and of elimination of wasteful spending in welfare programs.

Young has called for patience and tolerance in integration.

214 Tax May Jump 20%

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget, geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12.5-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed new 2,500-pupil Rolling Meadows high school.

The district will seek the advice of a bond consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant may be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year-only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines.

School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71

—Increase in teachers salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants, borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers' salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $300,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Salary levels for 1970-71 will be determined next spring by negotiations with the Dist. 214 Teachers Association salary committee.

With that in mind, board member Richard Bachhuber of Mount Prospect urged Wednesday that the board approve a balanced budget for levy purposes that allows funds for a 5 per cent increase.

"Then if you have to go to tax anticipation warrants, it will bring home a point," Bachhuber asserted.

"It does bring up the point that this district is not a bottomless well of money," agreed board member Frank Bergen also of Mount Prospect.

THE TENTATIVE budget, revised by Weber after Wednesday's meeting, will be accepted for public inspection at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

A public hearing on the budget will take place Sept. 11 in the board meeting room at Slicemeyer administration center, 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Then the school board will be ready to approve the budget, possibly with amendments.

Property taxes to cover the school district budget will be paid in 1970.

Jubilee Finale Seeks Entries

Entries are being accepted for Wheeling's Diamond Jubilee "grand finale parade" to be held at 2 p.m. Aug. 24.

Groups, clubs, businesses, churches and individuals in and around Wheeling may get entry forms at Jubilee Headquarters, 315 E. Dundee Road. Deadline is Aug. 14.

PRIZES WILL BE awarded to the best over-all entry and to 15 special categories.

Adeline Schneider, one of Wheeling's oldest residents, will be the grand marshal of the parade.

Residents View 13th

Last spring State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, sponsored HB 1241, setting up the mechanics for municipalities to annex adjoining unincorporated areas by ordinance.

The bill met with such heavy and well organized opposition from Prospect Heights residents that it was stopped in a Senate committee.

Now Schlickman is seeking the Republican nomination for the 13th District Congressional seat. To win the nomination he must be able to count on heavy support from the district he now represents in the Illinois General Assembly. Prospect Heights is a part of that district.

LEADERS OF THE various homeowners groups in the Prospect Heights area expressed varying views on how his HB 1241 sponsorship will affect his support in the Prospect Heights area.

"My opinion is that he has hurt his chances because he sponsored the bill," said Mrs. Marie Caylor, a director of the Euclid-Lake Homeowners Association. Mrs. Caylor is the woman who led the fight in Prospect Heights against the bill.

Deny Zoning For Clark

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission denied the petition of the Clark Oil Co. to rezone the property at 17-21 Dundee Road for use as a service station.

At last week's plan commission meeting, Marathon Oil Co.'s rezoning petition for a service station on the land adjacent to the Clark site was approved.

Prior to the decision Leonard Schneeburger, construction supervisor for Clark Oil Co., told the commission that to his knowledge, Clark never had to close one of their service stations.

Irwin Land, attorney for the petitioner, reminded the commission that Clark has no repair operation nor any clutter. "Clark Oil Co. has no station in Arlington Heights and is very anxious to enter into the village."

AFTER THE MOTION to deny the petition was presented, Commissioner James Ryan said, "In my humble opinion, two gas stations back to back aren't necessarily poor planning."

"I'd rather see gas stations in a concentrated area than strung along for blocks."

"When we granted Marathon their rezoning request, we passed judgment in favor of Clark also. How can we reach a different conclusion on Marathon than we do here?"

"He probably sponsored the bill 'innocently,' not realizing how many people it would hurt," she said.

Mrs. Caylor admitted that "there are some people in the area who will vote for him definitely, simply because they don't want someone from the North Shore."

Ralph Van Patten of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association took a different view. "I think his sponsorship of 1241 helped his chances. This was a bill that had some good features in it, actually," he said.

"I THINK Schlickman's chances are pretty good in my area. I don't think anyone could hold 1241 against him."

Van Patten and Mrs. Caylor agree that Prospect Heights residents would rather vote for a local candidate than one from the North Shore. Van Patten predicted this would be the most important factor in how Prospect Heights residents cast their votes.

Mrs. Georgeanne Gardner, president of the Parkview Homeowners Association, also agreed that because Schlickman is a local candidate, his chances of support from Prospect Heights are good.

But, she added, "The average Prospect Heights person will take his sponsorship of 1241 into consideration before they vote."

Lindstrom: Probe

Rev. Paul Lindstrom, national head of the "Remember the Pueblo" committee, yesterday repeated three demands in the wake of the Pueblo and EC-121 incidents last year.

Lindstrom, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Arlington Heights Rotary Club, called for a Senate investigation of the Pueblo affair, demanded the return of the Pueblo, and asked for the repatriation of "thousands" of prisoners held in Communist countries.

The minister of the Church of Christian Liberty in Prospect Heights charged, among other things, that Cuba still holds 929 citizens as prisoners.

He asserted that his committee has the passport numbers of those citizens, whose Constitutional rights "are being violated."

LINDSTROM ALSO said that 389 men are unaccounted for in North Korea and about 1,000 men are unaccounted for or held by the North Vietnamese or the Viet Cong.

He encouraged the 35 Rotarians to pray for the men held captive and to provide the "legs behind prayer," through letters of protest to United States officials.

How much they'll give it is undeterminable."

She added, "If the people look at his entire record, maybe they'll support him. But, politics is a funny game where the thing you did most recently is remembered the most."

"THE BILL HAS GOT to hurt him, even though he has been a good state representative," said William Richter. Richter was president of the Woodview Homeowners Association at the time 1241 was being considered by the legislature.

"You have a very independent-type person out here in Prospect Heights. For the legislature to take away their votes on what their future would be, they were a little taken back," Richter said.

Neil LeFevre, a member of the Randwood Homeowners Association, said he thought "Schlickman's chances are good, in spite of 1241." He, too, predicted Schlickman's chances in the area would be helped because he is a local candidate.

According to Abner Baumann, president of the Wolf-Mandel Improvement Association, "The bill stirred up tremendous opposition in our area. It's a bit difficult to say whether his vote-getting power was hurt by the bill."

He said that Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Panthers mount a public relations campaign for their own ends by bombarding newspapers with "thousands" of letters and calling in to radio talk shows. He urged members of the audience who agreed with him to do the same.

Lindstrom repeated, as he has in the past, that Communist countries do not respect a "waving or vacillating position."

"We're only encouraging a fifth or tenth-rate power to take aggressive steps."

HE STATED THAT Secretary of State Dean Rusk, prior to the release of the men, told him three times that the United States would not issue an apology to the North Koreans. However, the apology was made later in conjunction with the release of the men.

The apology and the U.S.S. Pueblo are now being used throughout the Communist and neutral world for propaganda purposes, he charged.

In conjunction with his church, Lindstrom conducts the Christian Liberty Academy for students from kindergarten through tenth grade.

School Is Sought

by SUE CARSON

Residents in the Strathmore and Ballantyne subdivisions of Buffalo Grove want a model community school to be started at the Longfellow School, according to a survey taken earlier this month.

The results of the survey were revealed Thursday at a meeting of the Ball State University Community Education Study Group and area residents. The university study group made the survey.

The study group also concluded that a more in-depth survey should be conducted to determine what specific programs residents would like in the area of community education.

IN THE AREA OF recreation and social activities, the study group reported that 316 people surveyed indicated that recreation is one of the three most important community problems. One hundred seventy-five respondents indicated on the questionnaire that additional recreational activities are needed in the community.

"Assuming our findings are valid, one of the most common felt needs of the community in recreation is a program or some opportunity to attend more plays, concerts or other art events," those conducting the survey reported.

The survey also showed that three times as many people like to participate in competitive team sports than actually do.

The study group recommended that a lecture series which would bring together many people of the community would be beneficial.

THE STUDY GROUP further recommended that basketball, bowling and volleyball be the first recreational activities introduced for the men, and then "slim-nastics" and volleyball be the first started for women.

They also suggested starting family recreation nights and chartering buses for those who would like to attend plays, concerts and similar cultural events.

In the area of health and welfare, the study group noted that 185 respondents stated that health and welfare were important concerns, but only 16 felt this subject was an important community problem.

"Since a fair number indicated an interest in community education programs regarding health, nutrition, family living and other health or welfare problems we feel any programs at this time should be informative and preventative in nature," the group reported.

ADULT PROGRAMS suggested by the study group for possible implementation were child growth and development, nutrition, sex education, drugs, poison prevention, first aid, mental health and health facilities.

In the area of education, finance and employment, the committee stated that those surveyed feel education is of primary community concern, finance and employment of secondary community concern.

Of 319 responses, 173 people expressed a desire to learn an art or craft; 143 wanted to enroll in college-level courses; 79 in college graduate-level courses. 128 wished further information concerning parent and child relationships and 101 wanted nursery school facilities to be provided.

A large number of persons answering the questionnaire expressed a desire to study personal growth, self-improvement and community problems, and 139 said they would like to enroll in an evening course.

IN THE AREA OF civic problems, the study group noted that 77 per cent of the respondents expressed a concern with civic problems, primarily in the area of roads and lighting. Only a few residents expressed a concern with crime in the survey.

Sixty-eight persons said they wanted to become more involved in political activities.

The group concluded that since this area of Buffalo Grove is quite new, residents have not yet identified their civic concerns. They recommended that a citizens group be formed to study local government and civic problems that might arise in the future.

The Ball State group conducted the survey July 9 through 11 in cooperation with the Illinois Center for Community Education Development and School Dist. 21. Approximately one-third of the residents in the Strathmore-Ballantyne section of Buffalo Grove were contacted to answer the survey questionnaire.

214 Tax May Jump 20%

by MARY SCHLOTT

High School Dist. 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1969 levy budget given to the school district budget committee Wednesday night.

The new budget, geared to cover 1970-71 operating costs in Dist. 214's six high schools — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey — will use up in a one-year jump the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

IF THE BUDGET is approved in the form proposed by Robert Weber, business manager, it will also make a major dent in a 12.5-cent building tax rate increase also approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100 — or an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a propertyholder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not yet figured into the 1969-70 budget picture is how much Dist. 214 will have to levy to cover its 1970 bond and interest charges. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed new 2,500-pupil Rolling Meadows high school.

The district will seek the advice of a bond consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant may be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year-only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is jacked to 12 cents, a Dist. 214 property holder with a $25,000 house valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $41 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $15,000 will pay an additional $61.50.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines.

School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

—An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71.

—Increase in teachers salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants, borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers' salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $300,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Salary levels for 1970-71 will be determined next spring by negotiations with the Dist. 214 Teachers Association salary committee.

With that in mind, board member Richard Bachhuber of Mount Prospect urged Wednesday that the board approve a balanced budget for levy purposes that allows funds for a 5 per cent increase.

"Then if you have to go to tax anticipation warrants, it will bring home a point," Bachhuber asserted.

"It does bring up the point that this district is not a bottomless well of money," agreed board member Frank Bergen, also of Mount Prospect.

THE TENTATIVE budget, revised by Weber after Wednesday's meeting, will be accepted for public inspection at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

A public hearing on the budget will take place Sept. 11 in the board meeting room at Silchenmyer administration center, 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Then the school board will be ready to approve the budget, possibly with amendments.

Property taxes to cover the school district budget will be paid in 1970.

Jubilee Finale Seeks Entries

Entries are being accepted for Wheeling's Diamond Jubilee "grand finale parade" to be held at 2 p.m. Aug. 24.

Groups, clubs, businesses, churches and individuals in and around Wheeling may get entry forms at Jubilee Headquarters, 315 E. Dundee Road. Deadline is Aug. 14.

PRIZES WILL BE awarded to the best over-all entry and to 15 special categories.

Adeline Schneider, one of Wheeling's oldest residents, will be the grand marshal of the parade.

Residents View 13th

Last spring State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, sponsored HB 1241, setting up the mechanics for municipalities to annex adjoining unincorporated areas by ordinance.

The bill met with such heavy and well organized opposition from Prospect Heights residents that it was stopped in a Senate committee.

Now Schlickman is seeking the Republican nomination for the 13th District Congressional seat. To win the nomination he must be able to count on heavy support from the district he now represents in the Illinois General Assembly. Prospect Heights is a part of that district.

LEADERS OF THE various homeowners groups in the Prospect Heights area expressed varying views on how his HB 1241 sponsorship will affect his support in the Prospect Heights area.

"My opinion is that he has hurt his chances because he sponsored the bill," said Mrs. Marie Caylor, a director of the Euclid-Lake Homeowners Association. Mrs. Caylor is the woman who led the fight in Prospect Heights against the bill.

"He probably sponsored the bill 'innocently,' not realizing how many people it would hurt," she said.

Mrs. Caylor admitted that "there are some people in the area who will vote for him definitely, simply because they don't want someone from the North Shore."

Ralph Van Patten of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association took a different view. "I think his sponsorship of 1241 helped his chances. This was a bill that had some good features in it, actually," he said.

"I THINK Schlickman's chances are pretty good in my area. I don't think anyone could hold 1241 against him."

Van Patten and Mrs. Caylor agree that Prospect Heights residents would rather vote for a local candidate than one from the North Shore. Van Patten predicted this would be the most important factor in how Prospect Heights residents cast their votes.

Mrs. Georgeanne Gardner, president of the Parkview Homeowners Association, also agreed that because Schlickman is a local candidate, his chances of support from Prospect Heights are good.

But, she added, "The average Prospect Heights person will take his sponsorship of 1241 into consideration before they vote."

Deny Zoning For Clark

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission denied the petition of the Clark Oil Co. to rezone the property at 17-21 Dundee Road for use as a service station.

At last week's plan commission meeting, Marathon Oil Co.'s rezoning petition for a service station on the land adjacent to the Clark site was approved.

Prior to the decision Leonard Schneeberger, construction supervisor for Clark Oil Co., told the commission that to his knowledge, Clark never had to close one of their service stations.

Irwin Land, attorney for the petitioner, reminded the commission that Clark has no repair operation nor any clutter. "Clark Oil Co. has no station in Arlington Heights and is very anxious to enter into the village."

AFTER THE MOTION to deny the petition was presented, Commissioner James Ryan said, "In my humble opinion, two gas stations back to back aren't necessarily poor planning."

"I'd rather see gas stations in a concentrated area than strung along for blocks."

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the Front had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc. of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes, "as I understand them."

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

KEYSTONE KOP Bob Buerger Sr., leads another "offender" to the judge in a Kangaroo Kourt session. "Kourt" sessions will be held at 7:30 p.m. each Friday through Aug. 8 at Diamond Ju-

'Pot' Arrests Made

By GERRY DE ZONNA
Four men who are reportedly part of the major narcotic distribution in the Northwest suburbs have been arrested by Mount Prospect police and state narcotics agents for the possession and sale of 10 pounds of home-grown marijuana.

The arrests, made Friday night in the parking lot of the Red Balloon Restaurant at Rand and Central roads, included two Mount Prospect residents, Craig Halvorsen, 23, and John Rader, 28. Juan Coronado, 23, of Des Plaines and Arturo Silva, 41, of Mundelein were also arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Mount Prospect detective division announced the arrests at a press conference yesterday morning. The Herald knew of the arrests Monday, but withheld publication upon the department's request pending the arrest of an Evanston man who is believed to be part of a drug conspiracy.

A STATE NARCOTICS agent, posing as a potential buyer, arranged the sale with the four men and then alerted Mount Prospect police as to the time and place of the transaction.

The agent met with the four men shortly after 8 p.m. Friday at the parking lot and agreed to pay them $1,100 in exchange for 10 pounds of uncut marijuana. The men, who reportedly smelled trouble, left the scene but returned shortly after 10 p.m. with the merchandise in a shopping bag.

Detectives Richard Yost, Richard Pascoe and Robert Barrone of the Mount Prospect Police Department said they and state narcotics agents watched the men unload the marijuana from the trunk of their car.

"As soon as the agent paid them the money, we closed in on the group. They were still counting the money—$1,100 in small bills. They made no attempt to resist arrest because we had come out in full force," Yost said.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this case for more than two months, and we finally caught them after extensive investigations, checks, and surveillance. We notified the Illinois State Narcotic Bureau after sources informed us of the subjects' activities," Bopp said.

The marijuana, which has already been sent to the crime laboratory in Joliet for identification, was reportedly grown in the area. "The marijuana was uncut and pure. It could be cut, sifted and mixed with other ingredients to yield a $40,000 harvest."

"Usually marijuana in such a pure state as this will be handled by five or six different buyers, each diluting the quantity and reselling it. Marijuana right now is at a high premium because there's none coming in from Mexico. This isn't the harvest time there," Yost said.

"We consider these men as major contacts or wholesalers in marijuana. They're not dealing with nickel or dime packages, but with the big money. Marijuana traffic is an on-going problem in the suburbs, and we know that by arresting these four men we won't be terminating the problem."

"THEY'RE ONLY one small part, but a significant part. Although we have made no further arrests, others are implicated in the crime," Bopp said.

The four men were released earlier this week on $10,000 bail. They are to appear at the Niles County Court July 29. Conviction for the sale of marijuana imposes a 10 to 20 year jail sentence and a possible fine pending the decision of the judge.

Marijuana Law Causes Stir

The recent relaxation of laws governing penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana have caused a stir in local police departments.

The law permits a first time offender who has less than 2.5 grams of the illegal weed to be charged with a misdemeanor rather than the former felony charges.

One reason the law was approved by the state legislature was that many offenders were being pronounced not guilty by judges who felt the penalty was too stiff.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher of Wheeling said, "The law wasn't being upheld before and I have no reason to believe the new law will be upheld now. Many courts will still not convict the offender."

UNDER THE OLD law, anyone charged with possession of marijuana was automatically under the stigma of having a felony charge on his record and was tried in felony court. The new law will permit local courts to try offenders.

Elk Grove Police Chief Harry Jenkins disagreed with Horcher because, as he says, the new law will lead to "better adjudication."

He elaborated, "The idea is good because judges were reluctant to find defendants guilty because of the excessive penalty and the felony charge. Now maybe they'll look at things differently."

"I am in favor of this new law because it will let the cases be handled locally and faster, said Newell Esmond, Mount Prospect police chief."

The new law was ushered in only hours before a narcotics raid by Mount Prospect police.

THE PROBLEM OF marijuana usage in the area is centered among the young people, the chiefs agree.

Horcher said, "There was quite a problem here about a year ago, but it seems to have cleared up by now."

He bemoaned the fact that because of

"existing rules," it is not possible to make arrests on circumstantial information.

The Wheeling police had information on a narcotics ring in the area last August, Horcher says, but couldn't make any arrests until January.

Horcher expressed concern about the children who were reached by the drugs before the police could stop drug traffic.

Jenkins said the problem is minimal in Elk Grove, and although he didn't believe there are any addicts, there are "plenty of experimenters and users."

ESMOND SAID HE wasn't sure that an increase of violations would occur because of the relaxed penalties, but Jenkins seemed confident that it would not.

"I don't look on it as a relaxed law," the Elk Grove police chief said, "Marijuana is still illegal and the violation of the law is still in effect."

Wheeling Band Performs

The Wheeling High School summer band held the first of three free concerts at Heritage Park Wednesday night. Concerts will also be held Aug. 6 and Aug. 20 in the park at 7:30 p.m.

The students, directed by John Higgins, assistant band director, played a variety of selections from "Mary Poppins." Other selections played by the concert band included Henry Filimore's "Americans We," Jerry Blik's "Black M," Clifton William's "Variation Overture," J. P. Sousa's "El Capitan" and "650 East" by Wayne Oldham and Jack Hale.

THE JAZZ BAND played "Night Coach" by John Higgins, and the jazz sextet played three selections: "Sunny," "Mercy, Mercy" and "Booga-Booga Loo."

Erwin Brick is the new director of the school's band. Originally from St. Louis, Brick taught at Collinsville High School in Collinsville where he was band director.

Brick, who began his job July 1, replaces Dean DePoy, who started the Wheeling High Band and led it to National award fame. DePoy has become director of bands at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind.

NO SCOFFING is allowed during proceedings of Wheeling's Kangaroo Kourt sessions, as Dolores Blank learns from her pie-in-the-face penalty. Another group of victims will be found guilty tonight in "kourt" sessions at 7:30 p.m.

Bond Vote Is Set

The Adlai Stevenson High School Building addition bond referendum will be Sept. 20, the board of education decided Monday.

Architects estimate the board will need about $2,200,000 to add enough classrooms and physical education facilities to bring building capacity up to 1,200 students. If approved, the new addition would be completed by fall, 1972.

Because enrollment estimates indicate that the new addition may be full by opening date, the board also is considering a second bond issue of about $800,000 for the same ballot. If approved, this would permit the board to start construction of the second addition as soon as the need for it is definitely established and bonding power becomes available. This would bring student capacity up to 1,500 students.

Final decision on amounts to be asked and whether both bond issues will go on the September ballot will be made by the board at a special adjourned meeting Monday.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board hired

four new teachers. Stuart Bradley, who received his bachelor's degree in foreign language from the University of Michigan and a master's from Windham College, will teach German and French. He has completed additional graduate work at the Sorbonne in Paris and at the Goethe Institute in Munich, Germany.

Elizabeth Ann Knudson, a 1966 graduate of Augustana College with four years of experience, will join the business education department.

Shirley Dawson will join Stevenson's physical education staff this fall after completing summer graduate work at Wheaton College.

The Rev. Michael A. Paul, pastor of the Long Grove Community Church, will become a part-time instructor in the social studies department. He was graduated from North Park College in 1960 with a history major and received his divinity degree from the same school in 1968.

Supt. Harold Baner told the board he is still looking for a math department chairman to complete the 1969-70 teaching staff.

Northfield Endorses Young

Sam Young of Glenview, Northfield Township GOP committeeman, and 13th District Congressional candidate, easily picked up a unanimous endorsement from his own party organization last night.

After several motions and much discussion as the party members established procedures, Young as given a unanimous 55 vote endorsement on a second show of hands.

Alan Johnston of Kenilworth and Joseph Mathewson of Winnetka were nominated in addition to Young. On the first vote, Young got 51, Johnston, 4, and Mathewson, 0. The next motion was to make the question a unanimous endorsement.

Young then re-entered the room. They had asked him to leave during the voting and deliver a party pep talk. He requested the organization's support saying he cannot win without their help.

Previous motions determined the organization would endorse on a basis of a simple majority of voting members present and by a show of hands. There are 116 voting members in the organization.

Young was the first candidate endorsed. Nominations were then closed, another motion was made to reopen nominations and Johnston and Mathewson were also put up for consideration.

HE IS ONE OF 11 Republican congressional hopefuls campaigning their way to the Oct. 11 primary. Winner of the primary race will face Democrat Edward Warman of Skokie in the Nov. 25 general election.

New Trier Township Republicans endorsed Rep. Alan Johnston of Kenilworth July 9 and Johnston has said he may capture the Evanston organization's support.

Niles Township is sure to go to its committeeman, John Nimrod of Skokie, tonight and Wheeling Township is expected to go to its former committeeman, Eugene Schlickman.

Young is an attorney and is a former assistant secretary of state and former state securities commissioner.

IN HIS campaigning, Young has viewed the Vietnam war as a front against world Communist aggression and one that must be won on American terms.

On ABM, the candidate has argued the United States must maintain military superiority to induce Russia to abandon the arms race. He has called for vigorous prosecution of participants in college riots and of elimination of wasteful spending in welfare programs.

Young has called for patience and tolerance in integration.

Watchdog Committee Formed at Race Track

Tuesday's negotiations concerning black demands presented at Arlington Park Race Track June 27 included the formation of a watchdog committee.

The meeting included representatives of the track labor officials, the Illinois Racing Commission, the Urban League, the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race, the Jobs Now Project and representatives of news media.

The watchdog committee is composed of James Cole, Local 727, a bartender's union; Timothy Sheehan, Illinois Racing Commission; Charles Armstrong, editor of the Chicago South Suburban News; Lewis Martin, executive director of the Chicago Defender; and Dave Pearson, executive director of the Chicago Race Track Police.

AMONG THE RESOLUTIONS passed by the group are:

—No later than Sept. 1, racing employees will hire employees on a non-dis-crimatory basis, if they are not already doing so.

—Hiring of personnel is to remain the right of management and management can solicit aid from the Urban League, Jobs Now and the Chicago Conference of Race and Religion to secure properly qualified applicants for hiring.

—Unions will give full cooperation giving consideration to membership and also being as fair as possible under the laws applying to labor unions.

Armstrong, who was the leader of the demonstration at the track, said the watchdog committee will check for black employees in various categories at race tracks all over the state.

Checks will also be made with the Urban League, the Jobs Now Project and the Chicago Conference of Race and Religion. These three groups will report on people hired with their references. Armstrong said.

He said 13 mutual clerks have been hired on temporary union membership. Armstrong said blacks had been hired as parking attendants and in the security police department at Arlington Race track.

AS MILES OPEN at the tracks in Illinois, the watchdog committee will check on the hiring of people in all categories, Armstrong said.

These categories include hostesses, parking attendants, cashiers, mutual clerks, waiters, bartenders, grooms and stable employees.

In Arlington Heights Tuesday to face disorderly conduct and mob action charges resulting from the June 27 disturbance, Armstrong said the meeting results were all that could be expected. He said it was a complete change, however.

Pearson said of the meeting, "I am very pleased to be able to prove in these troubled times if we can communicate our problems will be solved without violence. No more meetings of the committee have been scheduled," Pearson said.

The charges against Armstrong placed by the Rolling Meadows police were dismissed.

Cancels Office Hours

The building commissioner for the Village of Buffalo Grove will not hold office hours this Saturday only. It was announced today.

Gym Made Simple

BY BRYAN O'SHAUGHNESSY

No one expects a gym class to be conducted in the same manner as a regular school class. However, if you decide to attend one of the acrobatics classes offered through the Mount Prospect Park District, you will find a quiet class, even more at tentative one than in the normal classroom situation.

The classes are conducted by Mrs. Sandra Ebert of Mount Prospect, who has participated in variety shows and given part for dances in gymnastics and acrobatics. She gives words of encouragement to those who need some reassurance. To those who have accomplished the skill that is being taught, she gives a sincere verbal reward.

Mrs. Ebert sometimes demonstrates a trick and helps children keep their balance.

Some of the tricks tried by the girls of one class seemed simple when demonstrated by Mrs. Ebert. But when she aided the students and explained all the steps of each trick, a hidden complexity was apparent. Handstands, somersaults, upside outs and cartwheels were really not so simple anymore.

Grid Seats Are Favored

In order to get more seats for its football fans, Wheeling High School is willing to forego for a year planned remodeling of its science laboratories.

Principal Tom Shirley gave that word to the High School Dist. 214 board Wednesday when the budget committee asked what he was willing to give up in order to get another 1,000 bleacher seats.

"I'd rather see the science rooms done than the bleachers," board member Richard Bachhuber, Mount Prospect said. "I guess it depends on where you want to get the pressure," Shirley answered. "The people in the Spu Club have their hearts set on it."

WHEN BACHHUBER, who had unsuccessfully opposed the school board's decision to add bleacher seats this fall at Wheeling, Prospect and Arlington high schools, pressed taxes up.

The principal said, "We don't think we can get the science laboratories remodeled before school starts anyway. We will give this top priority next year."

Arlington High School, faced with the same problem of trimming other building improvements to offset the estimated cost of adding 1,000 seats to the football field, recommended postponing remodeling of biology laboratories and renovating a girls' gymnasium floor.

Asst. Principal John Rowe said the change in plans would save $12,000.

PROSPECT SCHOOL officials said they will postpone or trim costs on several improvement projects, including replacement of a gym floor, to insure that the Prospect field can have its seating expanded by 1,000 before the fall grid season.

The school board faced the three schools with the "what to defer" decision Monday after approving added seating at Wheeling and Prospect. More seats for the Arlington football field were approved two weeks before.

Bachhuber pushed through the review by pointing out that the seating expenditure would trim by a third the 1969-70 building contingency funds.

He argued that the $79,000 left was too low to provide a safe financial hedge against building costs that may unexpectedly arise.

Police Have Political Literature

by MURRAY DUBIN

Besides providing police protection to the community, the Arlington Heights Police Department has been offering one added but unasked for item — conservative political literature.

Innocently displayed on the police desk in the village hall Wednesday was a pile of small, white, four-page booklets printed in Dallas and dated June 13, 1969.

The booklet was entitled "Life Line." The headline on each booklet was "Freedom Talk" and the headline under that was "SDS — Students To Destroy Society."

ABOUT SDS, LIFE Line said, "Under the guise of academic freedom, arrogant and hard-core militants are determined to destroy our educational system."

The booklet includes this description of the 1963 LDS convention in Kewadin, Mich.: "All facilities at the site were coed, and over 250 participants regardless of sex or color shared cabins and bath rooms. The facilities were filthy but no more so than many of the barefooted, bearded, unkempt delegates."

LIFE Line, a reprint of a daily radio commentary, labels the SDS and its affiliates as "very much huns and vandals. Our concern must be to deal with them with a strong hand."

When asked what the politically conservative literature was doing in the police station, Chief L. W. Calderwood said, "They're sent to the department and we distribute them to the officers because they are part of our life today."

"WE TRY AND KEEP our officers as well informed on both sides of every issue as we can."

Calderwood added that if SDS sent his office literature, it would be displayed too. "We receive J. Edgar Hoover's reports and the Christian Science Monitor, among others. It is just too bad I can't assimilate them all."

The Arlington Heights Police Department has not as yet received literature from any organizations on the "left."

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the Herald that he did not know anything about the display of LIFE Line, but said, "I don't think we should be a clearing house for all types of material. I'll look into it."

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack Siegel was surprised when told of the matter. "I don't think it is very good policy and I don't think the village should push material like that."

Though not sure of the legality of such a display in the village hall, Siegel said, "I don't think the village should push anybody's political views, and if this continues we would have to present all political views."

LIFE Line could not be found on the police desk Thursday afternoon.

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorers blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronauts stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 82 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the Front had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc. of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes, "as I understand them."

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

CARNIVAL PLANE RIDE whirls around at Golf-Rose Shopping Center during the second annual Hoffman Estates Jaycees carnival. The carnival started Wednesday and continues this weekend. Proceeds from the carnival will be donated to help mentally retarded children.

Shindig Activities Starting

Residents of Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg will have a chance at carnival entertainment this weekend, and the mentally retarded and Schaumburg firemen will benefit from the festivities.

The second annual carnival sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Jaycees ends tomorrow, and the Schaumburg Shindig activities will start with a parade at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The carnival started Wednesday night with free entertainment for about 200 mentally retarded children at the Golf-Rose Shopping Center. Proceeds from the project also will go to the mentally retarded.

Carnival rides, 12 game booths, a beer garden and refreshments will be featured at the Jaycee event.

THE RIDES ARE being provided by the F&W Amusement Co. of Chicago. The carnival occupies about half of the shopping center parking lot with rides along the east side and game booths forming a natural barrier between the carnival and the rest of the parking lot.

One of the highlights of Wednesday's opening was a dunking booth with village trustees present to be dunked. Hoffman Estates Frederick Downey had volunteered the trustees, but was out of town when the event arrived.

The Shindig parade will feature bicycles decorated and ridden by Schaumburg children. Those wishing to enter bicycles should register at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the corner of Braintree Drive and Weathersfield Way. They will join the parade at 2:30 p.m. at Wise and Braintree.

THE BICYCLES WILL be judged in two divisions, third graders and younger and fourth through sixth graders. Parents must accompany the younger group. After the parade the Schaumburg Jaycees and the Schaumburg fire department will participate in a "bucket brigade" march at 4 p.m. in the Weathersfield Commons Shopping Center where the Shindig will be held.

The Shindig starts at 6 p.m. A dunk tank, games, dancing to the music of the Sound System and refreshments will be included in the activities.

All proceeds will go to the fire department.

Already more than $900 has been collected for fire department equipment in the selection of Miss Shindig and her attendants who will reign over the Shindig and ride in the parade tomorrow afternoon.

THE QUEEN WAS determined by penny votes collected as donations for the equipment. Ballot boxes were placed in stores throughout the Weathersfield Commons Shopping Center for several weeks to collect donations. Each penny counted as one vote toward the donor's favorite candidate.

The queen is Kathy Rabe, 1107 Lowell Lane. Her attendants are Roxann Wawrycznek, 237 Harper Lane, Hoffman Estates first runner-up; Sherree Mielke, 1504 Arlington Lane, second runner-up; Annette Pujol, 1023 Duxbury Lane, third runner-up; Terri Brandenburg, 1736 Weathersfield Lane, fourth runner-up, and Dee Donaldson, 1204 S. Sharon Lane, fifth runner-up.

THE QUEEN AND runners-up were announced at a dance in their honor last Saturday night in the Schaumburg Great Hall. Schaumburg Fire Chief Henry Mullen named the winners and crowned the queen. Ten girls had originally entered the contest.

Personal Property

Forms To Be Mailed

Approximately 9,000 personal property forms will be mailed to Schaumburg Township residents during the week of Aug. 4-8, Township Assessor Scott MacEachron announced Wednesday.

THE FORMS WILL supply information used to determine the personal property taxes that will be levied next year. Two clerical employees are currently addressing the forms in preparation for mailing.

Quarterly reports from the assessor, collector, road commissioner, township library, and the committee on youth were presented at Wednesday's township meeting.

Harper Move Under Way

Harper Junior College is moving headquarters into its new campus at Roselle and Algonquin roads in south rural Palatine Township.

The "memory bank of the campus," the data processing section began its move yesterday.

It will be the first community college department to occupy permanent quarters in the red brick and concrete six-building complex on a 170-acre site that used to be known as the Tri-Color Farm.

It will be about a month before the "brains" of the college will join the memory bank. Offices of top administrators are expected to be ready for occupancy Aug. 15 and faculty members will move in early September.

ROY SEDREL OF Palatine, director of data processing, will be watching anxiously today as his $300,000 computer system is disconnected, loaded onto a commercial van and trucked up the hill from the old Tri-Color stables where the data processing section has been located since 1967.

Shepherding the move today and tomorrow will be technicians who keep the computer equipment in operating order under the $96,000 annual rental contract Harper has with IBM.

Sedrel says if all goes well, the computer system will be ready to go "on the air" Friday night in air conditioned, humidity controlled ground floor quarters in the administrative wing of the college center.

Other sections of the new $14 million campus are still under construction, with the work ranging from 96 to 49 per cent complete.

dition to Meyer were Mathew T. Helsper and Donald P. DeVale.

If village officials back a candidate for the special election, it will probably be someone who is a member of an auxiliary board (plans commission, zoning board etc.) or active in civic organizations.

'70 Yule Gift Is Library

A tentative timetable for construction of a 7,000-square-foot addition to the Schaumburg Township Library was presented at the board of auditors meeting Wednesday. Present plans call for completion of the $200,000 addition in December, 1970.

Librarian Michael Madden reported that the library board intends to select an architect for the addition sometime in August. Six architectural firms were interviewed recently, and the board members will narrow their choice of an architect to three possibilities at their Aug. 6 meeting.

The construction timetable outlined Wednesday provides for the presentation of building plans at the annual town meeting next April for the approval of township residents. Construction would begin shortly afterward.

THE LIBRARY addition will be financed primarily through mortgage loans. Madden said. He also indicated that the library board will rely on substantial township gifts to the library in paying for the planned addition.

Gifts from the township totaling $115,000 over the next three fiscal years are included in library budget projections prepared by the township librarian. This year the transfer of $20,700 from the township to the library was approved at the April town meeting.

According to Madden, the library can obtain mortgage loans amounting to 50 per cent of the library's value with improvements. The present library building is valued at $170,000.

Based on the present township population, Madden said, the library standards of the American Library Association recommend a building size of 20,000 sq. ft. (one-half square foot per person). The present library has 8,400 square feet.

NEW PARKING facilities will be provided at the library before construction begins, according to Madden. The library addition is to be built on the front of the present library building, where the parking lot is now located.

Madden said that this year's library budget includes $15,000 for architect's fees and parking improvements. He also noted that the library would be kept open during construction of the addition.

The present library building was designed so that the south and east walls could be knocked out for later building, according to the librarian.

Madden will be responsible for planning the interior arrangement of the new addition.

The township librarian said the library board decided to follow a course of expansion in stages rather than attempting to build one large building, since this is not financially feasible.

The IBM 360 computer system does double duty for the college. It keeps records ranging from student attendance statistics to equipment inventories ready for instant retrieval and analysis. It also serves as a teaching tool for Harper students studying to be computer operators, programmers and systems analysts.

Harper's data processing students are in high demand. It has more requests for job placement than it can fill. Many students go full-time for a year, then take a job and plan to finish their coursework on a part-time basis.

SEDREL SAYS HARPER has rented its computer system rather than purchased it so the college won't be locked into obsolete equipment at some future date.

He says the 360 system is from "the latest generation" of computers. Since the college rents the equipment, it will be free to shift to the "next generation" as soon as it is on the market.

The recent relaxation of laws governing penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana have caused a stir in local police departments.

The law permits a first time offender who has less than 2 1/2 grams of the illegal weed to be charged with a misdemeanor rather than the former felony charges.

One reason the law was approved by the state legislature was that many offenders were being pronounced not guilty by judges who felt the penalty was too stiff.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher of Wheeling said, "The law wasn't being upheld before and I have no reason to believe the new law will be upheld now. Many courts will still not convict the offender."

UNDER THE OLD law, anyone charged with possession of marijuana was automatically under the stigma of having a felony charge on his record and was tried in felony court. The new law will permit local courts to try offenders.

Elk Grove Police Chief Harry Jenkins disagreed with Horcher because, as he says, the new law will lead to "better adjudication."

He elaborated, "The idea is good because judges were reluctant to find defendants guilty because of the excessive penalty and the felony charge. Now maybe they'll look at things differently."

"I am in favor of this new law because it will let the cases be handled locally and faster," said Newell Esmond, Mount Prospect police chief.

The new law was ushered in only hours before a narcotics raid by Mount Prospect police.

THE PROBLEM OF marijuana usage in the area is centered among the young people, the chiefs agree.

Horcher said, "There was quite a problem here about a year ago, but it seems to have cleared up by now."

He bemoaned the fact that because of "existing rules," it is not possible to make arrests on circumstantial information.

The Wheeling police had information on a narcotics ring in the area last August, Horcher says, but couldn't make any arrests until January.

Horcher expressed concern about the children who were reached by the drugs before the police could stop drug traffic.

Jenkins said the problem is minimal in Elk Grove, and although he didn't believe there are any addicts, there are "plenty of experimenters and users."

ESMOND SAID HE wasn't sure that an increase of violations would occur because of the relaxed penalties, but Jenkins seemed confident that it would not.

"I don't look on it as a relaxed law," the Elk Grove police chief said, "Marijuana is still illegal and the violation of the law is still in effect."

Interfaith Council For Next Year Named

Officers of the Schaumburg Township Interfaith Council for the coming year have been named. They are John Harkness, chairman, Holy Innocents Episcopal Church; Mrs. Virginia O'Donnell, secretary, St. Hubert's Catholic Church; Mrs. Bobbie Cohen, publicity chairman, Beth Tikvah Temple.

Three projects are planned by the interfaith council in 1969-70. These include sponsoring a seven week course in modern theology, holding a "Generation Dialogue" featuring parents and youths; and conducting church visitations.

GLENN HOFFMAN of Prince of Peace Lutheran Church is in charge of the "Generation Dialogue," and Mrs. Sonny Weiner of Beth Tikvah will direct the church visitation program.

Next meeting of the Schaumburg Township Interfaith Council is 8 p.m. Aug. 28 at Our Saviour's Methodist Church, 611 E. Golf Road.

Taxes Near $5 Million

Schaumburg Township Collector Albert Hartmann has collected $4,905,833 in taxes during the first half of 1969, it was announced Wednesday.

According to a report read at Wednesday's board of auditors meeting, the township collector has taken in $4,678,212 in real estate taxes so far in 1969, and a total of $227,621 in personal property taxes.

The figure for real estate tax collections compares with $3,344,971 in collections received during the first half of 1968. Personal property taxes collected last year in the township amounted to $181,972.71.

THE TOWNSHIP receives a 2 per cent commission on taxes paid through the township collector.

The second installment of real estate taxes to be paid in 1969 will be due in September.

Splash Party Tonight

A splash party for junior high students will be held tonight from 9 to 11 at the Schaumburg Community Pool. Admission will be 50 cents.

Providing music will be a combo known as "The Liquid Sunshine."

Due to community support, the park district plans to continue holding the splash parties scheduled, and supervisors will endeavor to hold down the noise of bands playing.

Accredit Hospital

Elgin Sherman Hospital administrator, Harold W. Salmon, received word from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals that the commission has approved the hospital's accreditation for another three years.

"The commission wishes to commend Sherman Hospital for maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for its constant effort to improve the quality of patient care," wrote John D. Porterfield, M.D., director of the Joint Commission.

The survey was conducted June 11 and 12 by Otto Arnold, M.D., and reviewed by Earl F. Weir, M.D.

Dr. Arnold was extremely pleased with the hospital in general. He commented on the facilities, the cleanliness, the attitude of all the people with whom he came in contact and the care which the patients receive.

Keller Room OK'd For Community Chorus

The Dist. 34 School Board approved the use of the band room at Helen Keller Junior High for practice sessions by the Hoffman Hallmark Chorus at a recent board meeting.

The usual charge for use of a classroom has been waived, since this is a community organization.

The recently organized community chorus plans to meet once a week starting in September. Mrs. June Cowan is musical director for the group, which is expected to have about 40 members. Concerts are planned at Christmas and Easter.

Lake Improvements Asked

Requests for various improvements in Hanover Park were related at Thursday's village board meeting.

The Department of Public Works, Elgin, has asked that road improvements be made on Lake Street, west of East Bartlett Road to west of Barrington Road. There has also been a request for street lights on Mulberry Street.

Trustee Louis Barone asked that a meeting be scheduled to discuss the inadequacy of police pension funds. Barone said provisions for these funds must be updated.

Mayor Richard Baker agreed, adding that the need for a better police pension fund was one of the reasons for the high special tax levy appropriated this year, which totals $53,000. Appropriation for police pension fund is $15,000.

A MOTION WAS passed to post a "no dumping" sign at the Convenient Food Mart on Irving Park Road. Trustee James M. Scheuber Jr., suggested that "no passing" signs should also be posted at Irving Park and Barrington roads, in all directions, for the safety of children.

The Rev. Charles Bartlett, chairman of the planning commission, asked if progress had been made to install stop lights at Barrington and Irving Park roads. "I have brought this up several times in the last year and a half," remarked Bartlett. "Before it was said that this could not be done until the new shopping center was completed."

Trustee Louis Barone said the board is "still working on it." Bartlett replied, "Good. I wanted to know that the village is pushing it."

Mrs. Dennis McKinney asked if a tape recorder and microphones would be purchased for use at village board meetings as had been stated several months previously. Baker replied that $400 was being spent on such equipment.

Local Group on TV Show

A local group will have "hit the big time" when it appears on a CBS special Tuesday.

The "Showcase Six" was chosen for the special part of the CBS Repertoire Workshop series designed to feature new groups in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Jim Grady, a graduate of Prospect High School and now a student at Northwestern University is the composer-arranger-performer of the group.

During the special, the group will perform eight numbers, three of which are original compositions by Grady.

The "Showcase Six" use piano, bass and drum accompaniment.

They were recently seen on the Jim Conway Show and the Midwest edition of the All-American College Show.

All members of the group are students at Northwestern.

The special will be broadcast at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

College Students To Paint Curbs

Two groups of college students may be involved in a painting race in Hoffman Estates during the next few weeks after action taken at the village board meeting Monday night.

Both groups had sent letters to the village requesting permission to paint house numbers on curbs. They both said the numbers would be stenciled in black on white backgrounds and they would solicit a $1 voluntary donation from homeowners for the work.

Both young men said they would attend the meeting, but when the matter came up only Thomas Rindzius was present. After a brief discussion the board voted to let Rindzius' group proceed with the project.

Rindzius then left the meeting and several minutes later, John Blama, the head of the other group, arrived. The board discussed the matter with Blama and then decided his group also could paint.

No boundaries for the two groups were set, evidently allowing them to paint on a first-come, first-work basis. May the best group win.

Village Asked To Fill Hole

Bringing visual evidence of the problem, Andrew McPherson, 276 Lafayette Road, appeared before the Hoffman Estates Village Board Monday night to request action on a large hole in Higgins Road in front of the entrance to the Dale House Restaurant.

McPherson appeared two weeks ago with the same problem. He said apparently the village had been successful in filling a hole in the east-bound lane, but "I almost lost my life again in the west-bound lane."

He displayed the bent wheel of his car and four hubcaps found at the scene, evidently from other cars that had hit the hole. A service station attendant said he had fixed four or five cars in the last week and witnessed several near accidents because of the hole. McPherson said.

"THE HOLE IS not so bad in its length or width," he said, "but it's deep enough so that at 55 miles per hour it is capable of tearing the undercarriage out of a car."

He asked the village board to violate the law and fill the hole with gravel until the state could fill it permanently.

Village officials said they would be liable for any accidents if they did anything to the hole, but said they would contact highway department district engineer George March as soon as possible.

Pool Manager Gets Vacation

Hoffman Estates Pool Manager Heinz Brauner was granted a one-week vacation with pay Monday night, but not without voiced protests from several trustees.

Discussion was opened by Trustee Virginia Hayter's question of whether part-time employees are in a position to negotiate for vacation.

"To me it's just like any other employee," Trustee James Sloan said. "You have good employees, mediocre ones and poor ones. The good ones you try to keep. Brauner is a good employee. I don't think we're setting a policy for other part-time employees."

Brauner told the board he had worked an accumulative total of two years for the village over four summers and had not had a vacation. He said the assistant manager could take over his duties the week he would be gone.

Several trustees believed that all part-time employees would be entitled to paid vacation if they granted time to Brauner, and that vacation should have been settled at the time he was rehired for the summer.

"I really hate to vote nay on this, but I'm going to have to because I don't want to start making policy hit and miss again," Mrs. Hayter said.

Following discussion, only trustees Ed Hennessy and Bruce Lind voted against the provision.

Increase Tax

The Hanover Park Park District can increase its recreation tax by 50 per cent, Attorney William Davies told commissioners Monday.

Davies said Gov. Richard Ogilvie signed into law a bill that increases the maximum recreation tax levy to .75 per $100 assessed valuation from .5.

Pres. Harold Humphreys said this would mean the park district would receive about $12,000 in the recreation tax fund. Last year the district received $7,000.

THE PARK DISTRICT also wants the village board to pass an ordinance relinquishing its right to impose a recreation tax. If the board complies, the park district could add .16 to the recreation tax levy.

This would add about $2,000 or $3,000 a year to the recreation fund.

Under the new state law, park districts may increase the recreation fund to .9 if a referendum is passed.

Dist. 59 Contest Decided Tomorrow

by JUDY COVELL

Less than 2,000 voters in Dist. 59 are expected to turn out to the polls tomorrow. Three men especially are sure to be there though, and right now they're all out campaigning for the election.

The three men will vie for one seat on the Dist. 59 board. The newly elected member will hold his seat only until the next election in April, 1970.

The candidates are Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers, Des Plaines; Joseph P. Jennings, 38 Essex Road, Elk Grove Village; and Paul Neuhauser, 1821 Magnolia, Mount Prospect.

special agent for the intelligence division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue

He was endorsed by the Teacher's Council of Dist. 59 Wednesday

Jennings is new to the school board race and cites his experience in management and accounting as attributes for his election. He was a part of management for a hotel chain and is president of his own manufacturing firm. He has two children in Dist. 59 and has been a township school trustee. He resigned that post Tuesday.

The summer vacation season may be a deterrent to voter turnout tomorrow and the candidates' predictions aren't high.

"I would say there'll be a rather limited turnout — maybe 800 to 1,000," Artemenko said Thursday.

Neuhauser said that he thought there'd be a pretty good turnout, maybe comparable to the April election when there were approximately 1,900 voters.

"I'm looking for a good turnout because it's been an active campaign," he said.

Jennings said he couldn't really predict but he knew that all three candidates had been working hard during the campaign. Issues during the campaign have ranged from the selection of the new superintendent to the hot lunch program. Also of concern to the district has been the teacher-pupil ratio, communication of teacher complaints, the hiring of a communications specialist, the merit pay system, and a proposed 21 cent educational tax increase for the fall.

These issues have caused havoc in the district in the last few months and the new board member, whoever he may be, is walking into a tough situation. Dist. 59 voters are hoping for quick solutions to drawn-out problems and the board has a lot of work facing it.

Meanwhile, the byword for Saturday night for three men in Dist. 59 is "wait." "I'll be waiting as I'm sure the other two will," Jennings said. "I'll probably be at district headquarters to shake the hand of the winner or losers as the case may be."

Artemenko is expected to appear at the headquarters to await the election results.

Joe Jennings

and Neuhauser said that he'd be there or at home — but all will be waiting.

For two of them the wait may last months, until the election in April, when all three have said they will run again.

Paul Neuhauser

They represent a wide range of experience, representing each of three major communities served by Dist. 59.

Artemenko, a former member and president of the Dist. 59 board of education, is employed as an executive with United Air Lines. He served on the board until last April when he chose not to run for re-election.

Neuhauser ran third in last April's election. He lost his bid for election to the school board by 26 votes. Neuhauser is a

Apollo 11 Splashdown

ABOARD USS HORNET — Apollo 11's lunar explorer blazed to a successful splashdown in the Pacific Ocean yesterday afternoon.

President Nixon joined hundreds of white-clad sailors in a rousing welcome when the astronaut stepped from a Navy recovery helicopter wearing masks and biological isolation garments. The astronauts will remain in quarantine for 18 days until it is determined whether they have brought back any detrimental lunar germs.

'Wait-In' Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD — The "wait-in" outside Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by members of the "United Front" of Cairo was temporarily ended yesterday after two days of demonstrations.

State police arrested 32 persons during the demonstrations. For nearly 10 days the "wait-in" had been conducting the "wait-in" in an effort to meet with Ogilvie and press its demands for economic aid to Cairo.

McCarthy Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said yesterday he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

In reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

Surtax Kept Alive

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee approved legislation yesterday to keep the income surtax alive through at least Aug. 15.

There were indications that a Senate deadlock on extending the tax might be ready to break. The tax law expired June 30 but Congress previously approved an extension of the 10 per cent withholding tax through July.

To Meet on Pollution

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter D. Hickel yesterday announced the first in a series of meetings on water pollution control policy.

Hickel said nine state water pollution and health officials would meet with federal officials at the Interior Department Aug. 6.

Percy: Help Police

WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy's endorsement of a suburban Chicago Citizens' Patrol Organization stemmed from the belief the public should cooperate with the police rather than harass them, he said.

The Illinois Republican said there is no similarity between the Cook County Communications Patrol Inc., of Melrose Park and armed vigilantes — as I understand them.

No Mideast Explosion

UNITED NATIONS — Despite the sharp increase in Middle East hostilities, neither the United States nor the Soviet Union feels that the area is on the brink of a major explosion, U.S. officials said yesterday.

"But the situation is serious and we want to do everything we can to calm it down," said a ranking U.S. official.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Road in Elk Grove Village presents a smooth surface near a hill at Shelley Road. However, in other areas of the two-lane roadway the surface is crumbling and buckling under the summer's heat. This week Cook County highway crews began to repair areas where the surface has deteriorated.

WINDING AND NARROW that's Arlington Heights Road in Elk Grove Village. Here, the road curves near the narrow bridge which takes it over Salt Creek. Most familiar turn in the road is at Cosman Road where Arlington Heights Road follows a southerly direction after taking a southwesterly dip beginning at Oakton Street. Roadway may be straightened when the county follows through with plans to widen busy thoroughfare. Road is four lanes wide north of Oakton Street and was recently resurfaced south of Devon Avenue in DuPage County.

Candidates Night Is Solemn Evening

They were standing or sitting there near the door, the three Dist. 59 school board candidates, like in a receiving line at a wedding — the start of a quiet solemn evening.

People filtered in, some stopped to say hello, most passed on to settle in the crowd of empty chairs in Elk Grove Township Hall Wednesday.

"Forty was the highest number of people we had at any of the candidates nights last spring," Louis Audi, school board finance director said. This year the same 40 must have shown up, and the candidates, Gene Artemenko, Paul Neuhauser, and Joe Jennings presented their views and fielded questions from the audience.

THE QUESTION WHICH seemed to interest the audience most was the candidate's opinions concerning merit pay for teachers.

Neuhauser said that the system was not used in the past, probably because of difficulty in evaluation.

"To a certain degree I am in favor of some type of merit system because it gives incentive. Dist. 62 has tried it and it seems to work out fairly well. I wouldn't be opposed to it."

Jennings said:

"The problem seems to be that there is no way in which you can gauge the performance of a teacher. I am open to listen to a program and if you can find a good system, I would take a long look at it first."

"IT'S NOT practical," Artemenko said. "You wouldn't be able to negotiate that kind of contract where salaries would also be held or cut."

OPINION ON THE 21-cent increase in the educational tax was asked from the candidates.

Artemenko said it wasn't needed, point, and Jennings said that it would be Neuhauser said he was not in favor at this easy to say he was against the increase, but it would be difficult if the board ran into financial problems not to vote yes.

"I'd have to take a long look at where needed money will come from before voting."

The school board candidates were also asked opinions of the hot lunch program, criteria in choosing a new superintendent, the necessity of curriculum coordinators, and how communications channels would be set up between teachers and the board.

Those three candidates are seeking to fill a vacancy caused when George Blanchard resigned July 1. Election will be held Saturday from noon to 7 p.m. in the nine school precinct polling places.

High School Taxes May Jump 20 Per Cent

By MARY SCHULTZ
High School District 214 property holders may see their tax bills soar by as much as 20 per cent next year.

That is the news behind the proposed 1970 tax levy given to the school district by the board of trustees Wednesday night.

The new budget, aimed to cover 1970-71 operating costs in District 214's six high schools—Arlington Heights, Forest View, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hersey—will require a 20 per cent jump in the full 21-cent educational tax rate increase approved by voters last April.

The 1970-71 budget is approved in the district by the Robert Weber, business manager, who will make a minor dent in a 17-cent building tax rate increase approved in April.

He is recommending that the school board approve a levy budget that would raise the building fund tax from 25 to 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Two tax hikes total 29 cents per $100, an additional cost of $29 in 1970 for a property holder with a $25,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $10,000.

Not figured into the 1970-71 budget plan is how much District 214 will have to contribute to the 1970 bond and interest costs. Weber said that cannot be determined until the district sells $9.1 million in bonds to finance construction of the proposed $200,000 Rolling Meadows high school.

He did seek the advice of a consultant in determining how and when to sell the bonds. The consultant will be chosen at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

EAST SPRING WEBER said that if the Rolling Meadows school bonds are all sold at one time, a one-year only hike of 12 cents per $100 property valuation would be required.

Asked by the Herald Friday if the 12-cent figure is still a reliable estimate, he said, "I see no reason to change it."

If the bond and interest rate is picked to 12 cents, a District 214 property holder with a $25,000 home valued for tax purposes at $10,000 will pay $11 more next year to support the high school district. The owner of a $30,000 home assessed for tax purposes at $11,000 will pay an additional $6.70.

The increase will go to all homeowners in two-thirds of Rolling Meadows, all of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and portions of Des Plaines.

School board members were told by Supt. Edward H. Gilbert that the 21-cent education tax rate jump is necessary to cover:

- An unexpected 9 per cent increase in student enrollment in 1970-71.
- Increase in teachers salaries.

Gilbert said the budget projections would allow funds for a 5 per cent increase in classroom teachers salaries.

To go much higher, he said, would mean that the district would have to go "in the red" and issue tax anticipation warrants borrowing against taxes the district will collect in 1971.

BOARD MEMBERS Wednesday were given a projected budget allowing funds for a 10 per cent teachers salary increase.

But they were warned that the tax income will fall $100,000 short of providing funds to cover that pay hike.

Salary levels for 1970-71 will be determined next spring by negotiations with the District 214 Teachers Association salary committee.

With that in mind, board member Rich and Richhube of Mount Prospect urged Wednesday that the board approve a balanced budget for levy purposes that allows funds for a 5 per cent increase.

Then if you have to go to tax anticipation warrants, it will bring home a point, Richhube asserted.

It does bring up the point that this district is not a bottomless well of money, agreed board member Frank Bergen, also of Mount Prospect.

THE DISTRICT board will be met by Weber after Wednesday's meeting will be accepted for public inspection at the board's Aug. 11 meeting.

A public hearing on the budget will take place Sept. 11 in the board meeting room at the district administration center, 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Then the school board will be ready to approve the budget, possibly with amendments.

Property taxes to cover the school district budget will be paid in 1970.

Neuhauser Backed

S. D. Neuhauser, 41, is emerging from the shadows of the past. It has been the quiet life of a man who has been in the background for so long that many people have forgotten his name.

For the last six months he has been quietly working behind the scenes, but now he is stepping forward.

He is the man who has been quietly working behind the scenes, but now he is stepping forward.

The district must now prepare for the full resumption of school activities by going to the polls and electing a man to sit on the board of education.

That man should be Paul Neuhauser.

This newspaper endorsed Neuhauser when he was a candidate in the April election, an election from which former board member Gene Artemenko voluntarily absented himself.

Funds for Football Field Lights Plunged in Darkness

The question of additional football field seats at Prospect and Wheeling high schools last night caused the high school Dist. 214 school board to blow the whistle temporarily on all other capital expenditures in the six school district

The board approved installation of the seating at the two schools at an estimated cost of $20,000.

But board member Richard Bachhuber of Mount Prospect objected strongly and talked the board into taking a new look at all other capital expenditures after the football seating was approved. He was strongly backed up by board member Richard Stamm, also of Mount Prospect.

The board action will mean delay and possible cancellation of other planned building and grounds improvements at Arlington Prospect Forest View, Hersey, Wheeling and Elk Grove high schools.

Stamm pointed out that the money for the football field seats at Prospect Wheeling and seating approved earlier this month for Arlington High must be paid for out of the district's 1969-70 contingency fund.

We've used up five per cent of the year and 30 per cent of the contingency fund, Stamm said.

We should ask the principals of the three schools to say what else they'd be willing to give up to get the seats, commented board member Frank Bergen.

Two weeks ago the school board approved purchase of 950 additional bleacher seats at Arlington High School, the district's oldest school and one which has developed a strong following of football fans. In asking for the additional seats, Arlington principal Bruno Waara said the school has had its football teams playing to standing room only crowds under lights for several years.

Prospect and Wheeling played grid games under lights last fall for the first time. Both saw their attendance increase much as had been the experience at Arlington years before.

All three schools included bleacher seating in their original requests for the 1969-70 budget. The budget committee headed by Bachhuber struck the three expenditures out earlier this month to give the budget a larger contingency fund.

Budget committee members said the time they wanted to make sure the three schools didn't get more football field seating unless they could make a good case for it, Bergen said last night he did not think that a strong case for the additional seats had been made by any one of the three schools.

Harper Is Moving

Harper Junior College is moving head first into its new campus at Roselle and Algonquin roads in south rural Palatine Township.

The "memory bank of the campus" the data processing section began its move yesterday.

It will be the first community college department to occupy permanent quarters in the red brick and concrete six-building complex on a 170-acre site that used to be known as the Tri-Color Farm.

It will be about a month before the brains of the college will join the memory bank. Offices of top administrators are expected to be ready for occupancy Aug. 15 and faculty members will move in in early September.

ROY SEDREL, Palatine director of data processing, will be watching intently today as his $180,000 computer system is disconnected, loaded onto a commercial van and trucked up the hill from the old Tri-Color stables where the data processing section has been located since 1967.

Shepherding the move today and tomorrow will be technicians who keep the computer equipment in operating order under the $96,000 annual rental contract Harper has with IBM.

Sedrel says if all goes well, the computer system will be ready to go on the air Friday night in an air-conditioned humidity-controlled ground floor quarters in the administrative wing of the college center.

Other sections of the new $14 million campus are still under construction, with the work ranging from 96 to 49 per cent complete.

THE DATA PROCESSING section has been given priority, Sedrel told the Herald because Harper officials hope to begin on-line computerized student registration Aug. 11. We want to be sure we have everything in running condition and well tested out by that time, Sedrel explained.

The IBM 360 computer system does double duty for the college. It keeps records ranging from student attendance statistics to equipment inventories ready for instant retrieval and analysis. It also serves as a teaching tool for Harper students studying to be computer operators, programmers and systems analysts.

Harper's data processing students are in high demand. It has more requests for job placement than it can fill. Many students go full time for a year, then take a job and plan to finish their coursework on a part-time basis.

SEDREL SAYS HARPER has rented its computer system rather than purchased it so the college won't be locked into obsolete equipment at some future date.

He says the 360 system is from the latest generation of computers. Since the college rents the equipment, it will be free to shift to the next generation as soon as it is on the market.

Good Place for a Pinch

Elk Grove Policeman Ronald Iden was at the right place at the right time Wednesday.

In fact, he made four separate arrests for similar reasons at the same location three different times.

At 12:45 a.m. Iden, roaming around town in his squad car, spotted a vehicle at Arlington Heights and Higgins roads with the rear license plate dangling from one bolt.

He stopped the car, driven by Frederick C. Waterbury III, of 109 Berkley Hoffman Estates, and asked for the 19-year-old's driver's license.

Waterbury turned to his companion in the auto, Robert C. Philpott, 18, of 529 Fairview Circle, Schaumburg, and asked him for his wallet, which supposedly contained the asked-for license, but which turned out to be the one belonging to Philpott.

ARREST NUMBER ONE: Iden brought the pair back to the station. Waterbury was charged with driving with an improperly affixed license plate, driving with a suspended license and using another person's driver's license.

Police also charged Philpott with unlawful use of a driver's license (allowing Waterbury to use it for identification), police said. Both youths were released on $1,000 bonds.

Iden drove by the same intersection at 3:30 a.m. when he detected another traffic violation, arrest number two.

Ronald J. Kotila of Elgin was stopped and charged with driving his auto with a noisy muffler. When Kotila was taken to the station, it was learned he was driving on a suspended license. He was freed on $500 bond.

ARREST 3: Iden, touring the intersection again and once more spotted a violation.

A car driven by Rick Wilson of Chicago was functioning with one white tail light. Wilson became the fourth person arrested at the same corner in five hours.

When he was brought to the station, however, police said it was discovered Wilson didn't have a driver's license at all. His bond was $500.

Novak Leading Scouts On Mountain Trails

Lawrence Novak, 20, Wildwood Elk Grove Village, is now leading six scouts on a 12-day expedition over the trails of the rugged Sangre de Cristo mountains at Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base.

Philmont is a 214-square-mile national camping area of the Boy Scouts of America.

Novak, an aircraft engine mechanic with the Air Force, is supervising the group representing the Northwest Suburban Council.

While on the trail, the expedition will have opportunities to participate in activities at Philmont's 20 staffed mountain camps. Some of the special programs available include mountaineering, gold panning, gold mining, burro packing, archaeology, geology and wilderness conservation.

After shake-down training with a member of Philmont's Ranger staff, Novak and his scouts departed camping headquarters for a mountain base camp to begin their trek.

Pool Manager Gets Vacation

Hoffman Estates Pool Manager Heinz Brauner was granted a one-week vacation with pay Monday night but not without voiced protests from several trustees.

Discussion was opened by Trustee Virginia Hayter's question of whether part-time employees are in a position to negotiate for vacation.

"To me it's just like any other employee," Trustee James Sloan said. "You have good employees, mediocre ones and poor ones. The good ones you try to keep. Brauner is a good employee. I don't think we're setting a policy for other part-time employees."

Brauner told the board he had worked an accumulative total of two years for the village over four summers and had not had a vacation. He said the assistant manager could take over his duties the week he would be gone.

Several trustees believed that all part-time employees would be entitled to paid vacation if they granted time to Brauner, and that vacation should have been settled at the time he was rehired for the summer.

"I really hate to vote nay on this, but I'm going to have to because I don't want to start making policy hit and miss again," Mrs. Hayter said.

Following discussion, only trustees Ed Hennessy and Bruce Lind voted against the provision.

Increase Tax

The Hanover Park Park District can increase its recreation tax by 50 per cent, Attorney William Davies told commissioners Monday.

Davies said Gov. Richard Ogilvie signed into law a bill that increases the maximum recreation tax levy to 75 per $100 assessed valuation from 5.

Pres. Harold Humphreys said this would mean the park district would receive about $12,000 in the recreation tax fund last year the district received $7,000.

THE PARK DISTRICT also wants the village board to pass an ordinance relinquishing its right to impose a recreation tax. If the board complies, the park district could add 16 to the recreation tax levy.

This would add about $2,000 or $3,000 a year to the recreation fund.

Under the new state law, park districts may increase the recreation fund to 9 if a referendum is passed.

Job Agencies Fill The Gaps

by JOAN KLUSSMANN

Secretaries, machinists, welders and cooks enjoy a common bond. All of them are needed by suburban firms.

While local employment agencies help fill the secretarial need by referring housewives longing for a change of pace or determined to get children through college without declaring bankruptcy, they cannot fill the assembly-line gaps.

Factory workers rarely live in the suburbs and local agencies helping men to bigger and better positions generally restrict their listings to accountants, engineers and executives.

R. G. STANTON, a personnel consultant specializing in executive positions in the $1,000 to $10,000 range, recommends more firms looking for lower paid personnel "and the need is tremendous" — engage buses to pick up workers in the city and transport them to the suburbs. Employment agency owners cite the high cost of housing in the area as a major deterrent to young men seeking positions in local factories.

While the need for secretaries and clerical workers is more easily met, Glenn Sheets, owner of an Arlington Heights agency for seven years, maintains that for every 25 secretarial positions there are only 10 applicants and "companies will scramble for the best."

BILL MULINS, serving village residents for five years, pledges to place "any girl, any woman, young or old, if she really wants to work." Calvin Pierson reports that he received requests for a secretary and draftsman from the same firm recently and the secretarial position commanded the higher salary.

Mrs. Sally Van Gorp of "Miss Paige," serving women only, says that doctors' receptionists and clerical jobs are the positions most sought by local women. Agencies concede, however, that individuals demanding a particular village, certain hours or top pay in their field may have to wait for the ideal position.

A VISIT BY A Herald reporter to a local agency recently confirmed that there is, indeed, a choice of positions in the secretarial field, although top starting salaries in the suburbs are quite a bit less than advertisements imply. Explanation for the wage gap is that salaries increase in proportion to your desire to travel to Chicago.

Flawlessly dressed in attractive office attire themselves, the counselors were polite and gracious. They would not, however, discuss the employment market with a potential applicant until forms were filled out and a general aptitude test taken. But then a pile of pink requisitions attempting to be home when her children well-known firms and for full-time positions.

AGENCIES DO NOT cater to the mother attempting to be home when her children arrive from school, as the need for part-time jobs is low.

The current tight money market and high cost of labor is most likely affecting the overall employment market. Stanton says that many firms have delayed expansion plans, and there is presently no great demand for men earning $15,000 to $20,000. Sheets explains that although total placements were down this year, more placements in higher paying jobs make up the difference to his agency. Others maintain that business is booming.

Working on a percentage of salary basis, Sheets says he "goes up and down with the market." Stanton's business differs slightly from other agencies as he receives payment from companies in advance and has exclusive listings.

THE TURNOVER in the employment counseling field itself is high, perhaps because employees depend greatly on commissions. The Illinois Department of Labor licenses about 6,000 counselors annually but issues renewals to only 1,500. Many of those who do succeed go into business for themselves and then go on to open branch offices.

Sheets has three offices, Miss Paige is one of several and Mulins is now planning for an additional business in the western suburbs.

While admitting that they snare just a segment of the employment market and that many firms rely on employee contacts and classified ads, agencies are convinced they serve a vital function for many firms. "Employees not really qualified are weeded out and firms do not have to interview hundreds of people."

Firefly Call Met

Thousands of youngsters across the country came to the rescue of Antonik Laboratories, 609 W. Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village, supplying the much-needed million and a half fireflies for research and medical diagnosis.

"Stop the fireflies from coming," Alan S. Antonik, president of the firm said. "We were quite amazed and enthused at the response but we already have 300,000 more waiting to be collected than we need," he said.

A plea was made for fireflies in June at the price of a penny a piece.

"We thought we'd have trouble getting as many as we needed by the end of the season in August so we upped the price from two for a penny," Antonik said. "We're calling our customers all over the world to see if we can extend the quota."

LETTERS AND CALLS have deluged the lab offices from youngsters anxious to sell their bugs. They come from all over the country according to Antonik and sorting the letters alone is an amazing task. "Answering them all right away is impossible," he said.

"People so often say that youth are lazy and no good but their response clearly demonstrates how ambitious and enthusiastic they are." We have reports from mothers who say their kids never did anything before but were really anxious to finish this project," he said.

"One family donated 2,000 fireflies because they said they realized the serious use in combating diseases involved. A letter from the mother of a mentally retarded girl was heartwarming. She said it was the first time her daughter felt she'd done something worthwhile."

"I want to emphasize that we're doing everything possible to accommodate those who have already collected the insects but they'll just have to be patient," Antonik said.

HE ASKED THAT people please use the postal system and not call. Antonik also explained that sometimes drivers cannot fulfill all their pickups for a day.

"People don't understand that when we arrange for a pickup it can't be for the day after they contact us. We're already scheduling them into August," he said.

"Apparently the increase in price and bumper crop of fireflies explains the high response," he said. This year some people have reported catches of a thousand a night. It's never happened before, he explained.

"Not only the quantity but the quality of fireflies has been exceptionally good this year," Antonik said.

Those who have fireflies waiting should send the amount on a postcard with return address to Antonik Laboratories, P.O. Box 15, Elk Grove Village. The laboratories will then notify the children of a pick up time.

Meanwhile the flies should be kept frozen, Antonik said.

Stress Need for Emergency Treatment Forms

About 10,000 release forms to allow emergency treatment of minors have been distributed in the Northwest suburban area by Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

Officials at the hospital are attempting to mass-circulate release forms to help prevent possible delays in treating minors. If a child comes in to the emergency ward of the hospital with someone other than his parent, there is a delay because the parents must give permission for treatment.

IN THE MAJORITY of cases it takes a single phone call to reach the parents. Occasionally, however, the parents are away, then a distressing delay begins.

A doctor cannot, by law, treat a minor without the consent of the parent or legal guardian unless the delay would mean a serious risk to the patient. A minor is an unmarried boy under 21 or an unmarried girl under 18.

The problem of obtaining parental consent was brought into focus in March when a 12-year-old Palatine boy was brought into the emergency room at Northwest with a V-shaped cut to the bone below his knee.

James Martin's parents were vacationing in Miami and could not be reached to give permission for an operation to sew up the laceration.

Jim, who attends St. Thomas School in Palatine, was operated on immediately after permission was received by long-distance telephone. Meanwhile, however, he waited for almost seven hours before his parents could be reached.

THE ACCIDENT in which Jim's leg was injured happened at about noon when he hooked his leg sliding into second base during a baseball game at St. Thomas. His leg was snagged by the hook holding the base to the ground.

Jim was rushed to the hospital by a teacher. Shortly afterward, the long-distance search for Mr. and Mrs. Martin started.

The hospital staff called the hotel in Miami where his parents were registered. They were not in the building, so a message was left at the desk.

A 7 p.m. deadline was set for reaching the parents because hospital officials felt serious permanent damage might result if the operation were delayed any longer.

Jim was in pain until the surgery began. The wound had been cleansed, but he had not been given any anesthetic. His father called at 6:35 p.m. and gave the necessary "go-ahead" to the doctor.

IF JIM'S PARENTS had filled out the emergency release form and had given it to the persons taking care of him during their absence, the seven-hour delay would have been prevented.

Vacationing parents, children from out-of-state visiting relatives and families that have moved leaving children with friends to finish the school year constitute several situations when the proper authority for treatment is not immediately available.

The release form includes the name of the child and the date or dates for when the release is intended. It authorizes the treatment by a qualified licensed medical doctor of a child in the event of a medical emergency which, in the opinion of the attending physician, may endanger the minor's life, cause disfigurement, physical impairment or undue discomfort if delayed. The authority is granted only after "reasonable effort" has been made to reach the parent.

RELEASE FORMS are available from the hospital. A copy of the form was also included in the hospital's newsletter distributed earlier this month.

Northwest Community has also distributed copies of the release to Northwest suburban park districts, Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, churches and other groups.

"It takes very little effort to acquire and fill out a form and if it is needed, you will be more than thankful that it was available," the newsletter stated.

Teachers Are Paid Early

The High School Dist. 214 School Board Wednesday night did its part in keeping the district's 600 teachers from having to pay state income taxes on the salaries they earned for the 1968-69 school year.

They voted to send out this month salary checks the teachers would otherwise have received after Aug. 1, when the new state tax goes into effect.

Only one board member protested, and he did so in jest. "Aren't we trying to beat the state out of some tax funds?" asked board member Richard Bachhuber, Mount Prospect.

PAYROLL approved last night totalled $273,000 the 12th share of the teachers' school year pay.

Had the teachers had to pay the new state tax on those wages, the state coffers would have received $9,343.37.

The Dist. 214 teacher's Association had made no formal request for the board action, but Robert Weber, business manager, said many individual teachers had urged the step.

Weber said the school district's attorney had told him other school systems are doing the same thing.

JOHN NIMROD, left, candidate for the 13th District Congressional vacancy, welcomes James Rezabek to his campaign. Rezabek will serve as chairman of the Neighbors for Nimrod committee throughout the district.

Nimrod Endorsed

John Nimrod, a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 13th Congressional District, announced that James L. Rezabek of Wilmette has endorsed him.

Rezabek was a potential candidate for the congressional post, but did not file petitions. He had been screened by Republican Township Committee.

His endorsement of Nimrod is seen as adding strength to the Nimrod campaign from New Trier Township. Several other candidates reside in New Trier Township. Nimrod is from Niles Township.

REZABEK IS AN attorney and also heads a publishers supply company in Chicago. He has been active in Republican Party campaigns for Pres. Nixon and Gov. Ogilvie and in numerous other campaigns.

He is a past president of a Young Republicans organization and has been an official in township Republican organizations for many years.

"I welcome Jim Rezabek to the campaign team and have asked him to serve as chairman of the Neighbors for Nimrod committee which will function throughout the 13th Congressional District," Nimrod said.

Set 5th Talk Fest

The Elk Grove Township regular Republican Organization will be the fifth group to offer a public candidates' night to hear 13th District Congressional candidates.

Elk Grove Township's forum will be at 8 p.m. Monday in the Mount Prospect Country Club. Ten of the 11 GOP candidates were invited. Lar "America First" Daly of Chicago was excluded because he is a resident of the 13th District.

According to Elk Grove Township GOP Committeeman Carl Hansen, the organization's endorsement will follow at a later date in a closed meeting.

FOUR OF THE eight district township organizations have endorsed. New Trier Township selected Alan Johnston of Kenilworth; Palatine Township, Phil Crane of Wilmette; and Northfield Township, its committeeman, Sam Young. Niles Township was expected to endorse its committeeman, John Nimrod, last night.

Wheeling Township Republicans held a candidates' night last night and will likely favor their former committeeman, Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights. Schaumburg Township's organization, interviewing candidates secretly, will endorse Aug. 15.

Format for Monday's session will be a 12-minute introduction of candidates by Hansen, five minutes for candidate speeches, five minutes per candidate for questions from the audience. Coffee will be served at the close of the meeting.

Hansen said his organization's endorsement will be a result of the candidates' night and members' assessment of candidates. He said his workers will make a decision independent of action in other townships.

A FELLOW LOCAL committeeman has admitted that Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg township party heads had agreed to support the same candidate.

Young was the acceptable man, but Palatine could not deliver a Young victory Tuesday.

The Schaumburg organization is reportedly debating between Crane and Young.

Elk Grove's decision will be made by the policy committee made up of 36 precinct captains, plus board members. A two-thirds vote of the 73-vote committee is required for endorsement.

In conversation Wednesday, Hansen would not say whether he will recommend a candidate to the organization. He said a recommendation from him will "depend on the circumstances." The committeeman also would not predict the preferences his organization might have for certain candidates.

Other hopefuls in the Oct. 7 GOP primary race are Yale Roe of Wilmette, David A. Roe of Glenview, Joseph Mathewson of Wilmette, Alban Weber of Evanston and Gerald Marks of Wilmette.

Winner of the primary race will face Democrat Edward Warman of Skokie in the Nov. 25 general election.

Wants Income Told

Gerald Marks of Wilmette, Republican candidate for 13th District Congress, has called on his 19 opponents in the race to follow his lead in making a public disclosure of financial holdings.

At a June 12 press conference, Marks made public his financial holdings and placed his income tax returns on public file at the Better Government Association.

"I hope the other candidates will do as I have done to assure that there will be no question of financial conflict in the campaign," Marks said yesterday.

"I had hoped the other candidate would have made these disclosures early in the campaign," he said.

In the absence of such action, he has sent a letter to that effect to other candidates, Marks added.

THE LETTER SAID, in part, "The citizens of our district should be assured that no problems concerning financial practices will ever arise in the campaign in the 13th District. The least that each candidate can do in favor of this endeavor is to make a financial disclosure in accordance with the present ethics code of the House of Representatives.

"I personally consider this code to have shortcomings. I encourage you to do what I have done by making available a full disclosure of all sources of income as well as your recent tax returns for public inspection prior to the Oct. 7 primary. For the public to have confidence in an elected official they must have trust in him."

Name Campaign PR Firm

Samuel H. Young, GOP candidate for Congress from the 13th District, has named the firm of Edmund A. Smason Public Relations to direct his campaign's publicity and public relations program.

The Young for Congress voter information program will emphasize the candidate's qualifications and positions on key issues. Smason, a former Chicago newspaper man who has been in public relations for 13 years said.

"WE PLAN TO conduct in-depth information activities along these lines," Smason said. "Voters will be informed through straightforward words, with no cloudy phrases or innuendoes, why Sam Young should be the GOP nominee in the 13th Congressional District race."

Smason was on the editorial staff of the Chicago Sun-Times from 1952 until 1956 when he entered public relations.

He is immediate past president of the Chicago Headline Club, local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

PEACE CORPS DEPUTY Director Thomas Houser, left, uses a globe in his Washington D. C. office to show State Rep. Eugene F. Schickman, R-Arlington Heights, where volunteers work. Schlickman, a 13th District GOP congressional candidate, was in the capital recently for briefings.

Bride Sews Wedding Dresses

Mrs. Mary Ann Leikam of Prairie View was busy on the eve of her June 14 wedding to Lawrence W. Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doyle of Waupaca, Wis., as she put the finishing touches to the gowns worn by her four flower girls, her mother and grandmother.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Leikam, the new Mrs. Doyle exchanged vows with her groom in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Buffalo Grove, during a 4 p.m. double ring nuptial mass. For "something old" she wore an antique gold cross with pearl inset, from her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Pfister.

Her 18-inch length veil was silk organza. A train of 18 inches with a high neckline and short sleeves trimmed with pink d'ange lace, lightly frosted with tiny pearls. Lace trimmed the lower part of the gown and accented the circular silk organza train. Her veil was of imported silk illusion cascading from a crown of lace. Stephanotis and phalaenopsis orchids comprised the colonial bridal bouquet. She carried her mother's bridal handkerchief as "something borrowed."

MRS. HERBERT BECKAMP, sister of the bride from Crystal Lake, and Michael Parmentier, a friend of the groom from Green Bay, Wis., served as matron of honor and best man.

Bridesmaids were Veronica Hopfau, a cousin of the bride from Mundelein; Brenda Leikam, Prairie View, a niece; Carol Snavkistas, Waubesa, and Barbara Voller, Western Springs. The girls all wore gowns fashioned with white lace bodices and dirndl-like skirts in spring pink karate. They carried mixed colonial bouquets of spring flowers with matching cluster-style headpieces.

Four little flower girls, dressed in pink marshmallow A-line dresses, accented by white lace and pink daisies, attended the bride. The girls, Monica Beckamp, 5, of Crystal Lake; Kelly Leikam, 6, Forest Lake; Kimberly Leikam, 5, Wheeling; all nieces of the bride, and Teresa Davies, 5, of Oniro, Wis., a cousin of the groom, carried baskets of multi-colored spring flowers.

THE BRIDE'S MOTHER wore a yellow brocade dress and the groom's mother a blue dress. Both wore white orchid corsages.

Groomsmen included Bruce Lackam, bride's nephew from Prairie View; James Hopfau, Mundelein, a cousin; John Paul Jones III, Weyauwega, Wis., and Peter Seavers, groom's cousin from Junction City, Wis. Ushers were Richard Leikam, brother of the bride, and James Davies, groom's cousin from Oniro, Wis. Jerome Dupras, a cousin of the groom, was soloist.

A reception for 250 immediately followed the wedding at the Knights of Columbus hall in Arlington Heights.

The bride is a graduate of Elia-Vernon High School and St. Norbert College, West De Pere, Wis. Mr. Doyle served with the U.S. Navy and was graduated from Fox Valley Technical Institute, Appleton, Wis.

After a honeymoon in Ontario, Canada, the couple will reside in Kaukauna, Wis., where Mrs. Doyle will teach at Holy Cross School. Mr. Doyle is employed at North-western Elevator Company in Appleton.

Louise Mahoney Becomes June Bride

Mr. and Mrs. William De Wald

A romance which bloomed through association in the Tarragon Club for Catholic young adults culminated in marriage June 14 for Louise Ann Mahoney of Mount Prospect and William G. De Wald of Des Plaines. The couple exchanged vows and rings at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in St. Raymond Church, Mount Prospect, and were then feted at a reception at the Carousal at Arlington Towers Hotel.

The bride's family, the John A. Mahoneys, reside at 2 W. Lonnquist, Mount Prospect, and the groom is the son of the Walter De Walds of Des Plaines.

SEVERAL SHADES of pink were combined with bridal white for the nuptial mass. The bridal attendants all wore pale pink chiffon gowns with puffed sleeves to the wrist and trimmed with white daisies. Each girl wore a crown of daisies in her hair to hold a waist-length veil in place. Each carried a bouquet of dark pink carnations, starburst and roses.

Mary Beth Mahoney was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids included another sister, Eileen Mahoney; Judy Schmal of Evanston and Kathy Dupras of Des Plaines.

As the bride entered the sanctuary, she wore a white peau de soie empire gown with a lace motif edging the round neckline, waistline and elbow-length sleeves. Lace also edged the hemline of the gown, and a chapel train extended from the shoulders to the floor. The bride chose a fingertip veil and a crown of roses and pearls for her headpiece. She carried a crescent of starburst, carnations and ivy.

In keeping with the pink and white theme of the wedding, the bride's mother wore a shocking pink linen ensemble and the groom's mother a shocking pink lace ensemble. Each had a matching corsage of carnations and roses.

After a week's honeymoon at Lake of the Ozarks, the couple returned to Arlington Heights to live at 2218 Goodbert Road. The bride works for Baird and Warner Realty, Mount Prospect, and the groom for Tower Packaging Co.

GENE SCHNEIDER of Arlington Heights was best man, and seating the guests were John De Wald, Normal, Ill., a brother of the groom; Fred Schneider, Chicago, and Jim Fries, Des Plaines.

She is a graduate of Regina Dominican High School and attended Quincy College and DePaul University. He is a Maine West High School graduate.

Kickin' It Around

THREE COULD HAVE been a better year for Jack Nicklaus, winner of nine major golf championships, to see his book published.

This is the year of Jack Nicklaus or Arnie Palmer or Gary Player or even Billy Casper.

It is the year for the scarcely known player to crash through the victory barriers on the professional golf tour. These first-time winners tend to sink back into the woodwork once they've won but often only to give way to other new winners.

While Nicklaus admittedly is struggling through possibly his most agonizing year on the pro tour this still cashing in but missing the big titles, he has come up with a big winner with his recently published book, The Greatest Game of All: My Life in Golf, Simon and Schuster, N.Y.

Normally, you won't find much in the way of back reviews on these or any other golf pros, but there are certain books worthy of some mention. The Greatest Game of All is a must for anyone who enjoys the thoughtful game of golf.

There are many books on golf, mostly of the instructional variety. We've probably read most of them since we became so fascinated with pars, birdies, and eagles or other bogies, double bogies, and triple bogies.

The Greatest Game of All is a refreshing departure from the average golf book that often confuses rather than aids our fraternity of duffers.

Nicklaus for the first time reveals his exceptional understanding of each phase of the game of golf — the subtleties as well as the fundamentals of what making

More than that, in his intimate and direct narrative, he leads you up the years from Seaside in Columbus, Ohio, where he began golf at the age of 10, and takes you through the 1940s, 1950s, and 1960s with him as he has lived the exciting story of the day in the big championships.

Nicklaus collaborated with Herbert Warren Winer, considered one of the world's top golf writers, in this masterpiece of golfing history, a long, long, intimate autobiography and freshly shaped instruction.

Nicklaus is a meticulous note taker, a colorist who carefully charts every course he plays, and when he says he hit an iron 170 yards to the green, you know he means it. He is a 100 percent golfer. And he has an amazing memory for his descriptions of a course, his feelings during Nicklaus, now 29 years old, took up the game for the first time when he was 10. His dad suffered a foot injury that both ended him from the game and in the late 1940s the doctor recommended giving the foot as much movement as you can — the sort of movement you get when you walk on soft ground.

For a 10-year-old, Nicklaus then went on to become a champion. He had given up on golf, he said, and took his first lesson in golf, and he was hooked.

For the first time, I had never thought of golf. I had only heard of it. I was crazy about it. I had heard that it was a game that you could play in the summer, then in the winter, and then in the spring. I had heard that it was a game that you could play in the summer, then in the winter, and then in the spring.

Jack took a lesson for juniors at the Seaside Country Club shot a 64 the first time he ever played nine holes, a 61 the second time, and then for weeks I got on and won that first summer. I had a lot of fun.

Nicklaus then continued to improve rapidly. So rapidly that he broke 80 at 12 years of age, and shot a scintillating 69 at the age of 13.

Jack needed an eagle three on the par 4 400 yard 11th at Seaside to break 70. It was a 115-yard hole going for a 19 on a very difficult course.

I hit a good drive, he remembers, and a good 2-iron. I couldn't see the flag in the darkness but I could see a water bunker on the green and I played for that. I was on all right 35 feet from the cup. I was very well off. I remember pulling the sprinkler back and somehow held that putt.

Nicklaus points out in the book that the three fundamentals that were stressed to him as a youngster learning the game held true today. He still advocates (1) keeping the head still but not rigid, (2) proper foot action, and (3) as full an arc as possible.

When it became obvious that Jack had the tools needed to play championship golf, he decided to concentrate on basketball and golf in high school at Upper Arlington in Columbus.

Basketball was his favorite sport in high school and he was a varsity regular for three years, averaging 18 per game as a 5'11 forward on a club that finished 17-4 in his senior year.

Although in his observers felt he had the ability to play collegiate basketball, he settled for intercollegiate competition at Ohio State in the days of Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek, and Larry Siegfried, the golden days of Buckeye basketball.

As Nicklaus continued to star in golf circles as he ruled amateur tournaments with astounding regularity, his colossal power generated for every spectator an excitement and drama unique in tournament golf.

It is this incredible power that comes through so strikingly in his descriptions of the way he plays certain tournament holes.

When he fired a spectacular 64 in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, he toured the course with a tremendous show of power.

On 220 yard par 3 at Augusta, when most of us would be digging out our drivers or 2 or 3 woods, Nicklaus took a 4 iron and dropped it 10 feet past the pin.

On the par 4 400 yard first he was on with a drive and sand wedge. On the 420 yard par 4 ninth he hit the green with a driver and pitching wedge. On the 470 yard par 4 10th he used a driver and 8-iron. On the par 5 520 yard 15th he was on the cup with a driver and 5 iron. Fantastic.

We'll never forget his description of playing a 520 yard par 5 in a crucial tournament.

'The tee shot is semi-blind,' he wrote, 'and the fairway slopes slightly up for 200 yards or so. After the fairway reaches the top of its rise, it twists to the left. About 200 yards from the green a high bunkered ridge thrusts itself into the fairway from the right.'

Now, as a member of the Joe Duffer class, we would be happy to be near the green with three solid wood shots, or maybe two good woods and a medium to long iron.

What did Nicklaus use in this tournament to cover the 520 yards? He blasted a 3 iron off the tee, was 218 yards from the green, and then slammed a 5 iron 15 feet from the flag. It just staggers the imagination.

For the golf enthusiast, this book has everything. You will read about the great influence Bobby Jones had on Nicklaus. You will learn of Nicklaus' esteem for Ben Hogan and of his close relationship with his friend and rival Arnold Palmer.

One wants to be judged on one's own merits, of course, and it wasn't easy, he writes, to sense that on some occasions when I happened to play well enough to beat Arnold, the result, shall we say, didn't exactly set people dancing in the streets in some quarters.

You will meet Jack Grant Nicklaus, first and only teacher, and learn the ABC's he taught his precocious young pupil — and which he continues to stress when they work together today.

And you will read the story of the present era of modern power golf and Nicklaus' special role in it. Emphasis is, of course, on the major championships.

If you enjoy golf, you'll find this book fascinating.

Anyway, it usually runs on the week-ends around here so if you can't get out and play golf, you just might enjoy reading about it.

Need Rally To Keep Hopes Alive

by PAUL LOGAN

They thought they had this game in their pocket before they came, said Keith Koentopp, head coach of the Des Plaines Post 35 team of his boys shortly after their game with River Grove last Wednesday.

And rightly so. The 36ers had out slugged the hapless Post 35 team the two previous occasions collecting 25 hits to their meager 10 in contests that were never in doubt. On top of that the 35ers had just won a single game in 13 starts and had already dropped their opener in the District Nine Tournament because of a forfeit.

SO THE DES PLAINES crew headed into the game at Maine South High School a mile overconfident against the so-called jokes of the league.

But the worst legion team in area was up for this game and looked pretty potent in racing out to a 2-1 lead after four innings. It appeared to be the biggest upset of the season in the making.

However, as has been the case many times this year when the 36ers have needed a rally their bats have spoken. They regained their lead on a game-tying single by Kent Koentopp and he came home with the winning run on an error.

They made the 3-2 score hold up with some stalwart pitching and defensive play the rest of the game to knock River Grove out of the tourney. Des Plaines which remained in the title race because of the win was to have played Wheeling on Thursday — the team which had handed them their opening round setback.

'WE EXPECTED to beat them (River Grove) by much more of a margin than that,' said Koentopp, probably recalling the 9-4 and 9-0 pastings his boys had administered during regular season play.

One of the reasons for the 36ers' silent bats was the tricky chucking of little Craig Hodges. The hard working righty hand-cuffed the 36er guns on just two hits and just one run over the first four innings and went the distance with a heart-breaking six hits.

He (Hodges) kept us all off balance all night,' Koentopp remarked.

But the same thing was true of Denny O'Keefe, the soon-to-be junior right hander from Forest View. He registered his first league victory allowing just four hits over the six and two-third innings he was on the mound.

'DENNY'S GOT the stuff but he's just a RUN NO. 1. Mike O'Donnell of the Logan Square Lions beats the throw home in the first inning of their game with Des Plaines last Monday night. The District Nine Tournament contest which had to be called on account of dark ness with Des Plaines leading 8-3 saw plenty of close plays and exciting base running. Waiting for the ball as O'Donnell hits the dirt is catcher Chris Gruber.

little immature, the 36er mentor explained. In a year's time he will be a real good pitcher.

This is only his first year (in legion ball), Koentopp advised. I have faith in him.

O'Keefe went the first three innings allowing just two runners to get to second after he had given up a walk in the second and third frames.

Des Plaines playing the visitors' role took the lead in the fourth. Pete Cavallero opened with a double to left center but was caught in a rundown on Gaiv Pleckhardt's grounder. However Pleckhardt took second during the eat and mouse antics. He then came home on a bloop single by Bob Artemenko which fell just out of reach of the second baseman and the outfielders.

BUT IN THE last of the fourth the 35ers regained the lead. They loaded the bases with just one out on two singles and a hit batsman. Then pinch hitter Bob Salvasen tagged one to right to send home a run.

The relay to the plate got past catcher Chris Gruber and went into the dugout allowing another run to score and leaving runners on second and third and only one out.

However, just as the upstarts had one of their biggest rallies of the season going, second baseman John Callagione helped squelch it. He took a grounder and caught a 35er heading for home. Callagione ran straight across the diamond and forced him to freeze and he was out in a run down. O'Keefe fanned the next batter.

This finally woke up the sleeping bats of Des Plaines and the brief outburst in the top of the fifth turned out to be the key one of the contest. Gruber behind 0-2 faced an offering to right center for a one out double. He moved to third on a ground out and came home on a deadlocking single down the third base line by Koentopp.

KOENTOPP REACHED second when the second baseman dropped the relay. He advanced to third when Cavallero beat out a bunt single and came home when the pitcher tossed it wide to first base.

O'Keefe had just one close call in the next two innings when he was reached for a double. But the runner was nailed trying for a triple on the relay of Bill Tschatt.

to Artemenko to Cavallero.

Two outs in the bottom of the seventh O'Keefe walked a 35er and Koentopp started his firing hurler for Buzz Johnson.

The fresh lefty, who had allowed River Grove just five hits in each of the times he had beaten them, fanned the next man to end the inning and retired them in order for the rest of the way.

O'KEEFE AND JOHNSON combined to lose a fine four hitter. River Grove finished the season with a disastrous record of one and an unlucky 13. Des Plaines registered its 12th win in 20 outings.

Slated for Lions Park

Paddock Olympics Next Week

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Perhaps more than anything else, the Paddock Olympics appeals to the versatility of the youth in the area.

In the Paddock Olympics it does not matter if a boy or girl is not a fast runner — because he or she may have a strong throwing arm. It does not matter if a boy or girl is not a good softball player — he may be a good tennis player or she an expert with the jump rope.

Indeed the Paddock Olympics has much to offer in the area of versatility — the same versatility that will be on display at the Paddock Olympics Tuesday and Wednesday of next week at 9 a.m. at Lions Park in Mount Prospect.

Offered in the line of events for the Paddock Olympics are the 50-yard dash, the softball throw, kickball for distance, kickball as a team sport, standing broad jump, jump rope, relays and the softball throw.

Boys and girls between the ages of eight and 13 are eligible to compete in the Olympics with their respective park districts. Entered in the meet are Palatine, Arlington Heights, Hoffman Estates, Salt Creek, Roselle, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove, River Trails, Schaumburg and Hanover Park.

It was learned Tuesday that Itasca would not be an entrant this year and that Hanover Park would be added to the list.

Sam Bonatucci, the chairman and director of the 1969 Paddock Olympics revealed the following information in a letter to the park districts.

All events will start at 9 a.m. so teams are urged to be prompt. All events including tennis will be held at Lions Park.

It was determined that catchers would wear masks in softball but gloves for any of the players would not be mandatory.

All dash placements (first place through fifth) would be determined by times, not heats.

All boys and girls between the ages of eight and 13 who wish to compete in the Paddock Olympics are urged to contact the directors of the park districts who are entered in the Olympics as soon as possible.

Many park districts have already started or made plans to hold tryouts and time trials for their respective teams so there is not much time left for a youngster to earn a spot on the team.

It has to be some kind of South District American Legion baseball record.

After playing ten and one-half innings of scoreless ball Tuesday evening at Maine South, Arlington Heights and Park Ridge Red met Wednesday evening at Recreation Park to decide a winner.

And you know what had to happen, don't you? Yep, Heights and the Reds played to another extra inning tie ballgame. This time Park Ridge Red took a commanding 2-0 lead early in the game only to have Heights score twice in the eighth to knot the score. And that was all the scoring in the game as the two squads battled to tie.

out of the tenth before darkness forced the game to go down as another tie.

It HAS TO BE the first time in the series' playoff tournament that two teams have shown up two games in a row, and a winner was still not decided.

Heights and the Reds met yesterday afternoon at Maine South to see if they could finally decide a winner. If yesterday's game also ended in a tie, then the winner was decided by a coin toss. If one of the teams finally did manage to clinch a decision, then it will play tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. in the local will play today at 7:00 against either Wheeling or Des Plaines.

PARK RIDGE DREW first blood in the game, collecting single runs in the fourth and fifth on Harkins' strike. Randy Condon, the first runner when Dave Perryman doubled with one man down and following in infield out. Red pitcher Gary Posschl fired a single down the first base line. The second fly, when Dave Condon drove from the mound in favor of Tim Bokelmann, came in the field when Tim Bokelmann reached on a bunt, clearing the way for back-to-back singles.

Heights' inning while left to a run and two men were out in the fourth before they could see Posschl for any runs. But when Dave Condon reached first on a check, it was single, followed by Jack Bunkle, who came up to infield. A period ball advanced the runners a base, and then a ground ball to first base powder, a first fall to the center, and a back home run.

BOOKEMANN HAD a chance to win his own game, then, but popped up for the third out. And it was time to score in the tenth. Heights was unable to put any more runs on the cross home plate and the game was called a tie with neither team scoring.

Heights' Condon pitched four and one-third innings, giving up both runs, five hits and two walks, earning five. Bokelmann pitched five and two-thirds, allowing three hits, no runs, and three walks, earning three. Posschl went to the mound in the eighth, giving up one hit and one walk while striking out three.

Heights Netmen Near League Title

The Arlington Heights Park District entry in the Lighthouse Tennis League claimed at least a share of the league title in the 10 and under class and clinched the crown in the 14 and under class with a pair of victories last week.

The two classes claim a double victory over Tennaqua and Barrington Bth and Tennis Club to remain undefeated this season, winning in the 14-year old class, 12 and 5-0, and in the 10-year old class, 9-2 and 1-2.

Against Tennaqua Heights found itself in trouble in the 10-year old class when Tennaqua claimed the first two singles matches. But then Jeff Seeger and Mark Wegg claimed victories in third and fourth singles to knot the score at two all. And the doubles combination of Jon Devey and Bob Stubing won the rubber match and the meet for Arlington with a 6-1 7-5 victory.

In 14-and-under competition against Tennaqua, Doug Meyer led off with a win at first singles but Clare Gates was beaten at second. Nancy Skarzynski won third singles, but again Tennaqua evened the score with a win at fourth. But John Walsworth and Doug Scott came through for Heights with a victory at doubles to win the match.

Hosting Barrington, Arlington Heights had a much easier time of it, winning all but two matches.

Bob Zimmack led off in 10-year old singles with a victory, but Dana Morken then fell at second singles. Bob Stubing also fell at third singles, but Jeff Seeger followed up with a win at fourth. And again the doubles team pulled the match out of the fire. Bob Bauer and Jon Devey eluding a 6-1 6-2 win.

But in 14-year old competition it was all Arlington Heights, as Nancy Skarzynski, Jim Merkel, Doug Meyer and Clare Gates all claimed singles wins, and Doug Scott and Mike Skarzynski followed up with a win at doubles.

Hoffman Race Taking Shape

Shaffer Springs and Bartholomew are currently in a hot battle for first place in the Hoffman Estates Park District Softball League. Both teams are getting close competition from the rest of the league as well.

Shaffer Springs and Bartholomew have 10 records, and Schaumburg Lions position is right behind at 20. Diamond Cue has a 2-1 record and still is in the running.

Diamond Cue won the first ball competition with a 1-0 record. Schaumburg Lions position on and Shaffer Springs were 5-1. Schaumburg Lions were 2-3. Bartholomew was 2-4. Hough was 1-4 and the Hoffman Fire Dept. and the Hoffman Jaycees were 1-5.

The standings for the second half season are:

	W	L
Shaffer Springs	5	0
Bartholomew	5	0
Schaumburg Lions	2	0
Diamond Cue	2	1
Hoffman Jaycees	1	2
Schaumburg Jaycees	0	2
Hoffman Fire Dept.	0	5
Hough	0	5

Fremd Wins, Ties, Loses on Diamond

Fremd's summer baseball team had a 1-1 record in last week's action while preparing for the upcoming Northwest Division summer baseball tournament.

Fremd lost to Barrington 3-2 when three Viking errors hurt the cause of pitcher Tommy Bruns in the seventh inning. Fremd had an opportunity to score in the seventh when the Vikings had runners on second and third but failed.

Addison Trail and Fremd battled to a 1-1 tie as Fremd's Mark Wicklund pitched an outstanding ball game, according to Viking coach Gary Kraft. Wicklund pitched nine innings in the extra frame contest. Both teams were tied at 0-0 in the ninth when each scored once.

Fremd fell behind 6-1 to Prospect but rallied to come back and win the game 7-6.

Fremd's record is now 3-3 in the conference and 9-4 overall.

THE MORE CHEVYS WE SELL . . . THE LESS YOU PAY! AND THAT PUTS THE DISTANCE BETWEEN US AND COMPETITION.

We put a lot of cars on the road (one out of every four cars you'll see is a Chevy). So we can stretch our profits thinner — taking a little bit less on each car we sell. And we make it up in volume. Our volume saves you money. That's simple economics. You can afford the luxury extras in a Chevy, for what you'd pay for a stripped down model somewhere else. The competition can't beat Chevy. They can't even come near our volume prices. Only we cut the price before you start to deal.

Chick Evans Amateur Set for White Pines

An impressive field of 115 players will tee off on Monday July 28 at 7:30 a.m. for the championship of the 14th Annual Chick Evans Amateur Golf Tournament to be held at the White Pines Golf Club, Benewah.

It will include members of the Rich Cup Team: Dave Lind, Ace Ellis and Bob Auer. The National Public Links qualifiers: George Casano, Jim Waring and Herb Fickisch. Other champions: Winson Luchick, 1968 Chicago Amateur; Gerald Warner, 1968 Tribune All Star; Al Ogr, 1968 Chick Evans Amateur; and Harry M. Alto, winner of many local events.

Also included in the field are Bill Bailey, member of the U.S. Naval Academy Golf Team; Rick Sutor, 1967 Indiana Junior Golf Champion; and Tim Miley and Jerry Poiran, members of the Fresno State Golf Team.

Chick Evans, who was 79 years old July 1, will play on Monday, July 28, teeing off at 11:30 a.m. The public is invited to watch Chick play as this will be his only public appearance as a player.

After 36 holes of qualifying Monday and Tuesday, July 28 and July 29, the low 100 and ties will compete in flights as follows: low 10 and ties in Championship — next 30 and ties in First Flight — next 30 and ties in Second Flight. Final standings in the flights will be determined on the basis of the 72 holes.

Those who don't qualify in the top 100 will compete in a 36-hole seven clubs competition on the final two days. The event is a throwback to 1916 when Chick Evans won the U.S. Open with a record low total of 288 and only used seven clubs.

The purpose of the Evans Tournaments is to finance at present scholarships ($500.00 grants) for worthy and needy boys from the Chicago Boys Clubs.

There will be no defending champion as the 1968 Champion, David Huske, did not enter the tournament.

BROKEN-FIELD MANEUVER was a part of the action Monday as football took the spotlight in Arlington Heights Park District summer program. It's not too early to start thinking about football and these youngsters have put aside their baseball gloves — at least for this day.

Prospect Outlasts Elk Grove, 2-1

Elk Grove and Prospect two teams on the bottom of the standings in the North West Division of the Summer Baseball League fought long and hard in a recent game at the Grove field with the Knights coming out on top 2-1.

The game which was scheduled for Prospect but was moved to the Grove because of a muddy field saw the first run not come home in the fifth for the Knights on a bases loaded squeeze bunt.

Tom Strong put down the perfect tap sending Mike Musial across and keeping the bases full. Then loser Gordon Hollywood lost the next batter — Brad Doyle — to a base on balls to force home the eventual deciding run.

In the final frame the Grenadiers tallied their only run to spoil Bill Thurnhoffer shutout. Scott Pruitt reached on an error stole second, moved to third on a ground out and came home on a wild pitch.

Hollywood who went all the way, allowed just three hits and Thurnhoffer, who was starting his first game of the season, spun a fine four hitter.

Palatine Swim

Team Defeated

Traveling to Niles for their fourth swim meet of the season the Palatine Swim Team was defeated by the score of 284-236.

The 100 yard freestyle relay for the 8 and under girls kept the undefeated record Susan Winslow, Nancy Nesvig, Eve Schmidt and Tracey Hibbs swam for the victory. Ted for the 25 yard breaststroke win was Miss Hibbs and Miss Nesvig.

The big winners in the meet were the 9 and 10 year olds, having a first place winner in each of their events. Deanne Joseph won the 50 yard freestyle and 50 yard breaststroke, Judy Gran the 50 yard backstroke and the 25 yard butterfly. Chris Burbidge, Laura Clotfelter Deanne Joseph and Judy Gran comprised the 200 yard freestyle relay.

The boys in the 9 and 10 age group fared as well having Craig Hesch, Don Wise, Chris Cherekos and Chuck Cherekos taking the 200 yard freestyle relay win. Hesch came in first in the 50 yard breaststroke, Chuck Cherekos, 50 yard freestyle and Tom Gran, 50 yard backstroke and 25 yard butterfly.

Jill Molo was the winner for the 11 and 12 year old girls taking the 50 yard breaststroke event.

Beth Burbidge, Barbara Baeten, Kathy Marrs and Meninae Scott came in with an easy win in the 200 yard freestyle relay for the 13 and 14 year old girls.

Ross Peterson helped chalk up some of the scores for the 13 and 14 year old boys by taking first place in two events, 50 yard breaststroke and 100 yard individual medley.

Fifteen and over boys had Mark Fleming winning the 200 yard freestyle, Rusty Schnort the 200 yard individual medley and 100 yard breaststroke.

Dryden School

Heads Leagues

Dryden School has been enjoying a lot of success recently in Arlington Heights Park District activities.

Dryden is leading in two of three softball leagues sponsored by the park, and also won a recent touch football game against Pioneer Park.

The football score was Dryden 17, Pioneer 0. The winners points came on touchdowns by Rich Wilson and Brent Clark, an extra point by Wilson and two safeties.

For Paddock Tourney

Area Golf Teams Face Countdown

There isn't much time left for Paddock area golf teams to get into first place in their respective leagues.

Any team not on that top perch by a week from tomorrow (Aug. 2) will be on the outside looking in when the 20th annual Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap golf tournament is held Sunday, Aug. 17.

Entry forms, which have been mailed to 24 twilight leagues, should be returned to Paddock offices as soon as the Aug. 2 first place team has been determined.

This year's tourney will be held at Palatine Hills Golf Course with the first tee-offs at 9 a.m. Entry fee is $24, with no other costs to golfers. Each league will be represented by four golfers and one alternate, who must submit their five best scores for the season so that handicaps can be calculated.

Awards for this annual meet, which always features some of the area's top amateur golfers, include a large traveling team trophy, individual awards, and a dozen top-flight golf balls for low individual net.

Features added last year are special prizes for longest drive and closest to the pin, a communications center where golfers can sit and refresh, watching the scores develop, and participation patches to everyone.

Also being added this year are what tournament director Robert Paddock terms more meaningful individual awards: engraved silver ash trays instead of the medals of the past which often rest in desk drawers and rarely are seen.

All leagues are eligible which compete at courses within the direct area served by Paddock newspapers, providing such leagues have at least half of their membership living within the area, and providing such leagues have four or five-man teams with four competing.

Last year's tournament at Indian Lakes Country Club in Bloomington was won by Russo Flowers of the Old Orchard Scratch league.

Individual records are held by Len Arnold, with a low gross of 71 in 1955, and Clarke Robinson, with a low net of 73-9-64 in 1960.

Leagues invited to participate this year and their home courses are:

White Pines — Zenith League.
Thunderbird — Arlington Twilight league

Bartlett Hills — Roselle Monday league.
Buffalo Grove — Friday Men's league.
Palatine Hills — Arlington Church, Jewel Tea Co., Chemplex, Pure Oil Monday and Pure Oil Tuesday leagues.

Rob Roy — St. James Holy Name, Tuesday night, St. Alphonsus leagues.

Mount Prospect — Monday Twilight, Tuesday Twilight, Northwest Suburban YMCA, St. Raymond's, Friday Twilight leagues.

Golden Acres — Hoffman Men's league.
Arlington — Friday Twilight, Elks leagues.
Old Orchard — St. Colette, VFW, Scratch leagues.

Rob Roy Tuesday Golf Race

Still Has 7 Teams Running

Quite a race is developing in the Rob Roy Tuesday Night League as the top seven teams are within nine and a half points of each other as the result of last week's play.

Wheeling Bank, which was maintaining a fairly nice lead, was tied by Howard Metal (No. 15), and thus saw its lead cut to one-half point as Galie Drywall bumped Foss Engineering, 54-42. The setback dropped the Foss team into third place.

In close action C. P. Floor and Tile topped Galie Plastering, 41-24; Barton St. U. Realtors tied Webber Paint, 32-31; Drake Lites edged Team No. 11, 4-3; Al's Landscaping nipped Practical, 4-3; and Joe Di nearly blanked L-Nor Cleaners, 6-2.

It was a tough night for low gross shooting at the Prospect Heights course as a 39 took the honors. Frantell of L-Nor Cleaners turned the trick but his 33 net total didn't cop the low net honors.

The low netter for the evening was R. Johnson of Barton St. U. Realtors with a sparkling 30-12 gross.

Registering birdies and the holes they see them on were these linksters:

Statz, Galie Plastering (No. 2), Stavros, Galie Plastering, and Kepka, Howard Metal (No. 1), Galie Drywall (No. 1), Strack, Practical Tool, J. Smith, Al's Landscaping, and Vrabec, Howard Metal (No. 11), Vandewedge, alternate on Galie Plastering, McLean Wheeling Bank (No. 13), Wollack, alternate on Galie Drywall (No. 15), Vrabec, Howard Metal (No. 16), Ackerman, Team No. 11 (No. 17), and Vought, C. P. Floor & Tile, and Zamini, Team No. 11 (No. 18).

Presently leading the alternates is Fortman with a 12½ total, one and a half points over his closest rival.

Cutbacks Get Preference

WOOD DALE children got a first hand look at how to put out fires from the Wood Dale Volunteer Fire Department last week. The event was sponsored by the Wood Dale

Park District as part of its summer recreation program which has been a roaring success, according to Pat Reedy, summer director.

(See related story in Sports Section.)

Possibly the shortest board meeting in the history of School Dist. 100 was held Tuesday night for the express purpose of "establishing the present status of curtailments, particularly in light of the incoming state aid," according to Board Pres. James DiOrto.

The Bensenville meeting, called to order at 8 p.m., was adjourned before 9. Members discussed the question, "Should we spend the state aid figure of $165,000 on reinstating curtailments or on reducing the deficit?"

Board member Wili Davidson took the stand that the money should be used to replace as many curtailments as possible. "Let's give it back to the kids," he said.

Other board members were concerned about the growing deficit which has plagued Fenton High School for five years now.

SINCE 1964, the deficit has increased by an average $100,000 every year. The total deficit of the district as of June 30 was approximately $685,000.

Business Mgr. Kenneth Carroll estimated that next year's costs will rise by about $143,000. This figure is arrived at with the $165,000 already figured into the budget.

DiOrto pointed out that the state aid will just about offset that inflationary cost, meaning that if the money is used in the curtailed budget, it will not even substantially reduce the deficit, but simply avoid increasing it.

THE DISCUSSION was carried on at two levels: The subjective argument of who should benefit first from the state aid monies and the monetary argument of just how long the district can continue to go in debt before it goes broke.

Davidson's point was: If the community had passed the 21-cent tax rate increase in February, curtailments would have been put into effect in the first place.

It has been estimated that a successful referendum would bring in $175,000 of additional income.

"In the past, this board has gone on record as thinking of the kids first and worrying about the debt later. Why the reversal now?" Davidson asked.

DIORTO, WHO SAID HE was against making curtailments in the past, pointed out that the projected deficit will rise to more than $700,000 by June 30, 1970.

The estimated legal borrowing power of the district for next year is $850,000. If the $165,000 from state aid was taken out of the budget and used to reinstate curtailments, the district would be in debt next year by about $903,000.

"This would put us right on the brink of financial disaster," said DiOrto. "We must be just as concerned about September of 1970 as we are about September of 1969."

DiOrto added, "Until the citizens support us with additional funds through a referendum, we must project into the future. As things stand now, we'll be lucky to get by with the presently curtailed program in 1970."

ANOTHER POINT brought out by member Morton Wright was that the deficit costs the district between $3000 and $50,000 a year. These are two kinds of costs. Those based on revenue lost from money not invested and those from interest paid on money borrowed.

Davidson also brought up the possibility of a successful referendum this fall.

"We must get the facts of this thing across to the citizens," Davidson said.

The board finally agreed to leave the state aid money in the present budget and proceed with the curtailments as planned.

The board also heard a plan by Frank Novaty, athletic department head, to reinstate freshmen athletics without affecting the amount of money which the department must cut back.

Open Water Bids

Good news was received by the Wood Dale Village Council last week when the opening of bids on its major water extension project found four out of the seven firms submitting proposals under the engineer's estimate of $603,947.

Awarding of the bid will be made during a special meeting of the council at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the village hall. The special session will also include the council's decision on awarding a new scavenger contract.

Submitting bids on the water extension project were J. Marich & Sons of Summit, $535,489; Vincent Di Vito of Bloomingdale, $574,946; Clearbrook Plumbing Co., Mount Prospect, $594,827; Scully, Hunter and Scully, Norridge, $597,734; Sam Cerniglia Co., Melrose Park, $614,889; William Ziegler & Son, Round Lake, $630,088, and Santucci Construction Co., Skokie, $689,422.

In other business, the council set a special meeting date with the Wood Dale Park District for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 12 to review the results of a recent survey conducted by McFadden and Evers, Ltd., of Winnetka.

The council also —Awarded ribbon citations to participants in Wood Dale's first July 4 parade and program activities.

—Named William S. Lawrence and Associates of Chicago as its planning consultant to develop a master plan for Wood Dale.

Accepted the recommendation of its sewer board to defer a joint sewage treatment plant operation with the Village of Addison relative to the Addison-Brookwood Country Club planned multifamily development.

—Named A. G. Langfield of 429 N. Oak Ave., Wood Dale, as the winner of the village seal design contest. Langfield will receive a $75 savings bond which will be presented at the Aug. 4 meeting of the council.

Woman Fights Sidewalk with Broom in Hand

by RICHARD BARTON

The inevitable finally happened in Roselle this week. Someone took a broom in hand and stood firm against the forced installation of sidewalks.

I will go to jail before I allow them to tear up my lawn and put in something that is not wanted or needed," Mrs. Robert Finn, 201 S. Prospect, said.

Wednesday morning she chased Village Engineer J. Richard Koehler off her property with a broom and took his 30-foot cloth measuring tape, according to Roselle police reports.

Koehler called police in and they told Mrs. Finn she would have to give the tape back or face arrest for theft. She gave back the tape on the condition Koehler would go measure somewhere else.

KOEHLER SAID Thursday he was through with his surveying and it was "just a little problem."

I have my tape back and the lady was just upset like some others get occasionally," he said. "The entire incident was over in 10 minutes. Further procedures are not my concern."

Mrs. Finn said Thursday she didn't think the village was going about it in the right way. She suggested they should have had a vote to see how the people felt.

"They (the village board) just decide everybody is going to get sidewalks, so they say here it is, come up with a couple of thousand dollars or else," she said.

Mrs. Finn has two corner lots at 202 and 201 Prospect. The lot at 202 Prospect has a sidewalk installed eight years ago when the house was built. It is uncertain if that sidewalk will be torn out or not.

MRS. FINN SAID she has two answers from the village on whether the existing sidewalk goes or stays. It is in good repair, but the grade may not be right, she said.

Village Atty. Craig O. Larson told the Register Thursday that as a general rule the village can compel the installation through a special taxation or special assessment.

Mrs. Finn said she won't pay for anything, including any assessment or fine.

"They will just have to throw me in jail," she said. "That would be their only recourse if they force it on me."

Larson said he didn't think the village would throw anyone in jail, but he did say he wasn't informed about the particulars.

MRS. FINN SAID she has called the neighbors, some of whom are getting sidewalks installed now and hasn't found much sympathy. One neighbor will lose a large tree, she added.

"If the village says it has the right to that strip of property out front or own it, let them pay for the sidewalks."

She went one further and instructed her son not to cut the grass which belongs to the village. It leaves about 10 feet from

Shelf Trunk Line

A proposed county trunk line from the Glen Ellyn Heights plant was dismissed as conjecture by the Bloomingdale Village Board Wednesday night, as it voted final agreement on the addendum to the Hoffman-Rosner annexation.

The addendum contained three points not previously put in writing. First, the agreement that the company will pay, in advance, $20,000 worth of building permit fees.

Second, the company will loop the east and west water systems, and, finally, the revised version of a paragraph which requires the village to serve only land it has annexed with sewage and water facilities.

BEFORE THE agreement was approved, Robert Meyers, village president, brought up the proposed county line.

The addendum and the entire annexation agreement is contingent on the company's ability and promise to build a 600,000-gallon sewage treatment plant.

"What happens if we get the county

trunk line?" Meyers asked.

"That's a matter for this governing body to decide. We are in the process of proceeding in an agreement we said we'd proceed in," board member Wally Geils said.

"I MERELY WANTED to alert the board that this plan exists," Meyers said. He told the board that he had been notified by Paul Ronske concerning the work being done on the line which would be financed by the county's general fund.

"I am fully aware of the work being done on this line and I think this is the time to resolve it," Meyers said.

"It is resolved," Geils answered. "We have no recourse, but to act in the best interests of Bloomingdale. There's no point in conjecture about what the county will do."

Hoffman-Rosner's sewage plans have tentative approval from the Illinois Sanitary Water Board and need the final okay before construction begins.

BRING UP THE ladder, goes the command as Wood Dale Park District youngsters are shown how a microphone is used in fighting fires. Commands are needed to let the men know what is going on, the fireman said. The "Day with a Fireman" was part of the summer park program. Other special event days include a day with a policeman, dress-up pirate day and trips.

Cutbacks Get Preference

WOOD DALE children got a first hand look at how to put out fires from the Wood Dale Volunteer Fire Department last week. The event was sponsored by the Wood Dale

Park District as part of its summer recreation program which has been a roaring success, according to Pat Reedy, summer director.

(See related story in Sports Section.)

Possibly the shortest board meeting in the history of School Dist. 100 was held Tuesday night for the express purpose of "establishing the present status of curtailments, particularly in light of the incoming state aid," according to Board Pres. James DiOrio.

The Bensenville meeting, called to order at 8 p.m., was adjourned before 9. Members discussed the question, "Should we spend the state aid figure of $165,000 on reinstating curtailments or on reducing the deficit?"

Board member Will Davidson took the stand that the money should be used to replace as many curtailments as possible. "Let's give it back to the kids," he said.

Other board members were concerned about the growing deficit which has plagued Fenton High School for five years now.

SINCE 1964, the deficit has increased by an average $100,000 every year. The total deficit of the district as of June 30 was approximately $685,000.

Business Mgr. Kenneth Carroll estimated that next year's costs will rise by about $143,000. This figure is arrived at with the $165,000 already figured into the budget.

DiOrio pointed out that the state aid will just about offset that inflationary cost, meaning that if the money is used in the curtailed budget, it will not even substantially reduce the deficit, but simply avoid increasing it.

THE DISCUSSION was carried on at two levels: The subjective argument of who should benefit first from the state aid monies and the monetary argument of just how long the district can continue to go in debt before it goes broke.

Davidson's point was: If the community had passed the 21-cent tax rate increase in February, curtailments would have been put into effect in the first place.

It has been estimated that a successful referendum would bring in $175,000 of additional income.

"In the past, this board has gone on record as thinking of the kids first and worrying about the debt later. Why the reversal now?" Davidson asked.

DIORIO, WHO SAID HE was against making curtailments in the past, pointed out that the projected deficit will rise to more than $700,000 by June 30, 1970.

The estimated legal borrowing power of the district for next year is $850,000. If the $165,000 from state aid was taken out of the budget and used to reinstate curtailments, the district would be in debt next year by about $685,000.

"This would put us right on the brink of financial disaster," said DiOrio. "We must be just as concerned about September of 1970 as we are about September of 1969."

DiOrio added, "Until the citizens support us with additional funds through a referendum, we must project into the future. As things stand now, we'll be lucky to get by with the presently curtailed program in 1970."

ANOTHER POINT brought out by member Morton Wright was that the deficit costs the district between $30,000 and $50,000 a year. These are two kinds of costs. Those based on revenue lost from money not invested and those from interest paid on money borrowed.

Davidson also brought up the possibility of a successful referendum this fall.

"We must get the facts of this thing across to the citizens," Davidson said.

The board finally agreed to leave the state aid money in the present budget and proceed with the curtailments as planned.

The board also heard a plan by Frank Novatny, athletic department head, to reinstate freshmen athletics without affecting the amount of money which the department must cut back.

Open Water Bids

Good news was received by the Wood Dale Village Council last week when the opening of bids on its major water extension project found four out of the seven firms submitting proposals under the engineer's estimate of $603,847.

Awarding of the bid will be made during a special meeting of the council at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the village hall. The special session will also include the council's decision on awarding a new scavenger contract.

Submitting bids on the water extension project were J. Marich & Sons of Summit, $535,489; Vincent Di Vito of Bloomingdale, $574,946; Clearbrook Plumbing Co., Mount Prospect, $594,827; Scully, Hunter and Scully, Norridge, $597,734; Sam Cerniglia Co., Melrose Park, $614,889; William Ziegler & Son, Round Lake, $630,088, and Santucci Construction Co., Skokie, $689,422.

In other business, the council set a special meeting date with the Wood Dale Park District for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 12 to review the results of a recent survey conducted by McFadden and Everly, Ltd. of Winnetka.

The council also:

—Awarded ribbon citations to participants in Wood Dale's first July 4 parade and program activities.

—Named William S. Lawrence and Associates of Chicago as its planning consultant to develop a master plan for Wood Dale.

Accepted the recommendation of its sewer board to defer a joint sewage treatment plant operation with the Village of Addison relative to the Addison-Brookwood Country Club planned multifamily development.

—Named A. G. Langfield of 429 N. Oak Ave., Wood Dale, as the winner of the village seal design contest. Langfield will receive a $75 savings bond which will be presented at the Aug. 4 meeting of the council.

Woman Fights Sidewalk with Broom in Hand

by RICHARD BARTON

The inevitable finally happened in Roselle this week. Someone took a broom in hand and stood firm against the forced installation of sidewalks.

I will go to jail before I allow them to tear up my lawn and put in something that no one wants or needs," Mrs. Robert Finn, 201 S. Prospect, said.

Wednesday morning she chased Village Engineer J. Richard Koehler off her property with a broom and took his 50-foot cloth measuring tape, according to Roselle police reports.

Koehler called police in and they told Mrs. Finn she would have to give the tape back or face arrest for theft. She gave back the tape on the condition Koehler would go measure somewhere else.

KOEHLER SAID Thursday he was through with his surveying and it was "just a little problem."

"I have my tape back and the lady was just upset like some others get occasionally," he said. "The entire incident was over in 10 minutes. Further procedures are not my concern."

Mrs. Finn said Thursday she didn't think the village was going about it in the right way. She suggested they should have had a vote to see how the people felt.

"They (the village board) just decide everybody is going to get sidewalks, so they say here it is, come up with a couple of thousand dollars or else," she said.

Mrs. Finn has two corner lots at 202 and 201 Prospect. The lot at 202 Prospect has a sidewalk installed eight years ago when the house was built. It is uncertain if that sidewalk will be torn out or not.

MRS. FINN SAID she has two answers from the village on whether the existing sidewalk goes or stays. It is in good repair, but the grade may not be right, she said.

Village Atty. Craig O. Larson told the Register Thursday that as a general rule the village can compel the installation through a special taxation or special assessment.

Mrs. Finn said she won't pay for anything, including any assessment or fine.

"They will just have to throw me in jail," she said. "That would be their only recourse if they force it on me."

Larson said he didn't think the village would throw anyone in jail, but he did say he wasn't informed about the particulars.

MRS. FINN SAID she has called the neighbors, some of whom are getting sidewalks installed now and hasn't found much sympathy. One neighbor will lose a large tree, she added.

"If the village says it has the right to that strip of property out front or own it, let them pay for the sidewalks."

She went one further and instructed her son not to cut the grass which belongs to the village. It leaves about 10 feet from

Shelf Trunk Line

A proposed county trunk line from the Glen Ellyn Heights plant was dismissed as conjecture by the Bloomingdale Village Board Wednesday night, as it voted final agreement on the addendum to the Hoffman-Rosner annexation.

The addendum contained three points not previously put in writing. First, the agreement that the company will pay, in advance, $20,000 worth of building permit fees.

Second, the company will loop the east and west water systems, and, finally, the revised version of a paragraph which requires the village to serve only land it has annexed with sewage and water facilities.

BEFORE THE agreement was approved, Robert Meyers, village president, brought up the proposed county line.

The addendum and the entire annexation agreement is contingent on the company's ability and promise to build a 600,000-gallon sewage treatment plant.

"What happens if we get the county

trunk line?" Meyers asked.

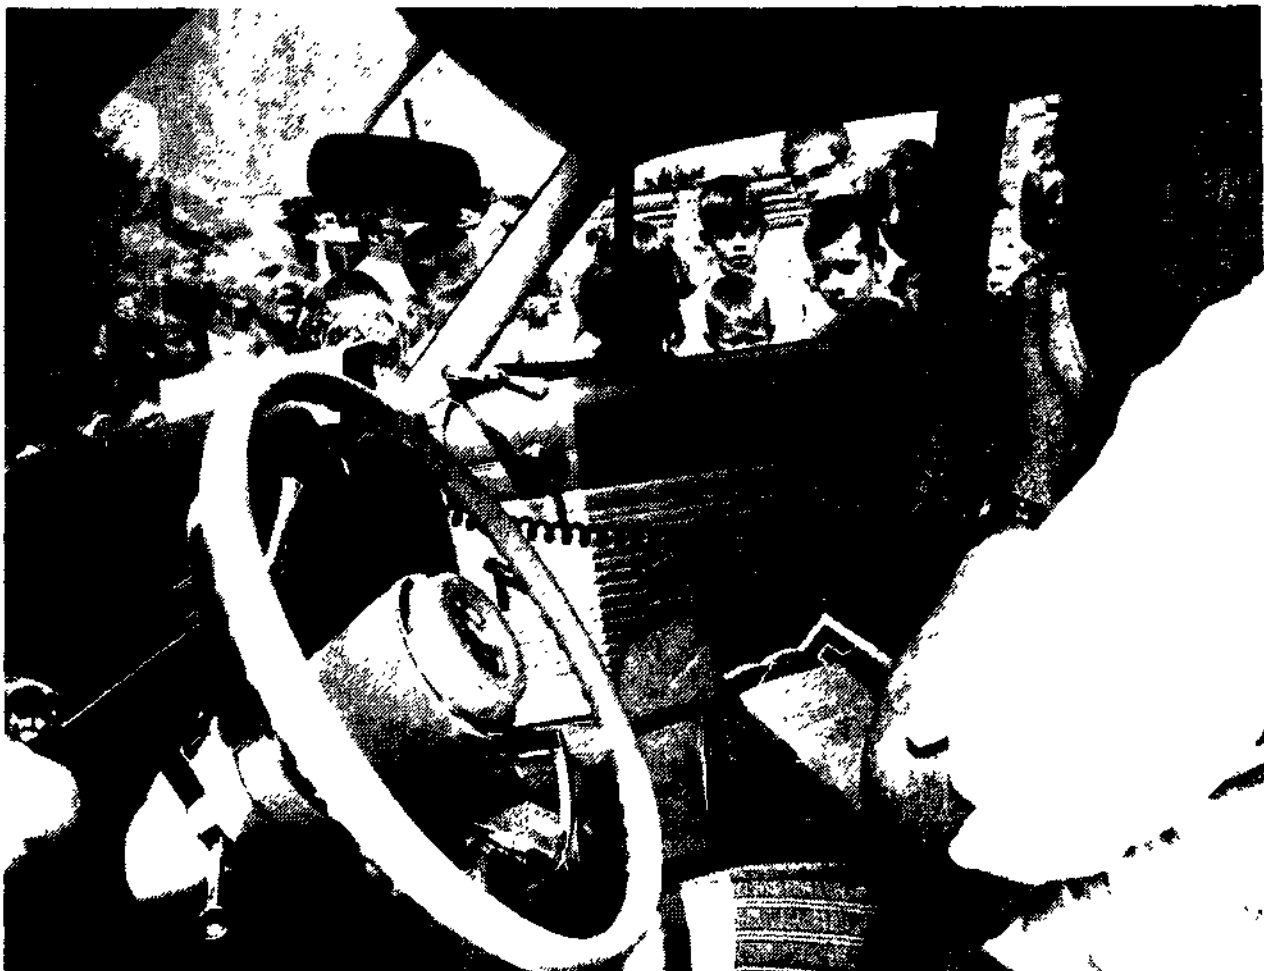

"That's a matter for this governing body to decide. We are in the process of proceeding in an agreement we said we'd proceed in," board member Wally Geils said.

"I MERELY WANTED to alert the board that this plan exists," Meyers said. He told the board that he had been notified by Paul Rosner concerning the work being done on the line which would be financed by the county's general fund.

"I am fully aware of the work being done on this line and I think this is the time to resolve it," Meyers said.

"It is resolved," Geils answered. "We have no recourse, but to act in the best interests of Bloomingdale. There's no point in conjecture about what the county will do."

Hoffman-Rosner's sewage plans have tentative approval from the Illinois Sanitary Water Board and need the final okay before construction begins.

BRING UP THE ladder, goes the command as Wood Dale Park District youngsters are shown how a microphone is used in fighting fires. Commands are needed to let the men know what is going on, the fireman said. The "Day with a Fireman" was part of the summer park program. Other special event days include a day with a policeman, dress-up pirate day and trips.

Like many municipalities, the village business in Itasca is either relatively quiet or blowing up a storm.

In the past few months, Will Nottke and some of the trustees are having their problems.

First it was the failure of an embankment during construction of the lagoon as part of the local sewage treatment plant improvement program.

This triggered a revision in plans which required changing the slope of the lagoon which in turn resulted in new policy changes from the Illinois Sanitary Water Board.

THE LATEST EDIT from the state was that municipalities would be required to install aeration equipment by 1972 and as long as Itasca is revising its plans for concurrence by the sanitary board, it might as well meet the new requirements now.

This resulted in increased costs along with new negotiations with the contractor making the improvements. In turn, the village and the contractor have sat waiting for months now waiting for a special pump which has never arrived.

The latest word is that the manufacturer has a strike on its hands and Lord only knows when the needed pump will ever be delivered.

Next up was the general municipal election which found a recount returning one of the incumbents after it was first thought he had been defeated due to a last-minute write-in campaign.

When the smoke had cleared away and the newly elected officials were to be administered the oath of office, the new board found much to its surprise that the top vote getter and elected clerk of the village refused to be sworn in office.

NOW COMES THE rubarb on the adopted ordinance for the $1 million sanitary sewer project on Prospect and Thorn-dale reaching west of I-90 to Route 53 and the Itasca industrial park of Central Manufacturing District (CMD).

After nine months of negotiation with CMD, the ink had not been dry on the signing of the complicated documents when objectors filed a petition seeking a referendum on the proposal.

This meant that the ordinance would remain "in limbo" until the outcome of the referendum election. Meanwhile, CMD was approached to carry the entire ball, but with the stipulation that the village would still hold title to the sewer.

Now this has implications that both parties are not so sure this is the answer or that a mutual agreement will be reached.

With construction slated immediately for the new interstate expressway which will create some inconveniences for local motorists and residents until completion, there is no telling what further bottlenecks will occur on Irving Park Road, which already is a nightmare during rush hours and weekends.

STILL HIDING in the wings is the battle for a common boundary pact between Itasca and Wood Dale and the threat that if some agreement is not reached soon, Elk Grove Village may gobble up what everyone has wanted these many years.

Now we have the running controversy on no parking signs on Irving Park Road in the area of the spanking new bank, the lumber company, a tavern and coffee shop, let alone what to do about a new gasoline service station where the old Itasca Hardware store now stands.

I guess who controls the now defunct "Fuzz Box" has been settled between the village and the local park district, but there is always the problem of what to do about the use of DDT in spraying diseased elms and its toll on wildlife.

I don't know fellows — is it worth all that trouble just to be elected for another two-or-four-year term?

Village Hit by Cantrell

by JUDY MORRIS

"They're hurting me financially. I just don't think it's fair to hold someone up like this."

That is Dave Cantrell's argument with the village of Bensenville over a piece of property located on George Street east of York Road.

"We've told him we're interested in buying the property, yet he keeps filling that land illegally with combustible materials and junk."

That's the village's beef with Dave Cantrell's plans include zoning for R-4, multi-Sloan.

The property in question is about seven acres of low level flood plain. The village has long-range plans to create a water retention basin on the property while Cantrell's plans including zoning for R-4, multiple-family dwellings.

"THE LAWYERS SAY that legally I'm doing nothing wrong, so I'm going to continue to fill and if they try to arrest me, I'll sue them or something," Cantrell told the Register Wednesday.

Cantrell said he has had the land appraised at $40,000 but Sloan said the land is actually worth much less. That's why the village is having a separate appraisal made, Sloan said.

Sloan added he feels the land is not suitable for building due to the low level and the fact that water drains down onto it. "AT LEAST 50 per cent of the land is bad soil but the location is so valuable, it's worth the cost of pilings and post-tension slabs," Cantrell said Wednesday.

"The location is what counts, not what the land consists of," Cantrell added. The acreage in dispute is less than a mile from the Brentwood East subdivision where houses are selling for more than $50,000.

Cantrell bought the land in January and began filling it soon after that. In February, he said, the village asked him to quit dumping and he complied "because they indicated then they were interested in buying it."

Since then, Cantrell said, he has offered several times to sell the village the land and even offered once to give them half of it.

"But all I get is promises," Cantrell declared.

ONE QUESTION involved is the village's right to demand anything of Cantrell since the property lies outside village limits.

Cantrell said the county gave him oral permission "to do what I wanted with the land."

John McFarland of the county building and zoning department said the county's only concern is that Cantrell abide by the building code which regulates the type of fill used.

"The village is threatening me," Cantrell said. "They are saying sell to us or we'll stop you from building. They have more power than I do."

SLOAN SAID HE received authorization from the board of trustees at the July 17 meeting to proceed with appraisals on the land. Delays concerning the land occurred because of the election in April of a new board, Sloan said.

Village Pres. John Varble and Village Administrator Harold Koehler were out of town Wednesday and unavailable for comment.

Seek Endorsements

Even though political endorsements can be given with impunity for constitutional convention candidates both major parties in DuPage County are officially keeping out of the race.

The candidates in the 39th district have not been screened nor even approached by the party committees.

This does not rule out support for various candidates from individual politicians within the district. Several candidates have indicated that they will have the cooperation and help of the senators and representatives of the district.

The candidates however are busy filling out questionnaires from civic organizations that will be endorsing.

The Better Government Association, Illinois Voters' Institute, the League of Women Voters and even the Farm Bureau have sent forms to the candidates.

"The IVI questionnaire is extremely long and involved," Roger A. Schmiege, 301 S. Kenilworth said, "it asks everything under the sun."

Before the suit against Secretary of State, Paul Powell, was dismissed, the candidates, like everyone else were uncertain of where and how they would be placed on the ballot.

William G. Doan, 344 Winthrop St., Elmhurst, who feels that the constitution convention election has been too politically oriented from the beginning, said that "I'm going to carry out a campaign so that people will vote for me no matter where I am on the ballot."

Schmiege hoped that the order of filing would be the precedent set by the courts, or that only the first place slot would be changed. He filed last from the district.

It has been proven statistically, Schmiege noted that the first name on the ballot receives 10 per cent more votes, and that the last name on the ballot receives five per cent more.

The primary election will be held Sept. 23.

Finally, she said, the village may come along in 10 years and tear the sidewalk to put in curbs and sewers.

"Why don't they do it right once and for all," she questioned.

For now, she will wait for the village to take action. She will just keep surveyors and others off her property at any cost. She has no plans to hire an attorney now but will continue her one-woman fight.

County Committees Haggle over Jurisdiction

The jurisdictional issue which in most cases on the county board is about who rules this or that roost cropped up again at this week's session.

Board committees and their chairmen, which number 18, maintain an alert watch over the boundaries of their domains, guarding against the threat of trespass by other committees.

It's the nature of committees in a legislative body to try to arrogate to themselves more power than originally intended or granted. With a body like the DuPage County Board, which has no spelled-out and adopted rules, this can become a problem because an excess of 'no man's land' develops.

So when some member naively inquired during a hot discussion: What are our rules? Pat Saviano, Bloomington Township, replied: We have no rules.

FAILURE TO resolve a jurisdictional difference between the convalescent home committee, Charles Kaelin, West Chicago, chairman, and the planning committee, Frank Bellinger, Wheaton chairman, earlier in the year when both committees were brought together for that purpose resulted in bad feeling over choice of architects. Nothing apparently has been resolved.

Many on the board, including Frank Bellinger, are dissatisfied with Jensen, Halsted and Rummel, architects for the courthouse complex built in the early 1960s. There have been complaints about the new jail. On the other hand, the belief exists that Jensen & Halsted have a strong case as approved architects for future building.

The original agreement, tacitly or otherwise, is said to end so them. Besides it's pretty old stuff around the courthouse that to dump this firm would cost the county a lawsuit and very likely a verdict for the payment of $100,000.

The pro Jensen Halsted people point out that this is the top hospital architects in the nation. This is their specialty, not jails. Then the question arises how did they get the jail job in the first place?

Against this backdrop, the flare-up on the board Tuesday has to be understood.

BELLINGER TURNED in a report of his plan committee which is in charge of planning designing the new county complex on 200 acres of land west of County Lane Road. Architects for this work recommended by his committee though not yet approved by the county board are Graham Anderson, Pritzke and White of Chicago.

Bellinger's report, which he read, mentioned feasibility studies for county home expansion. This infuriated Kaelin who leaped to his feet as soon as Bellinger sat down and pointed out that such studies had been made and action taken by the board in February. He read the resolution adopted by a vote of 26-9 which authorized and directed his committee to proceed with the building of another wing on the Convalescent Home which will provide 100 more beds.

Bellinger quickly listened but made no reply.

The county board said Kaelin, by its official action, has directed our committee to carry out this expansion in response to a growing need in this county. This is our job and our committee has selected architects believed to be best qualified for this work.

KAELIN SAID his committee had confidence in the plan committee and would support its judgment in the work for which it was authorized.

Helen Meyer, Downers Grove, a member of the plan committee later revealed Tuesday by Bellinger she had omitted that she prepared the minutes presented.

"discussed" feasibility studies which may be innocuous but still raises the question of jurisdiction and authority.

Chairman Bellinger even underlines this point and is obviously conscious of it when he said and probably correctly: 'Conditions are changing and what appeared to be the basis for right policy 6 months or a year ago may provide a different picture today.'

There are two questions here and both carry the widest significance: 1) What constitutes official acts of the county board and delegation of authority? How can delegation of authority be superseded? 2) Can the county board rescind its actions when no money has been spent and where the welfare of the people and the cost to the county warrant it?

These seem to be the real issues involved in the growing friction between these two committees. If the county board is operating with no rules perhaps it had better adopt some. Otherwise these embarrassing conflicts are going to continue to pop up and stymie the board's efforts.

Huge Shopping Center OKd

by MARY REIFSCHEIDER
Ready your charge cards, here comes Woodfield Shopping Center.

The Schaumburg shopping center, always described in superlatives, will be under construction Sept. 1 Monday, July 28, and balance work begins and by Oct. 1, steel work will start.

The shopping center, called the largest in the world by developers, will be between Golf, Higgins and Meacham roads and Interstate 90 in eastern Schaumburg Township.

The prime occupants will be Marshall Field, Sears-Roebuck and J. C. Penney. There will be about 100 other shops and land set aside for either expansion or a fourth department store.

AT A PLANS commission meeting Tuesday in Schaumburg, Roman Berendt, project site engineer with National Survey Service, Milwaukee, said Woodfield will be about 2½ times as large as Randhurst in Mount Prospect and 1½ times as large as Yorktown in Elmhurst.

"When it opens, it will be the largest shopping center in the United States."

Berendt said. Tentative completion for the center is spring of 1971.

The center, adjacent to Elk Grove Township, will be within 15 minutes of residents living in the five-township area of Schaumburg, Elk Grove, Palatine, Wheeling and Hanover as well as Northern DuPage County.

The plans commission recommended approval of the preliminary and final plans for the center and the plats for the dedication of Woodfield Road. The recommendation was to be presented to the village board last night.

The shopping center will be under one roof and have basically 2½ levels. Berendt speculated that Sears will be the first to open with one large grand opening following.

FIELDS WILL occupy the portion closest to Golf and I-90, with Sears closest to I-90 and Woodfield Road. Penneys will be opposite Sears. The fourth department store, if it is built, will be opposite Fields. The X-shaped shopping center will be enclosed under a single mall.

Plans show 10,559 parking spaces.

Nick Ramondia, also with National Survey Service, and Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher were present at the plans commission meeting.

The three large owners will develop their own stores with Woodfield Associates developing the mall portion. The Sears and Penneys stores will have auto centers.

The Sears store will have a total of 304,729 square feet; Fields, 316,762 square feet; Penneys, 312,386 square feet; tenant space available for smaller stores, 648,000 square feet on three levels.

RAMONDIA SAID: "The landscaping will be out of this world."

Woodfield is being developed by the team that put up the Oakbrook Center. In addition to the three department stores, the main developer is the Taubman Co., headquartered in Southfield, Mich.

Clean After Cleaning

To avoid a "ring" after using a cleaning fluid, spread a layer of white talcum powder over the whole moist area. Allow to dry a half-hour before brushing off, and the spot and ring should be gone. If it still remains, try steaming the area over a kettle of boiling water.

Still another method of preventing a ring, is to work from the outside edges of the spot toward the center.

To soften a stain that has hardened, rub spot with dab of petroleum jelly.

Serious Problem: The Split-Level Alcoholic

by MURRAY DUBIN
With Photos by Copyright 1968 Padlock Publications

As the martini has become one symbol of suburbia, so has a growing social problem: the suburban alcoholic. In this last of a three-part series (the first two parts ran Monday and Wednesday), Staff Writer Murray Dubin describes the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

It's Joan's turn this week. She's already widened the table, filled the candy dish with mints and borrowed the extra chairs from the people next door.

The girls will be there soon and the card game will start. So will the drinking.

"Playing cards as an excuse to drink is an example of the whole problem out here," said Rev. John Keller, chaplain of the Rehabilitation Center at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

"The superficiality of drinking in the suburbs is unhealthy and leads to more drinking. As income goes up, people drink more, and it becomes a way of life because they can now afford it."

DO THE PRESSURES, those unique suburban pressures that we've all heard about, contribute to alcoholism in the Northwest suburbs?

Reverend Keller feels that the pressures of suburbia are indicative of something else.

"A person may respond to suburban living that way (the alcoholic way), but the question is why did he respond in the manner he did?"

"We still don't know why certain people lose control over alcohol and others don't."

Donald Carlock, executive director of the DuPage Alcoholism Council, has observed that the suburban work addict may very well be the suburban alcoholic.

But Rev. Keller feels that the spouse of the work addict is more likely to become the problem drinker.

Continuing on the subject of spouses,

Rev. Keller remarked, "Twenty per cent of the husbands and wives of alcoholics have severe problems themselves."

Where can such problem drinkers turn for help?

THE REHABILITATION Center for Treatment, Education and Research in Alcoholism at Lutheran General Hospital is one place. It was dedicated on March 7, 1969. The building which houses the new center is the first section of an eventual 15-story rehabilitation center.

"It's highly unusual for a general hospital to have a large alcoholism treatment center," Rev. Keller said.

"Many hospitals won't even admit patients who are diagnosed as alcoholics simply because they don't know what to do with them."

Dr. Robert Love of the American Hospital Association told Padlock Publications that they do have a program to encourage hospitals to start alcoholism centers.

A representative of the Chicago Hospital Council said that his organization has no official stand or opinion on the treatment of alcoholics in Chicago area hospitals. He did admit that it was an unfortunate situation.

Rev. Keller admits that few of the alcoholics who are admitted for the 30-day program are very enthusiastic about entering Lutheran General.

"The alcoholic doesn't want to enter into a treatment center to benefit from it," he said.

But somehow they get there. Whether it is the boss's threats or his wife's, the alcoholic arrives at Lutheran General. And then the program begins.

Your Neighbor The Alcoholic

"WHAT WE HAVE here is total involvement with the patient, spouse, family and employer," Rev. Keller said.

"Alcoholics and their spouses respond to help much more readily than most people think."

The first days of the program involve restoring the normal physical functioning of the patient which invariably includes detoxification.

Patients are then assigned to a primary counselor and become involved in group therapy. There are also lectures, films, sensitivity sessions and "process groups" where the patients talk to each other about what they've seen or heard.

Besides the alcoholic, the spouse and family are there, too. On Monday evenings, the teenage children of alcoholics meet and discuss mutual problems and experiences. On Tuesday evenings, the spouses meet in a similar session.

There are daily therapy groups for the patient as well as a weekly session where patients, spouses, former patients in Alcoholics Anonymous, referring physicians and employers are brought together (the hospital refers to these sessions as "the bridge group").

Marital process groups involve the patient and his spouse in lectures and group discussions focusing on alcoholism, communications, marital relationships and dependency problems.

Lutheran General also provides furnished apartments for the husbands or wives of the patients.

"We are seeing more and more people coming here for treatment in the middle stages of alcoholism than in the chronic stages," Rev. Keller said.

"This is probably because alcoholism is being brought out into the open more and more. I'd estimate that 95 per cent of the people who enter this program remain in it for the entire 30 days. They themselves get involved and decide to stay."

And their hospitalization insurance will probably pay for it as such treatment is usually included in the coverage.

How about when the alcoholic is cured?

Is the old wives' tale that an alcoholic can never drink again true? Can't an alcoholic be a moderate social drinker once he's cured?

"On the basis of what we know, the alcoholic cannot drink any more," Rev. Keller said.

Carlock agrees with Rev. Keller. "I don't know of any alcoholic who can now socially drink," he said. It's an unwritten law, he added.

John Perkins, executive director of the Chicago Council on Alcoholism, would like to help problem drinkers and their families. "I think that alcoholic information centers are needed in the Northwest suburban areas and I look forward to the time when the Chicago Council could financially afford to have outposts in the suburban areas as part of our service."

You may have a friend who drinks a lot. You're not sure if he is an alcoholic. You know his wife and family worry about him. You know his boss is becoming annoyed at his frequent absences from work.

He doesn't weave when he walks. Nor does he have shaky hands. He's not about to join A.A. There is no way you are ever going to convince him to journey to Glen Ellyn and the DuPage Alcoholism Council.

If he is helped now while his drinking problem has not yet turned into alcoholism, he may never become an alcoholic.

But if he is not helped now, your friend next door could be on his way to becoming the next split-level alcoholic in the Northwest suburbs.

Lunar UFOs Seen

By DICK WEST

THE MOON (UPI) —The lunar air force disclosed today that it is investigating reports that an unidentified flying object (UFO) was sighted last Sunday in or near the Sea of Tranquility.

However, an air force spokesman scoffed at suggestions that the UFO may have been a spaceship from earth or some other planet.

"We get reports of this type quite frequently and we routinely check them out," the spokesman said. "The so-called 'flying saucers' usually turn out to have been optical illusions caused by crater gas or something of the sort."

"We have no evidence that there is any kind of life on earth. And even if the planet were inhabited, it would be ridiculous to think that the earthlings would be able to fly to the moon."

Despite official skepticism, however, residents of the Sea of Tranquility insist they saw a strange vehicle land on Sunday and take off again Monday.

"It passed right over my head," said Mrs. Maudie Tribling, who lives in Crater 22. "I could see two weird-looking creatures peering out of the windows as it went by."

Asked to describe the vehicle, Mrs. Tribling said it "looked something like a spider with spindly legs and dishes instead of feet." She said it was "breathing fire" when she first saw it.

She said it seemed to hover briefly over the crater and then descend a short distance beyond the rim.

Mrs. Tribling's story was corroborated to some extent by Clyde Kipper, who vowed that he actually saw the vehicle land and two unmoonly figures emerge.

"They were white all over and had big square backs and glass faces," Kipper said. "I couldn't tell if they were robots or living things, and believe me I didn't hang around to find out."

Kipper was asked what the creatures were doing when he saw them.

"I know you aren't going to believe this," he said, "but they were kind of leaping around and picking up rocks. Once they stopped and...I'll swear I'm not making this up...they stopped and set up a red, white and blue cloth and saluted it."

A lunar air force official called Kipper's statement "sheer fantasy." He said, "I've heard some wild stories in my time but this one tops them all. He must have been reading too much science-fiction."

The Way We See It

High Housing Cost

The money market and other factors are putting a severe strain on the ability of young couples to acquire the cherished dream of a home in the suburbs. The cost of suburban housing is beginning to screen out vast segments of society who could make a positive contribution to suburban life.

That is the picture which emerges from an interview by staff member Richard Barton with a Bensenville Realtor.

He points out the suburbs are an area where, by and large, you can't tell a man's income by looking at his house. Many skilled tradesmen live in substantial homes next door to professional people.

But it is getting to the point where people who aren't tradesmen or professionals can't afford to buy a home in the suburbs.

About four years ago, a man could put down 20 per cent on a home and get a 5 1/2 per cent interest loan. Now it takes 25-30 per cent down to get a loan at 8 per cent interest. With the prime interest rate at 8 1/2 per cent, Illinois' 8 per cent limit dries up much of the available funds.

Added to this is a rapidly appreciating value of suburban property.

There is so much competition for the housing that is available, the Realtor said, that a 10 per cent annual increase in potential sales price is a "rule of thumb." While the Vietnam war and other factors influence the cost of homes, demand remains high as people flee the problems of the city, are displaced by expressways or simply accumulate the necessary down payment for a suburban home.

It is essential to bring economic forces into balance and reduce the interest rate before suburbia becomes as stratified, economically, as the core area of the city.

Elk Horn

It's Home, Thank Goodness

by TOM JACHIMIEC

What's New York got that Elk Grove Village doesn't?

Plenty.

But that doesn't make it any better a place to live.

I visited New York City last week for four days. That was long enough.

I saw a city bubbling with people at all hours of the day and night. Millions of them would pile into Manhattan every day, coming by taxi, train, plane, subway, and, for those dumb enough to do it, by private car.

THE CITY WAS just overloaded with people and cars, most of them taxicabs. Whenever there would be a traffic jam drivers would hit their horns as if that was supposed to do something.

This mass of rushing humanity goes on every day in what is sometimes called Gotham City.

Thank goodness Elk Grove Village doesn't have so many people or cars.

I don't believe New York can be duplicated by any other city in the United States. No city offers such a variety of everything — people included.

There are more stores, skyscrapers and tourist attractions than any place I've ever.

It's not unusual to meet a foreigner or someone from your home state. I met a Japanese boy at the Statue of Liberty. He recently visited Chicago and was wearing a sweatshirt with Arlington Park printed on the front.

A TOUR OF the New York Times was routine, but the tourists weren't. I went with about 20 kids from Brooklyn. They were high school dropouts trying to get a new start in life.

Broadway musicals I saw turned out to be magnificent feats of entertainment which filled the audience with a desire to come back again and again. A trip to New York just to see those theatrical productions is certainly worthwhile.

Just as interesting is a walk through the streets to see how these people live.

New York has many fashionable hotels and apartments. It also has the bowery where derelicts live in abundance, and Harlem, the largest Negro community in the world.

CHICAGO IS basically no different, but in New York the situation is magnified because there are more people. The city has been there longer and, after all, it's where the problems of the decaying inner city first began.

Thank goodness Elk Grove Village is new and has no problems with tenement building slums.

Times Square is a story in itself. It's supposed to be the Great White Way or the crossroads of the world.

It sure is a crossroads, but I hope not of the world.

I visited Times Square before but this time I found it only to be getting worse. It's filled with stores that sell either pornographic literature or junk. And nearby 42nd street is lined with stores and theaters busy selling sex.

Thank goodness Elk Grove Village doesn't have any of this trash.

NEW YORK is also the home of the original rush-rush way of life which infects our cities. It gets so busy that some people even forget to pay for their meals.

I was sitting in a coffee shop having breakfast one morning when suddenly the counterwoman told another: "He walked out without paying. Get 'im."

The counterwoman dashed out into the street looking east and west on 43rd Street. He had no luck. It's just too easy to get lost in the crowd in New York.

The counterwoman came in cursing. "I gave him extra butter and warmed his muffin — the lousy SOB." He went on, saying how he wished the world was filled with animals instead of people.

I chuckled to myself, realizing that this man's entire day was spoiled and that he would spend the rest of the day hating all men.

New York City. That's the place where the action is. But for me, I prefer it back here in the conservative Midwest and Elk Grove Village. Thank goodness.

Chicken Bone Interview

by RICK FRIEDMAN

Around noon yesterday I went over to the local chicken restaurant to interview some people on the moon landing.

The first one was a heavyset lady from Mount Prospect who looked up at me and said disgustedly, "It was awful, sonny. I sat there for three hours in front of my TV and all they kept talkin' about was dust and rocks."

"I kept tellin' my ole man to watch that crater on Armstrong's left — maybe a big, green, hairy, slimy, scaly arm would come out of it and grab him by the foot. Three hours I waited, sonny — and no arms!"

"YOU'DA THOUGHT if they was going to spend all that dough to get some guys to the moon, they woulda known ahead o' time there was nuttin' up there but dust and crummy rocks. Who needs dust and crummy rocks?"

Her luncheon companion, another woman, chimed in, "And the TV reception was lousy!"

"Gee," I said, "From that far away I thought it was pretty good."

"You got a color TV, sonny?"

"No."

"Well, I do. And when I spend all that dough on a color TV, the least the government can do is give me color TV from the moon. They get a couple of guys up there, how come they couldn't show them in color, huh? How come? Ed Sullivan woulda."

I moved onto a smallish man eating a bucket of shrimp. He looked up at me through thick glasses and whispered, "You think getting two men to the moon is pretty good, don't you, boy?"

"Sure."

He motioned me closer and whispered, "Bet you didn't know that two moonmen landed in Hoffman Estates Sunday?"

Rick Friedman

"You're kidding."

"Well, they did. Just about the same time the two earthmen landed on the moon. But don't figure to read anything in the newspapers about it."

"Why not?"

"How do you think earth people would react if they knew two moonmen landed in Hoffman Estates? They would be sore as hell, that's how."

"ARE YOU SURE about those two moonmen?"

He jabbed a shrimp into the cocktail sauce. "I'm one of them."

I backed away to another man and woman sitting together at a table. "It's great getting to the moon," the woman said. "Now we can send all the poor people there so they won't come out here."

"Nuts to that," her companion chimed in. "Who do you think is going to end up paying for rocketing all that low income housing to the moon? Us! And before you know it, we'll be going to Mars and the next Martians will be living next door to us."

The Political Beat

Nixon 'Waiting'

by CHARLES E. HUFNAGEL

How are you going to keep the welfare and poverty programs out of politics? Welfare rolls in Illinois are growing ever higher and their costs along with medicare and medicare are growing ever greater.

In DuPage County, the county board voted in February to double its bed capacity at its convalescent home. Both general assistance patients and those privately financed can qualify. This would bring the bed-care capacity to nearly 600.

BUT IT WAS REVEALED this week that there are in excess of 1,000 elderly applicants waiting to get in. This reflects the growing problem.

The anti-inflation program of the Nixon administration expected to become effective in the coming months is also expected resting after the D-J average ran out of breath as it approached the 1,000 mark.

Charles Hufnagel

WHILE ALL THIS is going on the welfare rolls are increasing and welfare costs heading skyward. The supreme Court struck down state residency requirements and therefore state boundaries, making welfare pretty fluid everywhere.

Add to this the controversial services and costs of medicare and medicare which are a substantial part of welfare and the picture becomes clearer in regard to the growing magnitude of this area. When you add people entitled to it, not by the thousands, but by the millions the dollar costs become astounding.

Where is the money coming from to pay for these services? Where is the money coming from to relieve the millions in poverty? From those with incomes and profits and some to spare, of course. Where else can it come from?

What shakes optimism for the immediate future despite unparalleled affluence, fantastic gross national product and a breath-taking landing on the moon is added to the need to step up the poverty and welfare program are a $30 billion a year war burden in Vietnam, the prospects of a multi-billion layout for defense against nuclear attack and an expanding space program.

THERE IS A growing complaint of too much variation in welfare costs in this country with a demand that they become more uniform. Further there is a criticism that astronomical costs in dollars puts these services out of reach of local and state governments.

The remedy: a reappraisal of the total welfare situation in every state with a view toward transferring the burden as a national program to the federal government under the administration of HEW, or a special administration.

Of course this is not new. It has been mentioned by many involved in the administration of welfare or concerned about the growing rolls and costs. Inflation, shifts in the economy, and hard to get local and state tax dollars are forcing new thinking in the welfare area.

It is argued that inflation has to be put under control to save the country from economic disaster. In doing this, it is pointed out there will no doubt be some human casualties. And the class from which the war on inflation will take its toll can be pretty well pinpointed. Not a pleasant future!

The picture painted here seems to point up the need for some well spelled out priorities at Washington. Conquests in Asia or on the moon could be cancelled out on the home front.

The Fence Post

Man Supplies Conscience

I heartily concur with Ken Knox's column, "Is Space Worth the Price?" (July 21), but I would like to add my two cents' worth. I would like to point out that space science, like nuclear science and all technology, has no conscience of its own. Whether it will become a force for good or ill depends solely on man, and only if the United States is in the forefront can we help decide whether this new ocean that we have set sail upon will be a sea of tranquility or a new, terrifying theater of war.

We, as a nation, have vowed that we shall not see space filled with weapons of mass destruction, but with instruments of knowledge and understanding. To this end, here is one taxpayer who considers the space program as vital a budget item as any of our social needs here on earth.

Swift Response

In behalf of my family and myself, I would like to take this opportunity to convey our sincere thanks and appreciation to the fire department, police department and our wonderful neighbors in Buffalo Grove for the untiring assistance rendered us as a result of a fire which occurred in our home on the night of Wednesday, July 2.

Because of the swift response of those who answered our call for help, the damage was kept at a minimum, though great it was to us. As it was, the fire was contained, and most of our personal belongings were saved.

It is a certainty that the residents of the Village of Buffalo Grove can point with pride to our police and fire departments for their untiring cooperation in every way and measure.

And last but not least, our friends and neighbors, who seemingly could not do enough to help in every instance. To these people, we owe our all.

Got Dismal View

I am a volunteer at the Arlington Heights Home and Service for the Aged and wish to comment on the article headlined "More Than Just a Flagpole," by Sandra Browning.

I am 14 years old and thought that working at the Home would be depressing, but found it a very happy and busy place.

As for TV, the home doesn't have just one TV but many have residents private TV's and there are many for public use in convenient little alcoves and rooms all over the home. There is a library, chapel, occupational therapy, clubs, picnic facilities, etc., for the people to enjoy. I think Sandra Browning had the wrong impression of the home, especially about its being dismal.

Residents Level at Wood Dale

by GEOFFREY MEHL

When you're a new taxing district and you're interested in finding out how constituents want their money spent, you conduct a survey.

A survey for the Wood Dale Park District presented a variety of statistical data on the types of people living in the community and pointed up recreational and leisure-time interests.

A major part of the McFadden and Evers, Ltd. study conducted for the district, however, was a compilation of resident opinion of the district and how well it's doing its job.

THE COMMENTS WERE many and varied, usually a sentence or two added on to the end of the multiple-choice and ranking questions asked of residents.

Both adults and youth were probed for opinion, and the results, which will be reflected in a master plan for the district, are included in the second thick booklet prepared by the Winatka research group.

Most wanted more facilities, or better developed parks, and one asked for a better Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad station (which is not in the jurisdiction of the park district). Others thought all was sufficient.

According to Allan Caskey, who conducted the survey, most people want more, but don't want to pay for it.

SOME OF THE COMMENTS:

"There is nothing in Wood Dale to do. You have to go to another town to do what you want."

"I think Wood Dale should improve its recreation facilities for both teens and adults because, now that there are so many people, the houses are too close together to have any kind of a game like tennis in your yard."

"Where will you get the money?"

"More stuff."

"We want a hockey rink."

More clearly state what is offered, when and where, also the cost."

"I FEEL THERE ARE too many organized sports for teens in Wood Dale. We would much rather go to dances or go on interesting field trips or to a teen center than go play baseball or basketball. There are not enough things to do besides playing on some baseball team."

"I have never seen the Wood Dale Forest Preserve open."

"It is crummy."

"The park facilities aren't right for teens. The bowling alley influences drinking. The movies aren't available and others are dirty, filthy and aren't geared for teens. Salt Creek is pretty good, but it needs swings and slides for little kids."

"I think Wood Dale has everything needed to have fun. Ball parks and other things are good enough for me."

"Let's not let people walk their dogs in the park."

A FAVORITE ITEM of criticism was Salt Creek. Many comments emphatically reflected a desire to clean up the creek. "I used to go fishing on Salt Creek until it became so polluted," one wrote.

And the teenagers got in their licks, at perhaps just not the park district, or even the community, but suburbia in general:

"We are bored. There is nothing for anyone to do. Wood Dale is a dull, stupid, boring town. Our school is like a prison and Wood Dale is just as bad. Wood Dale is a lousy place to live. Nothing to do. No places to eat or walk. There is nothing in the town. The school is mental and teachers stick when I graduated from there. I didn't learn a thing. It is a big drag in Wood Dale."

"I hate Wood Dale. It's Mayberry R.F.D. all over. Wood Dale is cruddy compared to Bensenville in shopping centers. pared to Bensenville in shopping centers."

"WOOD DALE IS hopeless. It needs help. It doesn't have anything."

While some comments made specific suggestions, most of the purely negative, single line statements did not. Teenagers in Wood Dale, it seems, aren't much different than anywhere else.

One resident commented, "Everyone complains about kids getting in trouble. Problem is, there's nothing else to do. If people would get on the ball the community wouldn't be known as a 'dump' and not only kids but everyone could benefit. Congratulations on finally getting started. Better late than never."

Wood Dale's park district isn't the richest governmental agency in the area, not by a long shot. But the purpose of the survey, and the reaction of random sampling residents, will form a master plan that, when accepted by the board, result in a direction hopefully acceptable by most residents.

OVER THE LONG HAUL, parks can be developed and maintained. But when it comes to swimming pools, hockey rinks or land purchases, the money comes from bond issues. A key to the real desire for quality park and recreation facilities in Wood Dale will be the willingness of the people to vote for them.

Erlenborn Wants Coin To Cite Ike

U. S. Rep. John Erlenborn, 14th Congressional District, has joined a bipartisan group of Congressmen in sponsorship of a bill to create the Eisenhower dollar.

The representative from Elmhurst said this week the bill would instruct the U. S. Treasury to mint 100 million silver dollars per year for three years. The dollars would contain 40 per cent silver and would carry a likeness of former President Dwight Eisenhower.

"To me," Erlenborn said, "this is a deserved tribute to the beloved Ike, who directed one of the world's greatest armies in the world's greatest liberating invasion and who then steered our ship of state into peaceful waters as our President."

ERLENBORN HAS continued to call for pressure on North Vietnam to make known the names of men held prisoners of war. He said the government is seeking ways to persuade the North Vietnamese to comply with the Geneva Convention on treatment of war prisoners.

North Vietnam has endorsed this convention but hasn't complied with its provisions, he said.

Erlenborn is in his third term representing DuPage County and three townships of Will County in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Housewares Appeal To Affluent

By MONICA WILCH

High fashion is the password for home-making this year, as evidenced in the 1st semi-annual exhibition of the National Housewares Manufacturers Assn. (NHMA) held at the Amphitheatre last week.

Nearly 300,000 new and improved home-use products were displayed by a record 1,172 exhibitors. Items ranging from a gourmet omelet set to decorative toilet seats reflected the trend toward more color and up-to-date styling.

"The industry is at its most sophisticated point ever," commented Delph Zapfel, NHMA managing director.

While housewares are being designed and merchandised to appeal to an ever more affluent consumer and 1969 sales are already ahead of a year ago, Zapfel noted that "manufacturers are being squeezed to hold prices steady in the face of rising costs."

IN THE WORLD'S largest single industry trade show, the $13 billion housewares industry introduced such products as a lemon-scented liquid fuel for use with chafing dishes and fondue pots. It burns with intense heat and without smoke or unpleasant fumes.

Another brand-new to the kitchen was a "coffee starter" timer that plugs into the outlet, turning on the electric percolator automatically every morning and keeping it on a warming cycle for brewed coffee up to five hours.

A new line of "vue-severs" was introduced by another exhibitor. Made of Thermacore Plexiglas, a material that is non-conductive, odorless and non-toxic, these domed serving pieces are designed with two separate compartments in one unit such that a cold item may be placed into one side and something hot into the other.

IN DISHWARE and cookery, the world is color. Several companies displayed patterned enamelware, one line featuring a steel base and bakelite knobs and handles.

That grouping comes in avocado, harvest yellow and burnt orange.

For the patio, the newest is a battery-operated "rotobach," a combination rotisserie and hibachi with skewer attachments. Or, one may wish to cook over an open campfire, using a wire basket with cover attached to a long, wood-tipped handle. Intended to be an outdoor popcorn popper, it can be used for potatoes, hamburgers, hotdogs — anything the camper's palate desires.

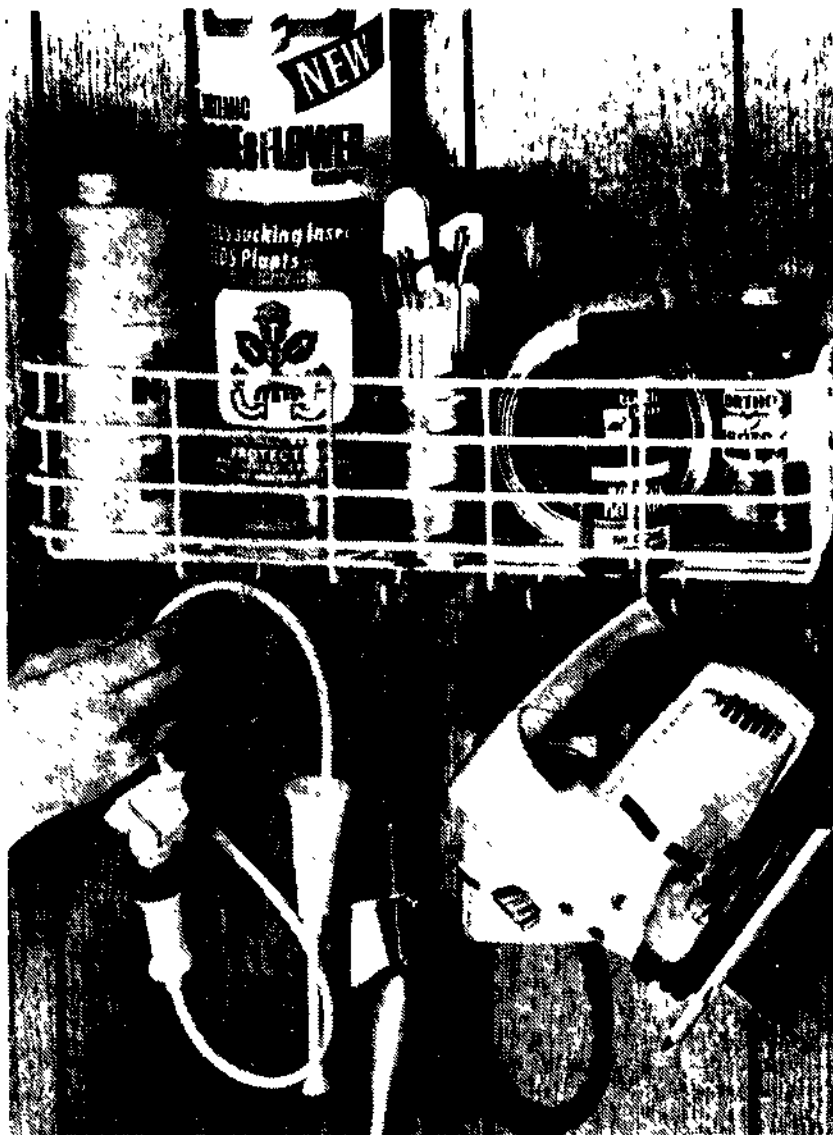

Catering to convenience in house-keeping, another company introduced a "household kaddy," a vinyl cushion-covered steel frame which may be attached to a wall or door and, depending on where it is placed in the home, may hold cleaning supplies, kitchen staples, bath articles, hats and purses, tools, etc.

FOR EASE IN housekeeping, how about an electric broom? This compact, lightweight product, which doubles as a vacuum cleaner, features swivel attachments for carpets, floors, furniture, etc., and also converts to a hand vacuum.

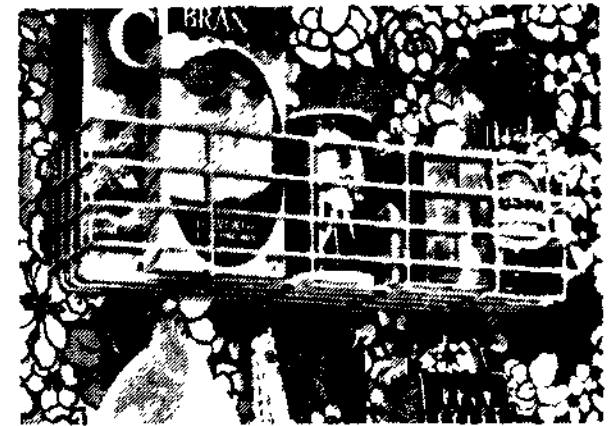

Some rooms are nearly impossible to keep in order — a sewing room, for instance. Picture a sewing chair that holds all your materials in a large chest under the seat, with special racks and shelves for specific items. Everything you need organized within easy reach!

The same idea carries over to "his" bedroom, where a man's chair valet is designed to accommodate shirt, coat, wallet, keys, shoes, etc., while he sleeps. A tray at the top of the chair-back holds the contents of his pockets, while a hanger-shaped back prevents a crumpled coat.

WHEN HUSBY goes out to play golf, he will also want to have the latest in sports equipment, which is a combination golf cart, bag and chair. This lightweight, foldable cart eliminates the golf bag with a rack that holds a full set of clubs, each club suspended independently. The box unit on the front for balls doubles as a seat.

VERSATILE NEW storage rack, the Household Kaddy, can be used to hold garden supplies, personal items or food and kitchen tools. It was introduced by Grayline Housewares at Housewares Show.

Color's Exploding In Kitchen Today

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Been in a housewares department lately?

Notice how colorful everything's getting — from can openers to pots and pans?

Well, a maker of housewares reports that the rapid success of new colors introduced in the last two years indicates today's consumer is thinking kitchen fashion.

"Fashion is change," says Susan Scheble, home services coordinator for the Ohio-based firm. "And it is women's willingness to change which accounts for the rapid acceptance of these colors."

"Back when kitchens were all white, the reds and bright yellows were the predominant accessories colors."

"MORE RECENTLY, with the introduction of tints into appliance colors, accessory colors trended toward pastels for color scheme blends. But these color changes were gradual and slow."

What's going on right now she described as a color explosion.

"The homemaker's appetite for color and for style, too, has been whetted," she said. "She's demanding more and more, faster and faster. She's more sophisticated, more affluent, more interested in the kitchen."

And that was supposed to be the room that television dinners and brown-and-serve dishes were supposed to take her away from — remember? So what happened? A phenomenal, renewed interest in cooking.

"IT IS NO LONGER considered wasteful to spend time in the kitchen," said Miss Scheble. "In effect, the kitchen and its furnishings have become status symbols."

She said today's woman has been educated to think with less confinement about color. Out the window go the rules on what-goes-with-what.

Pink and orange, for one example of something once considered a horrible clash, now go together in peace.

One of the biggest "in" colors is avocado.

Miss Scheble thinks it's because avocado is a good go-with-everything color. It goes with blues, greens, browns, oranges, yellows.

"I feel," she said, "that this avocado success has happened because today's homemaker also is more willing and happier to accept color mixtures."

A Motor Tour Around Lake Michigan

One of the most popular summer tours is a trip around Lake Michigan, according to the Chicago Motor Club AAA, and you have plenty of options.

There's much to be seen and done, from the sand dunes on the south to the north woods, with much of a great vacation land.

Basically, your route goes north to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, across the Straits of Mackinac, and back south through Wisconsin — all great vacation land.

Starting at the bottom of the lake, you'll find the beginning of Dunes Country. It runs north to above Holland, Dunes moon beaches here, and you'll find a chain of them along the lake. At many locations, including Holland and Saugatuck, you can board a dunes buggy for what amounts to a roller coaster ride over the sands. Or you can take a leisurely ride for a close-up look at expanses of shifting beauty.

CAR FERRIES make scheduled runs out of Muskegon, Ludington, Frankfort and Charlevoix. This gives you the option of shortening your northbound trip in Michigan and riding across the lake to the shores of Wisconsin.

If you continue north in Michigan, you'll see interesting stretches of scenery north and south of Crystal Lake along Mich. 22, en route to Traverse City. Known for cherries, fishing and nearby resort country. Not far beyond in Grand Traverse Bay is the Old Mission Peninsula. Here, on the tip of this finger of land, is a light-house which is said to be the halfway point between the Equator and the North Pole.

At the top of Lower Michigan are Mackinac Island, Mich. 185 circles the great resort of Mackinac Island.

Probably the only state highway in the country where automobile traffic is forbidden, Mich. 185 circles the great resort of Mackinac Island.

TRANSPORTATION here is limited to a fire truck, a few service vehicles, bicycles and horse and carriage. The island is accessible by ferry from both St. Ignace at the bottom of the Upper Peninsula and Mackinaw City at the top of the Lower Peninsula.

Further north, a side trip takes you to Sault Ste. Marie. Known as the Soo, it has locks that connect Lake Superior and Lake Huron. The two lakes are only a mile apart here, but there's an elevation differential of about 22 feet.

More than 100 million tons of freight pass through this joint United States-Canadian project duty free each year. You, too, can go through the locks on a guided boat trip and up either the U.S. or Canadian side of the area.

On the southbound part of your trip around Lake Michigan, you'll come to Marinette, Wis., where there are logging exhibits to be seen. Below Marinette is plenty of scenery in the Oconto area. There also is Peshtigo, a town that burned the same day as did Chicago in 1871.

CONTINUING SOUTH, it's a good idea to allow time for a side trip to the Sturgeon Bay area and Door County Peninsula. Twelve county parks and three state parks — Peninsula, Potawatomi and Rock Island — are within the area's 250 miles of shoreline. This is one of the most attractive vacation areas in the region.

After Door County, you can drive along the lake shore to the attractions in Milwaukee, or take the inland route dotted with paper mills and vacation areas that can do some boasting of their own.

Mildred Winkler, Village Clerk

by MARY B. GOOD

During a recent cloudburst, Mildred Winkler arrived at the Roselle Village Board meeting all gussied up in summer wear. "I'm pretending it's nice and warm today," that's Millie's style.

The Roselle village clerk for years, crusty-voiced Mrs. Winkler exudes independence and confidence. The real backbone of village politics.

"In a place this small, you meet the public. Sometimes they're looking for trouble, but you have to like people, understand them, or you won't last," she said.

Millie's lasted all right — through four terms as village clerk, the biggest vote-getter on the ticket all four times. She's outspoken for one thing, kind of the champion of the "little guy."

MRS. WINKLER attributes her popularity to her days as town librarian.

"I used to scrub floors there, wash windows, buy and catalog books. I got to know many people at the library."

Mildred took over as custodian of papers, files and ordinances for the village of Roselle after Earl Crandall retired. All of the posting was done by hand with a rudimentary typewriter bookkeeping system. Now she has four clerks and a billing machine to help.

"We didn't shut off many people's water then," she mused. "But the job kind of gets in your blood."

Mrs. Winkler moved to the village when it was rural. ("Don't like the city, never did.") She was married at 21 to Fred A.

Winkler, former Itasca village treasurer and career railroad man, who died last year. They would have been married 40 years.

AS A YOUNG woman, Mildred traveled with her husband everywhere in the country on silver spoon service. She met Fred while she was working for the superintendent of dining and sleeping cars at Chicago's Union Station, where Mr. Winkler was an accountant. She hates to see the railroads go, and hopes to take one last long, lovely ride cross-country on the last of the super dupers — The Santa Fe Super Chief.

Two shoeboxes of train passes serve as a reminder of the Winkler railroading family. "I'm straightening them out for the antique collectors," she said.

Monomaniacs have been known to collect tickets exclusively from lines west of the Mississippi, or tickets prior to 1920.

"Some have very strange names, like 'Cranberry and Eastern,' trains you never heard of," she commented. "And those things are a lot of fun."

THE COLLECTING bug hit in other ways. Mildred favors elaborate flow-blue china, and old wood — drop-leaved tables and such. She still lives in her charming Dutch colonial home at 102 W. Maple, filled with her antiques, and her daughter Katherine, a 5-year-old granddaughter and a patch-work-colored pooch.

"I got some rush seat chairs made in Brigham Young's furniture factory from two old sisters whom I knew socially here in town, Ida Clare and Dud Lawrence," she said proudly. "And anything I have I use."

Somewhat this peppery little woman has a way of worming through facade with genuineness, a rare commodity. Her dark eyes look as though they'd known many heartaches, but they also twinkle with character and an optimism that meets life head-on and welcomes the challenge.

Travel May Be Disease for Some

For some people, getting away from it all becomes a diseased alternative to coping with everyday life.

And, say two officials of the Washington, D.C., Travelers Aid Society, travel addicts are far from uncommon, numbering an estimated 2,000 cases in their chapter alone or about two-thirds of the annual caseload.

In a scientific paper on people who rely on repeated "crisis flights," Miss Catherine C. Hiatt, executive director, and Mrs. Ruth E. Spurlock, the chapter's casework supervisor, characterize travel addicts like this:

"The destination is both unimportant and nebulous, the quest is illusory, and there are no satisfactions upon arrival anywhere."

Just as other people may use alcohol or narcotics, travel addicts use chronic wandering as an escape from reality, a way to relieve temporarily psychic aches and pains. As Miss Hiatt and Mrs. Spurlock point out, travel involves its own kind of disequilibrium.

BUT TRAVEL addicts are different from gypsies or hoboes, the two observers believe. Gypsies have a cultural and hoboes an individual identity, whereas chronic wanderers are trying to flee from themselves.

They are distinguished, too, in their painful childhoods. Miss Hiatt and Mrs. Spurlock say travel addicts have usually been emotionally-deprived as youngsters — brought up in a foster home or institution, or orphaned, or deserted by their mother — or too rigidly confirmed as adolescents.

Travelers Aid and its psychiatric consultants try to help the troubled wanderer by dealing with the current crisis, whatever it may be, and by marshaling the patient's inner strengths. Some of the wanderers are helped to return to their homes. Many have left mental hospitals or psychiatric outpatient clinics. But, say the investigators, some wanderers must be helped to continue their travels. These addicts function fairly well while in transit but fall apart definitively when forced to remain stationary.

"I'D JUST AS SOON not eat to buy antiques," says Mildred Winkler, Roselle village clerk. Mrs. Winkler has been collecting for ages, finds more charm in old things.

Addison Pair Wed

St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church was the setting June 21 for the marriage of an Addison couple, Janice Bockelmann, daughter of the Martin Bockelmanns, and Ronald G. Fuglsang, son of the Earl Fuglsangs.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a full-skirted gown of silk organza over net, trimmed with chantilly lace and sequins. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of white roses surrounded by lace petals, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

Mary Bockelmann served as her sister's maid of honor in an empire pink gown with lace bodice and chiffon skirt. She carried a colonial cascade of pink and white carnations.

BRIDESMAIDS were Joanne Bell of Hinsdale, Mrs. Judy Gonko of Addison, cousin of the groom, and Nancy Bockelmann, sister of the bride. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's in rainbow shades of aqua, yellow and green, and they carried matching bouquets.

The bride's mother received guests in the Elmhurst VFW Hall wearing an aqua jacket dress and a corsage of aqua-tinted carnations.

The groom's mother wore a blue and white knit costume with blue cymbidium orchids.

BEST MAN WAS Harold L. Sievert Jr. of Addison, and ushers included Denton Fuglsang of Medinah, brother of the

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fuglsang groom; William Gonko of Addison, and Kenneth Wilkes of Elmhurst.

Following a week-long honeymoon in Wisconsin, the couple is living in West Chicago. The bride is employed by Chicago Title and Trust Co., Wheaton, and the groom, who attended Lincoln College, Lincoln, Ill., is employed at Illinois Bell Telephone Co. in Wheaton.

AFTER A HONEYMOON in northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Zuckermendel are living in LaCrosse, Wis., where the groom is a senior at Wisconsin State University. His bride, the former Nancy Lee Jung, daughter of the Wilfred Jungs of Randolph

Wis., is a graduate of the university. The groom's parents are the Robert Zuckermendels, 113 Fairview, Mount Prospect. The couple recently exchanged vows in the United Methodist Church of Randolph and were feted at a reception at Fox Lake Country Club nearby.

Kid's Corner BACKSEAT BINGO

On a long auto trip, try playing Backseat Bingo. Each child draws a large square, then divides it into four squares each way. In each square he writes a two-digit number.

Mom may be the caller. She watches oncoming traffic and calls out the last two numbers on each car's license plate. Any matching square may be crossed out. First player with a row all crossed out wins.

Danger in Self-Medication

Think twice before you treat an ache or pain yourself.

Even the most innocent-looking remedy can be harmful unless administered under a doctor's supervision.

Multivitamins, for example, contain a wide variety of nutrients that can mask serious organic disorders such as pernicious anemia. And excess amounts of certain vitamins can create stomach trouble, skin problems and even result in pressure on the brain.

TRANQUILIZERS can cause trouble too. Should you share someone's tranquilizers, you're flirting with peptic ulcer, mental depression severe enough to induce suicide and a number of other serious problems.

Pep pills may also lead to serious consequences. For after that temporary "lift" wears off, your reflexes may be so poor you could misjudge distances while driving and risk an accident. If taken in heavy doses or for long periods, pep pills can become habit forming, leading to over-exhaustion and eventually physical collapse.

Sedatives and sleeping pills — when used unsupervised — can lead to addiction too, and in time cause both psychological and physiological damage.

Antihistamines, while mildly beneficial for allergies and hay fever, can cause extreme drowsiness, making it dangerous to drive or operate machinery. Prolonged use can prove harmful to both your nervous system and mental processes. An overdose can lead to convulsions, delirium, shock and even death.

BROMIDES, A prime ingredient of popular "fizzing" headache powder, is a notorious aggravator of acne. In heavy doses, it can accumulate in the body and lead to bromide intoxication — a cause of mental illness in almost 10 per cent of those admitted to mental hospitals.

Laxatives sometimes contain a coal tar derivative called "phenolphthalein" that also aggravates acne. Many may interfere with the absorption of vitamins and other food elements. What's more, they can mask serious ailments that are the underlying cause of constipation.

Reducing pills, over a prolonged period, can be a source of serious psychological reactions and frequently lead to agitation and restlessness.

Doris Krone's Wedding Sets a Family Record

The fourth family wedding in five months is a record for Mrs. Ruth Schueman of Wood Dale whose daughter, Doris Krone of Rosemont, married Algars Martins Tolks, son of the Augusts Tolkses of Maywood, on June 21.

During the month of February, Mrs. Schueman's son Larry and daughters Nancy and Sandra were married.

For her wedding in Wood Dale Community Church, Doris chose a silk organza gown with long, full sleeves and mandarin scalloped collar trimmed in domestic lace and pearl sequins. Her cathedral veil was also trimmed with rows of the sequined lace, and she carried a bouquet of phloxes and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her brother, Lawrence Krone of Torrance, Calif.

MATRON OF HONOR for her sister was Mrs. Nanci Chelminski of Northlake, who wore a flowered print gown with long sleeves, high collar and tunic top. A pink frame hat matched a color in the print of her gown, and she carried a large green rose made up of camellia leaves.

Bridesmaids included Christine Richter of Wood Dale, sister of the bride; Barbara Schulman of Rosemont, and Vija Tolks of Maywood, sister-in-law of the groom.

The attendants all were attired in gowns identical to Mrs. Chelminski's, and each wore a different colored frame hat to match the orange, yellow, pink and white of the print in the gown. Each carried a rose of camellia greens.

THE GROOM CHOSE George Mezulis of Tucker, Ga., for his best man, while ushers were Guntis MelBarDis of Pawtucket,

Mr. and Mrs. Algars Tolks

R.L. Arnis Tolks, brother of the groom, and Dennis Allman of Chicago.

Following a reception at the House of Lords in Chicago, the newlyweds left on a week-long honeymoon in New Orleans.

A graduate of Fenton High School and Northern Illinois University, the bride is a teacher in Palos Heights. Her husband, who attended Northwestern University and NIU, is employed by Xerox.

Itasca Pair Wed 61 Years

It was while they were students at the University of Minnesota that Maurice Bost and Ethelyn Smith met, and their friendship grew into romance and finally to their marriage 61 years ago on July 23. The couple are now living in Itasca but spent most of their married life in Mason City, Iowa.

Maurice, now 83 and a retired civil engineer, and his wife, 81, celebrated their 61st anniversary last Sunday at dinner with their family at Nordic Falls Country Club. They have one son, M. Robert Bost, who lives about a mile and a half from the elder Bosts' apartment at 5N221 Eagle Terr. Robert and his wife reside on Bloomington Road.

MAURICE AND Ethelyn were married in Minneapolis but 40 years ago they moved to Mason City. This past May they decided to give up their large eight-room home there and take an apartment in Itasca near their son.

They have two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The First Presbyterian Church in Arlington Heights was the setting for the candlelight ceremony which united Linda Bronson of Arlington Heights and John Arnold Thielman of Mount Prospect on June 14. The couple exchanged vows and rings at 5 o'clock before the Rev. Paul L. Stumpf. White glads, daisies and carnations graced the altar, and turquoise and white formed the color scheme for the bridal attendants' attire.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thielman

Parents of the bride are the Norman C. Bronsons, 1127 N. Phelps, Arlington Heights. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Thielman, 519 S. Edward St., Mount Prospect.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white chantilly lace gown with an empire waistline, long sleeves and a flowing train which fell from the shoulders. Her illusion shoulder-length veil was attached to a headpiece of lace rosebuds, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

MAID OF HONOR was her sister, Sue Bronson, and the groom's brother, Charles Thielman, was best man.

The maid of honor wore a turquoise chiffon gown, floor-length, and carried white daisies tied with turquoise ribbons. Two bridesmaids, attired identically to her, were in the wedding party. Both Jan Copeland of Des Plaines and Linda Geething of Mount Prospect are friends of the bride.

Ushers were Mike Copeland of Des Plaines, Jeff Kokes of Rosemont and Mark Thielman, brother of the groom.

For the wedding and reception dinner which followed in the church hall, Mrs. Bronson wore a turquoise dress with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Thielman also chose turquoise for her jacket and dress ensemble and had a white carnation corsage.

THE NEWLYWEDS went to Wisconsin for a three-day honeymoon before settling in an apartment at 362 Buie Road, Hoffman Estates.

The bride is a graduate of Wheeling High School and has been attending Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital School of Nursing and Harper Junior College. She is presently working at Northwest Community Hospital.

The groom attended Prospect High School, Culver Stockton College and Western Illinois University. He is working in Des Plaines for IBM Co. and also studying at Harper.

Married on West Coast

Mrs. James Clayson Jr.

Married June 13 in a garden wedding in Santa Barbara, Calif., were Alison McKelvey, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Raymond G. McKelvey of San Marino, Calif., and James E. Clayson Jr., son of the James Claysons of 800 Greenview Road, Itasca.

The couple are both working for Carnation Co. in Los Angeles, the bride as editor of publications and the groom as manager of operations research.

HE IS A graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has a master's in business administration from the University of Chicago.

His bride attended the International School in Geneva, Switzerland; Sarah Lawrence College, and earned her bachelor of arts degree from the University of California at Berkeley. She has a master's in history from the University of Kansas.

The new Mrs. Clayson also spent two months in Pakistan with Experiment in International Living and four months at Goethe Language Institute in Radolfzell, Germany.

The Potting Shed

by MARY B. GOOD

Remember mooch balls — those big silver lawn decorations of the '30s and '40s? There seems to be a revival, though heaven only knows why. The monstrosities were called mooch balls because peddlers out to make money considered homeowners who wasted money on such trivia to be fair game.

The suburbs, particularly Arlington's Sherwood area, are suffering from cottony maple scale. This popcorn-looking problem on tree branches isn't confined to maples. Great quantities of honeydew drip from the twigs and branches on parked cars, so be careful where you park your husband's prized possession. Three applications four to five days apart of Malathion will control the problem, according to Stanley Rachesky, University of Illinois pesticide adviser.

IF YOU'RE AN office worker turned day laborer on weekends, that brand of gardening could transplant you right into sick bay. Don't over do it, rest when you feel fatigued and don't ignore cuts and bruises. Since tetanus is present in soil, a booster shot of tetanus toxoid is recommended for all gardeners who have not kept up yearly shots.

It takes about 15 gallons of water to penetrate 10 inches, and the best way to water large trees and shrubs is to use a root-feeder tool, or leave the hose running for several hours to soak the ground around them.

North shore gardeners have been hiking over to Lake Michigan to scoop up alewives for use as rose fertilizer. (Sounds like a Chicago Park District inspiration to get help with clean-up chores.)

Summer annual and biennial seed sowing produces stronger plants and earlier blooms on next summer's garden. Calendulas, bachelor's button, California poppies, larkspur, forget-me-nots, English daisy are just a few seeds suggested to sow. Be sure to mark the bed so you don't disrupt them in spring.

Sorry I missed the day lily caravan last week by just minutes. But I understand that while The Arlington Heights Garden Clubbers stalked day lilies by night in Hinsdale, mosquitoes stalked the garden clubbers.

What, again? Mrs. Robert Lichtenner, president of the Countryside Garden Club, Palatine, reports her magnolia tree has gone wild — reblooming this week with 25 to 30 flowers. Anyone else out there with more out-of-season bloomers?

DuPage Homemakers Go House-Hunting

The Bensenville Moonlighters unit of the DuPage County Homemakers Extension Association will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Holmes, Bensenville next Wednesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Charles Cherry and Mrs. Charles Franzen will present a lesson on "What to Look for When You Buy or Rent a House."

This discussion will include location, community resources, condition of the house and an evaluation of the house in relation to family needs.

Overcooked Meat Hard To Slice

Any homemaker who has at one time overcooked a piece of meat knows it's difficult to slice. Overcooked meats do not slice. They just seem to fall apart in shreds.

For a roast, it's easy to chart doneness with a roast meat thermometer. After cooking to the degree desired, let the roast "rest" to become firm enough for slicing. That takes about 20 minutes.

Top Stars in 'April Fools'

Comedy, romance, fantasy, "The April Fools," stars two of the greatest comic characters of the century, Jack Lemmon and Gene Wilder. Jack Lemmon is a comedy role uniquely tailored to his talent, and Gene Wilder is a comedy role uniquely tailored to his talent. Jack Lemmon is a comedy role uniquely tailored to his talent, and Gene Wilder is a comedy role uniquely tailored to his talent.

Joining them are Peter Lawford as Miss Deneuve's preoccupied husband, a made-for-TV star who acquires the trappings of wealth without acquiring a perspective of values, and Jack Weston as a Madison Avenue lawyer with a penchant for demon rum. "April Fools" making her best picture in eight years, and Charles Boyer as the endless lovers who demonstrate to Lemmon and Gene Wilder that fantasy, too, can be real if you're in love with life and each other. "The April Fools," from the Safari Club where a waitress is "called" by shooting her in the derriere with a pop gun to a rollicking chase scene across two states with eight hands on the wheel and not one in complete control. The sequence is a parody of the breathtaking car chase in "Bullitt."

"The April Fools" is a story about love, of two people who discover themselves and manage for the first time to look within and beyond their worlds and to step away from the illusions which have trapped them. The National General Pictures release opens today (Friday) at the Catlow Theatre.

Previn Provided Excitement

by MONICA WILCH

When the small, long-haired conductor bounded onto the stage and the 105 youthful male musicians burst forth into music, it was both an anniversary and a "first," the 65th anniversary of the London Symphony Orchestra, and the first time in the 34-year history of Ravinia that a European orchestra has appeared there.

But, had it been a 34th repeat performance, it would have been nonetheless enthralling. For, when one combines the genius of Hector Berlioz to create exciting music, with the genius of Andre Previn to interpret it so discriminantly, the result is electrifying.

Previn gets right to the point when he conducts. With quick, neat, unaffected movements, he elicits just the right amount of feeling without allowing the music to become overly sentimental.

In the "Love Scene" from the "Romeo and Juliet Suite," it's tender and delicate, but at the same time controlled, almost businesslike.

IN THE FETE OF the Capulets, the music is first earthy and violent, then light and frolicsome, yet all this with just the slightest twitch of Previn's baton.

Principal conductor of the London Symphony since 1968, the Berlin-born Previn began his career composing and arranging jazz and popular music for MGM in Hollywood.

However, with early classical training in piano at the Berlin and Paris conservatories, he later decided to devote more time to the conducting of serious music.

In 1967, he made his debut as musical director of the Houston Symphony, and later that year with the London Symphony.

An equally talented musical contemporary of Previn, Russian pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy, turned out a breathtaking performance of the Brahms Piano Concerto No. 2 for the second half of the program.

ASHKENAZY, WHO AT 17 won second prize at the International Chopin Competition in Warsaw and at 19 took first prize in the Queen Elizabeth Competition in Brussels, displayed amazing control over the extreme dynamics in this difficult work.

His greatest strength lay in producing the very light, soft passages. It was here, too, that his flawless technique shone most brilliantly.

While some of his fortissimo in the first movement was a bit harsh, the pure artistry of the third movement made one want to stop breathing lest he miss any of the fragile and barely audible overtones.

Playwriters Center Publicity Director

Patt Esvang, 1010 W. Euclid Ave., Arlington Heights, has been named as publicity director for Hull House Playwrights Center, Chicago.

The Center is a workshop for the development of original plays by Chicago-area playwrights, both amateur and professional. Members of the group meet weekly to hear staged readings of plays written by fellow members. Scripts are analyzed and discussed, and the most promising plays are presented in studio productions with a new play produced every four weeks.

The Playwrights Center is operated by Hull House Theatre. Its executive director is Richard Tyler.

In addition to her duties at the Playwrights Center, Patt will be the coordinator for the Illinois Community Theatre Association One-Act Festival next year.

Patt is also a board member of the Best Off Broadway Players and a member of Village Theatre, Arlington Heights; yet with all this activity she still manages to make a home for her husband, Bob, an executive at Sun Electric, and their six children.

Art Is a Human Endeavor

by MARTHA SHERWOOD

I found Love at Stephany Arts. I also found war and peace, joy and examples of daily living of ages past.

Mrs. Anne Sluka, director of Stephany Arts, Evergreen Plaza, Arlington Heights, is dedicated to providing "something for everyone." Her gallery's paintings span the vast range of human emotion. Whether in a poignant portrait, the colors in a landscape or the individual brush strokes of a piece, one cannot escape the human element of creativity.

The art of this gallery, traditional through contemporary, offers the viewer fiction, fantasy and a study in history.

One experiences war in the stark paintings of Buffett. Upon the gray background of buildings of an old European street one sees colors like tiny explosions of flak. Trees rise naked, stripped of leaves, from dirt roads. One wants to read of this man who must have suffered much in an embattled land.

THE NAMES OF the represented artists are internationally known. They include Picasso, Whistler, Louis Dali, Goya and Campagnola. Area artists, too, hang beside these masters.

In addition to the excellent oil paintings, one may find etchings and graphics. As Mrs. Sluka explains, graphics are signed and numbered, limited editions of a piece which "the artist has approved as a standard of his work."

A collection of pencil drawings by obscure artists may be admired for their fine craftsmanship, acquired for a nominal price and given prominence with tasteful framing.

I found the framing in this gallery well done. The pictures were accented rather than overwhelmed by their moldings. (Framing as well as restoration is one of the gallery services).

STEPHANY'S IS actually an art service. Personal attention is given to a client in the selection of a piece. His home atmosphere as well as his personality is considered as the gallery assists in the decorating of a room with one painting or a grouping of art works. With a continuing customer relationship, Stephany's is able to create a complimentary decor.

Good taste, an ability to see something and immediately know its quality, is an acquired trait. Mrs. Sluka emphasizes the importance of creating a cultural background in the home.

"Children should be exposed to art daily," she says.

Mothers with children are welcomed into the gallery. Whether a pencil sketched duckling or a cat in a wood cut, each child according to age and individuality will find something to enjoy.

Although most of the art work is realistic in concept, Mrs. Sluka hopes to add a young California semi-abstractist to her gallery. She describes Lee Reynolds' work as "extremely virile."

MONTHLY SHOW changes provide frequent visitors with something new to see and may introduce an artist as he paints right in the gallery. Kurt Moser, a European Oil painter, is being lined up for a possible fall show. The gallery also is seeking area sculptors who wish to display their work.

Stephany, Mrs. Sluka's daughter, offers classes in oil painting, drawing, sculpture and collage. Small classes of five to seven students run for five one-hour-weekly sessions.

Gallery hours vary. Visitors are welcome to come in whenever they are in the downtown Arlington Heights area. Or they may call the gallery at 394-3083.

Familiarity in art breeds appreciation. With new eyes the art enthusiast may see beauty in poverty and war and renew a compassion for the human condition. Art is seeing outward and looking inward.

Coffee Wednesday For Church Women

Church Women United of Northwest Cook County will host presidents of church women's organizations at a get-acquainted coffee next Wednesday, at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Paul Jung, 108 S. Rohlwing Road, Palatine.

Mrs. Gus Gruenewald of Bensenville, state treasurer, will outline the purposes and potentials of the organization to these local leaders.

Mrs. Natalie Ferguson, Hoffman Estates, and Mrs. Lloyd Blair, Des Plaines, are co-chairmen of the coffee. Their committee members include Mrs. Melvin Born, Mrs. R. B. Yaden, and Mrs. E. S. Reinhard of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Roger Pritchard, Elk Grove Village, and Mrs. Paul Jung, Palatine.

Sorority Steak Fry

Mu Gamma chapter of Villa Park will meet with Eta Zeta chapter of Bensenville on Tuesday, Aug. 5 for a Beta Sigma Phi steak fry at the home of Mrs. Robert Swanson in Elmhurst.

The theme of the evening will be "Christmas in August," with each member creating her original tree decoration, which will be judged and awarded to highlight the social.

Make Her a Blab Pad

Teens mean telephone troubles, but kids often respond to house rules if given their own blab pad. Panel a corner of the basement with rough pine boards, add a table and old sofa recovered in bright print cotton, install an extension phone and you'll win their hearts and, possibly, their cooperation.

Storkfeathers Bonus Baby for the Karrs

A "bonus" baby is creating much pleasure in the Bensenville home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Karr, 4N281 John St. Six brothers and sisters are eager helpers in caring for Michael Christopher, who arrived July 9 at DuPage Memorial Hospital, weighing in at a husky 8 pounds 8 ounces.

After having Lyle, 11; Scott, 10; Louise, 8; and Lorraine, 6, and "choosing" Mark, 5, and Terri, 3, the Karrs thought their family circle was complete. But all admit it's mighty nice having a baby in the house again.

Sharing the family's delight in Michael Christopher is the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Wolf of Bensenville.

NORTHWEST COMMUNITY Annmarie Elaine and Kenneth Jerome Mrozek came as a "complete surprise" to the Kenneth J. Mrozek of 1529 Bates Lane, Schaumburg. Mrs. Mrozek was expecting a "big baby" when she gave birth to the twins July 15. Annmarie, who was born first, weighed 6 pounds 1 1/2 ounces. Her brother, who is still at the hospital, weighed 4 pounds 1 1/2 ounces. Grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rogers and Mrs. Irene Mrozek, all of Chicago.

Robert Steven Cothern is the new arrival at the Robert P. Cothern III home, 2205 Central Road, Rolling Meadows. Born July 19, he weighed 7 pounds 3 ounces. Robert's grandparents are the Henry Moschells of Norridge and Robert P. Cothern Jr. of Chicago.

DUPAGE MEMORIAL Danny Stan Szara is the new son of the Stanley Szaras of Itasca. Born July 14 at 8 pounds, 3 ounces, he joins sisters Debbie, 5, and Deann, 3. Danny's grandparents are the Warren Bishops of Itasca and the Stan Szaras of Chicago.

ST. ALEXIUS

Moira Therese Gehan is the new, 7-pound 1-ounce baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Gehan of 1053 E. Kitson Drive, Palatine. Born July 11, Moira joins a sister, Margaret Mary, 2, at home, and is also welcomed by grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Norton and Mrs. Raymond F. Gehan, all of New York City.

Jason Jerome Osga is the first child of the Jerome Osgas of Willoway Terrace, Arlington Heights. Jason weighed 6 pounds 5 ounces when he was born July 15. Grandparents of the baby are the James Brabers of Grand Rapids, Mich., and the Clarence Osgas of Traverse City, Mich.

OTHER HOSPITALS

Susan Jacqueline Jarrett, 1423 Redwood Drive, Mount Prospect, arrived for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jarrett on July 18 weighing 5 pounds 13 ounces. She is welcomed by the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Elke of Morton Grove and the senior Walter Jarretts of Evanston. The delivery took place at St. Francis Hospital, Evanston.

Ordinance 69-80

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights did, on November 22, 1968, reclassify the property hereinafter described from the R-1 One-Family Dwelling District to I Institutional District, and

WHEREAS, said reclassification was subject to the development of the subject property in accordance with a specific planned development for medical office purposes, excluding radiological x-ray equipment, and further conditioned upon the submission to the Plan Commission of such planned development within two years of the effective date of said ordinance, and

WHEREAS, the owners of said property failed to submit such planned development within the period allowed, and

WHEREAS, the owners have subsequently submitted to the Plan Commission a planned development for said property and have requested the removal of the prohibition of radiological x-ray equipment, and

WHEREAS, the Plan Commission has recommended the approval of said planned development and the deletion of the prohibition against radiological x-ray equipment, subject to certain terms and conditions, and

WHEREAS, the owners have heretofore submitted to the President and Board of Trustees a subdivision of said property providing for three lots and a plan of development for said subject property prepared by Marshall Erdman & Associates, Inc., dated May 12, 1969, and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees have determined that the best interests of the Village of Arlington Heights would be served by the amendment of ordinance number 66-107, adopted November 22, 1966, as requested, and the approval of said planned development, subject to certain terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth.

THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

SECTION ONE: That ordinance number 66-107, being an ordinance amending the zoning ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, adopted November 22, 1966, be and it is hereby amended by deleting from Section Two of said ordinance, the following language:

"excluding radiological x-ray equipment" and

"shall be formally submitted to the Plan Commission within two years of the effective date of this ordinance and building permit based upon said planned development shall be secured within six months after the formal approval of said planned development."

SECTION TWO: That the planned development on the property legally described as:

"That part of fractional Section 4, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, and of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 8, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of a line 50 feet South by right angle measure of the North line of said fractional Section 4 and a line that is 2276 7/8 feet East by right angle measure of and parallel to the West line of said sections, thence South along said parallel line 350 feet; thence East parallel to said North line of fractional Section 4 389 5/8 feet to a point in the North and South quarter section lines as occupied, thence North on said North and South quarter lines of said fractional Section 4 and Section 9 350 09 feet to a point in said line 50 01 feet South by right angle measurement of the North line of said fractional Section 4, thence West on said line 372 94 feet to the point of beginning in Cook County, Illinois, which property is located on the southwest corner of Ridge Avenue and Central Road, in accordance with a certain plan prepared by Marshall Erdman & Associates, Inc., and dated May 12, 1969, be and it is hereby approved. That a true and correct copy of said plan is attached hereto and made part of this ordinance as Exhibit A. That said planned development is further conditioned upon the construction of the first building in substantial compliance with the plans heretofore submitted to the Plan Commission and the President and Board of Trustees; that the remaining buildings will have the same general elevations and will be compatible with said building, that the floor plans will be amended to conform with the ordinance to enclose the entire stairwells of the initial building to be constructed, that the south end of the property will be appropriately screened by fencing or shrubbery; and that Lots 2 and 3 of said planned development shall not be improved until specific plans have been approved for said buildings by the President and Board of Trustees

SECTION THREE: The Director of Building and Zoning is hereby directed to issue, upon proper application, permits in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance

SECTION FOUR: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law

Ordinance 69-79

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

SECTION ONE: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from R-3 One-Family Dwelling District to B-1 Limited Retail Business District, the following described territory:

The South one acre of Lot 18 in Allison's Addition to Arlington Heights, being a subdivision of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 20, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois, as per plat recorded September 15, 1963 as Document 3441727, in Cook County, Illinois, commonly described as the north side of Oakton just west of Arlington Heights Road, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION TWO: That said ordinance is subject to said ordinance being developed in accordance with plans heretofore presented to the Village Board. Said plans were prepared by James Milton Ray and Associates, and dated June 11, 1969. They provide for the construction of a two-story office building, 120 feet by 65 feet, and containing 24,000 square feet. Said reclassification is further conditioned upon an agreement by the owner that if the Village should in the future amend its zoning ordinance to provide for an office district classification, the owner will apply for reclassification of the subject property to such office district classification. Said zoning is further subject to the provision that there shall be no access to the parking lot from Oakton Street; to the construction of a masonry wall along the line between the B-1 and P classification and the residential lots and continuing along Oakton Street, to be supplemented with plantings and especially high plantings along the Mitchell property

SECTION THREE: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from

SECTION FOUR: That said ordinance is subject to said ordinance being developed in accordance with the requirements of the P District regulations of the zoning ordinance, and subject to such further conditions as may be imposed upon the layout of said parking lot by the Plan Commission and the Board of Trustees

SECTION FIVE: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law

THERE COULD HAVE been a better year for Jack Nicklaus, winner of nine major golf championships, to see his book published.

This is not the year of Jack Nicklaus, or Arnie Palmer, or Gary Player, or even Billy Casper.

It's the year for the scarcely-known player to crash through the victory barrier on the professional golf tour. These first-time winners tend to sink back into the woodwork once they've won but often only to give way to other new winners.

While Nicklaus admittedly is struggling through possibly his most agonizing year on the pro tour (he's still cashing in but missing the big titles), he has come up with a big winner with his recently-published book, "The Greatest Game of All: My Life in Golf." (Simon and Schuster, N. Y.)

Normally, you won't find much in the way of book reviews on these or any other sports pages, but there are certain books worthy of some mention. "The Greatest Game of All" is a must for anyone who enjoys this delightful game of golf.

There are many books on golf, mostly of the instructional variety. We've probably read most of them since we became so fascinated with pars, birdies, and eagles (or rather bogies, double bogies, and triple bogies).

"The Greatest Game of All" is a refreshing departure from the average golf book that often confuses rather than aids our fraternity of duffers.

Nicklaus for the first time reveals his exceptional understanding of each phase of the game of golf — the subtleties as well as the fundamentals of shot-making.

More than that, in his intimate and direct narrative, he leads you up the years from Scinto in Columbus, Ohio, where he began golf at the age of 10, and takes you right inside the fairway ropes with him as he battles the outstanding stars of the day in the big championships.

Nicklaus collaborated with Herbert Warren Wind, considered one of the world's top golf writers, in this masterpiece of golfing history, golfing lore, intimate autobiography, and freshly shaped instruction.

Nicklaus is a meticulous note-taker, a golfer who regularly charts every course he plays, and when he says he hit an iron 127 yards to the green, you know he means 127, not 126 or 128. And he has an amazing memory that makes his descriptions of a key match so fascinating.

Nicklaus, now 29-years-old, took up the game for the first time when he was 10. His dad suffered a foot injury that bothered him through the years and in the late 1940s the doctor recommended "giving the foot as much movement as you can — the sort of movement you get when you walk on soft ground."

For the elder Nicklaus, that meant one thing — golf, a game he had given up in 1937. He returned to the sport and took his 10-year-old son along as golfing companion.

Before that season, I had never thought about golf," Nicklaus writes. "I was crazy about baseball and that had occupied me fully in the spring and summer — then in the fall like most other Midwestern boys, I had been swept up in the football mania."

Jack took a class for juniors at the Scinto Country Club, shot a 51 the first time he ever played nine holes, a 61 the second time, and then, "for weeks, I got worse and worse that first summer but had a 95 for 18."

Nicklaus then continued to improve rapidly, so rapidly that he broke 80 at 12 years of age, and shot a sizzling 69 at the par 72 Scinto at 13.

Jack needed an eagle three on the par five 500 yard 18th at Scinto to break 70. Here was a 13-year-old going for a 69 on a very difficult course.

"I hit a good drive," he remembers, "and a good 2-iron. I couldn't see the flag in the darkness but I could see a water sprinkler on the green and I played for that. I was on all right, 35 feet from the cup — 35 very wet feet. I remember pulling the sprinkler back and somehow holed that putt."

Nicklaus points out in the book that the three fundamentals that were stressed to him as a youngster learning the game hold true today. He still advocates (1) keeping the head still but not rigid, (2) proper foot action, (3) and as full an arc as possible — extend!

When it became obvious that Jack had the tools needed to play championship golf, he decided to concentrate on basketball and golf in high school at Upper Arlington in Columbus.

Basketball was his favorite sport in high school and he was a varsity regular for three years, averaging 18 per game as a 5-11 forward on a club that finished 17-4 in his senior year.

Although many observers felt he had the ability to play collegiate basketball, he settled for inter-fraternity competition at Ohio State in the days of Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek, and Larry Siegfried, the golden days of Buckeye basketball.

As Nicklaus continued to star in golf circles, as he ruled amateur tournaments with astounding regularity, his colossal power generated for every spectator in excitement and drama unique in tournament golf.

It is this incredible power that comes through so strikingly in his descriptions of the way he plays certain tournament holes.

When he fired a spectacular 61 in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, he toured the course with a tremendous show of power.

On 220-yard par 3 at Augusta, when most of us would be digging out our drivers or 2 or 3 woods, Nicklaus took a 4 iron and dropped it 10 feet past the pin.

On the par 4, 400 yard first he was on with a driver and sand wedge. On the 420 yard par 4 ninth he hit the green with a driver and pitching wedge. On the 470 yard par 4 10th he used a driver and 8-iron. On the par 5, 520 yard 15th he was near the cup with a driver and 5 iron. Fantastic!

We'll never forget his description of playing a 328-yard par 5 in a crucial tournament.

"The tee shot is semi-blind," he wrote, "and the fairway slopes slightly up for 200 yards or so. After the fairway reaches the top of its rise, it twists to the left. About 100 yards from the green a high bunkered ridge thrusts itself into the fairway from the right."

Now, as a member of the Joe Duffer class, we would be happy to be near the green with three solid wood shots, or maybe two good woods and a medium to long iron.

What did Nicklaus use in this tourney to cover the 528 yards? He blasted a 3-iron off the tee, was 238 yards from the green, and then slammed a 5-iron 15 feet from the flag. It just staggers the imagination.

For the golf enthusiast, this book has everything. You will read about the great influence Bobby Jones had on Nicklaus. You will learn of Nicklaus' esteem for Ben Hogan and of his close relationship with his friend and rival Arnold Palmer.

"One wants to be judged on one's own merits, of course, and it wasn't easy," he writes, "to sense that on some occasions when I happened to play well enough to beat Arnold, the result, shall we say, didn't exactly set people dancing in the streets in some quarters."

You will meet Jack Grout, Nicklaus' first and only teacher, and learn the ABC's he taught his precocious young pupil — and which he continues to stress when they work together today.

And you will read the story of the present era of modern power golf and Nicklaus' special role in it. Emphasis is, of course, on the major championships.

If you enjoy golf, you'll find this book fascinating.

Anyway, it usually rains on the weekends around here, so if you can't get out and play golf, you just might enjoy reading about it.

Freshman Athletics Will Continue at Fenton High

by CHUCK WILLOUR

Because Fenton High Athletic Director Frank Novatny believes in the value of freshman sports and is willing to fight for what he believes in, there will be a freshman athletic program at Fenton this coming school year.

Originally, freshman sports were slated to be cut from Fenton's athletic program because of an $100,000 slash in the school's budget, $11,250 of which was taken from the athletic department's budget, a 50 per cent cut. The end result of this belt tightening was that freshman and junior varsity sports were to be dropped from the athletic program, plus spending on equipment and miscellaneous items was to be sharply curbed.

NOVATNY, HOWEVER, felt that freshman sports are much too valuable to the total athletic program to be cut, that without a freshman program the entire Fenton sports program would suffer for years to come.

Trying to relay his feelings to the School District 100 board a week ago, Novatny told the board members: "If you cut the freshman program, you cut the root of the entire athletic department. This could lead to a decline of progress in the teams for future years. You have to retain freshman sports to keep a good base."

Despite his pleas, both Novatny and the school board realized that nothing could be added to the athletic department budget. The school district has been running at a huge deficit for some years and since Bensenville voters have repeatedly turned down referendums to raise more revenue, there was no more money to be had. In addition, every other department in the school had cut its budget similarly, so in all fairness the athletic department could not ask for special treatment.

REALIZING THAT these things were so, Novatny decided to fight for his beliefs.

Monday afternoon, Novatny and Fenton Principal Norm West put their heads together to figure out a solution. They re-evaluated the athletic budget but found that the belt was pulled as tight as possible. So they next explored other potential ways of raising the approximately $3,800 needed to run the freshman sports program.

And it was there that a solution was found. West was aware that a new law just passed by the Illinois Senate and House of Representatives and sitting on Governor Ogilvie's desk for signing would take the money for transporting athletes to and from games out of the athletic department's budget and put it in the district's transportation budget. That meant an extra $1,500, a start.

NEXT, THE TWO MEN decided to raise the cost of the Student Activity Card, which admit students to all home athletic events, from seven dollars to nine. Last year about 1,100 cards were sold to Fenton students, they figured, so even with an extra two dollars tacked onto the price close to 1,000 could easily be sold again this year.

One thousand activity cards times the extra two dollars per ticket gained means that another $2,000 will be raised — that added onto the $1,800 transportation savings will meet — just barely — the costs of continuing the freshman sports program at Fenton.

That freshman sports do continue at Fenton is a matter of prime importance. Explaining his statement before the school board, Fenton's AD said: "Of all the athletic programs, the freshman is the most important."

"IF THE BOYS don't get an opportunity to play, say, football or wrestling as freshmen, then they'll be at least a year behind other teams in the conference in their sophomore year. That year's experience they're missing will follow them all the way through high school — by the time they're seniors, they'll have the experience only of juniors."

"There's another reason, though, why I think freshman sports are so important," he added. "When these boys come up as sophomores, they'll be less experienced, improperly trained and in poor condition. I don't doubt that they could easily get hurt playing against kids who already have that one year of experience."

IN ADDITION, Novatny felt, even one year's curtailment of freshman sports could seriously affect the entire Fenton sports program for as much as six years.

The cut in the athletic budget is exactly 50 per cent of last year's expenditures, $22,500, or $11,250. In order to stay within the budget, Novatny explained, approximately $7,000 have been trimmed by re-ordering new equipment. Another $3,000-$3,500 will be saved by discontinuing the junior varsity football and basketball programs, coaching clinics, scouting, film and repairing and cleaning of equipment. That brings the total amount cut from the budget right around the $11,250 mark.

Even though the budget requirements have now been met and the problem of securing money for freshman sports has been solved, there still is a problem, though coaches.

WHEN THE NEW budget was announced this past spring, no new coaches were hired to replace those that had planned to leave — since there were going to be no freshman or junior varsity sports, there was no need. Now, with freshman sports being continued, there is.

"We're now in a bind," said Novatny. "The full staff for the school has already been hired, so we can't hire any new coaches. Now we have to find two football and two wrestling coaches on our faculty who can fill in."

AND, OF COURSE, there is always the problem of staying within such an austere budget. But, says Novatny, that shouldn't be too difficult. "It's cut and dried, easy to follow. Of course, when all you have to worry about is coaches' salaries, officials' fees, and small equipment purchases, there's not much to it any more," he chuckled.

Difficult or not, one thing must be remembered because Frank Novatny believed in the value of freshman sports and was willing to fight for what he believed in, there will be a freshman athletic program at Fenton this school year.

Slated for Lions Park

Paddock Olympics Next Week

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Perhaps more than anything else, the Paddock Olympics appeals to the versatility of the youth in the area.

In the Paddock Olympics, it does not matter if a boy or girl is not a fast runner — because he or she may have a strong throwing arm. It does not matter if a boy or girl is not a good softball player — he may be a good tennis player or she an expert with the jump rope.

Indeed, the Paddock Olympics has much to offer in the area of versatility — the same versatility that will be on display at the Paddock Olympics Tuesday and Wednesday of next week at 9 a.m. at Lions Park in Mount Prospect.

Offered in the line of events for the Paddock Olympics are the 50-yard dash, the softball throw, kickball for distance, kickball as a team sport, standing broad jump, jump rope, relays and the softball throw.

Boys and girls between the ages of eight and 13 are eligible to compete in the Olympics with their respective park districts. Entered in the meet are Palatine, Arlington Heights, Hoffman Estates, Salt Creek, Roselle, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove, River Trails, Schaumburg and Hanover Park.

It was learned Tuesday that Itasca would not be an entrant this year and that Hanover Park would be added to the list.

Sam Bonatucci, the chairman and director of the 1969 Paddock Olympics, revealed the following information in a letter to the park districts:

All events will start at 9 a.m. so teams are urged to be prompt. All events, including tennis, will be held at Lions Park.

It was determined that catchers would wear masks in softball but gloves for any of the players would not be mandatory.

All dash placements (first place through fifth) would be determined by times, not heats.

All boys and girls between the ages of eight and 13 who wish to compete in the Paddock Olympics are urged to contact the directors of the park districts who are entered in the Olympics as soon as possible.

Many park districts have already started, or made plans, to hold tryouts and time trials for their respective teams so there is not much time left for a youngster to earn a spot on the team.

In Addison Parks Program

Complete 2nd Week of Action

The Addison Parks and Recreation baseball and softball programs have completed their second week of play. The Dodgers are in first place in the Cadet baseball league, with the Yankees close behind. St. Phillips tops the Beginner league with a 3-0 record, one-half game better than three other teams. St. Paul leads the girls softball league by the same margin.

CADET LEAGUE

White Sox pitcher Scott Olson hurled a two-hit shutout against the Cubs to stop them, 6-0. Olson struck out 14 and walked five. Only one runner reached third for the Cubs. That happened in the first when Al Koberline tripled. John Eschenbrenner was on the mound for the Cubs.

The Dodgers and Mike Varanian, with the help of reliever Joe Clodfelter, beat the Giants, 7-1. The Giants used Rich Murray on the mound. Their hitting attack included two doubles, one by Rich Murray and one by Stephen Gunther. The Dodger offense was sparked by Joe Clodfelter, who hit two triples. The last one came with the bases loaded, driving in three of the five runs in the fourth inning.

The Yankees shut out the Indians 4-0 with Mike Hamilton going all the way. He struck out 13 and walked only two. The Indians used two pitchers, Warren Washlow and Scott Pederson. Catching for the Yankees and leading their offense was Chip Larsen with a double and single.

The Dodgers cut down the Cubs 8-2 with an extra-bases hitting attack. Leading this attack was Mike Fessler with a double and triple; Bill Werner with a double, and Joe Clodfelter with a double and triple. The Cubs had five hits with one of them for extra bases, a double by Steve Izakson. On the mound for the Cubs was Steve Mocha. The combined pitching of Joe Clodfelter and Mike Varanian held the Cub attack.

Jim Ryan of the Indians pitched a no-hitter while his mates belted the ball for a 19-0 romp over the White Sox. Ryan had excellent control, striking out 15 batters. Ryan also contributed two RBIs with a double.

The Yankees outthrew the Giants for an 8-4 victory. Pitching for the Yankees was the brother combination of Eric and Chip Larsen. The Giants sent Larry Sitkiewicz and Bob Strange to the mound. Jim Noble doubled in the fifth inning for the Yankees, scoring three men.

GIRLS SOFTBALL

Lake Park took it on the chin against St. Paul, 20-7. Leading the attack for St. Paul was Donna Pilch with a double, triples by Cathie Kopecky and Barb Kreplin, and a triple and home run by Michelle Addante.

Old Mill scored the second highest total triple for Old Mill. Mary Breivick also Jean Weier collected two doubles and a triple for Old Mill. Mary Breivick also had a two-bagger.

Indian Trail exploded at the plate to crush St. Phillips, 18-4. Indian Trail scored in all but one inning. St. Phillips rallied in the fourth, when they scored all four of their runs.

St. Joseph squeaked past St. Paul, 14-13, in a slugfest. This was an extremely good game with both sides taking turns at the lead. Marke Skibicki and Karen Korbus rapped doubles for St. Joseph and Peggy Pilch and Cathie Kopecky collected two-baggers for St. Paul. Mary Moeller made an excellent catch in the last inning that was the key to St. Joseph's edge.

Indian Trail topped Old Mill in the final contest, 11-7. Sandy Chapman tripled for Old Mill. Indian Trail came from behind in the second inning to take the lead for good. Good fielding plays for both teams were turned in.

Arlington, Park Ridge Red Do It Again!

Another Tie in Playoff Tournament

by CHUCK WILLIAMS

It has to be some kind of Ninth District American Legion baseball record. After playing ten and one-half innings of scoreless ball Tuesday evening at Maine South, Arlington Heights and Park Ridge tied the game as the two squads battled to the end of the tenth before darkness forced the game to go down as another tie, 2-2.

you? Yep, Heights and the Reds played to another extra inning tie ballgame. This time Park Ridge Red took a commanding 2-0 lead early in the game only to have Heights score twice in the eighth to knot the score. And that was all the scoring in the game as the two squads battled to the end of the tenth before darkness forced the game to go down as another tie, 2-2.

IT HAS TO BE the first time in this year's playoff tournament that two umpires have shown up two games in a row, and a winner was still not decided!

Heights and the Reds met yesterday afternoon at Maine South to see if they could finally decide a victor. If yesterday's game also ended in a tie, then the winner was decided by a coin toss. If one of the teams finally did manage to eke out a decision, then it will play tomorrow morning at 10 a.m.; the loser will play today at 5:30 against either Wheeling or Des Plaines.

PARK RIDGE DREW first blood in the game, collecting single runs in the fourth and fifth off Heights starter Randy Cordova. The first run came when Dave Bergmann doubled with one man down and, following an infield out, Red pitcher Gary Posselt laced a single down the first base line. The second tally, which drove Cordova from the mound in favor of Jim Bokelmann, came in the fifth when Jim Roark reached on a fielder's choice, followed by back-to-back singles.

Heights, meanwhile, had to wait until two men were out in the eighth before they could reach Posselt for any runs. But with two down, Cary Salm reached first on a checked-swing single, followed by Jack Bastable's crack up the middle. A passed ball advanced the runners a base, and then cleanup batter Bruce Frase powdered a fast ball to right center to score both men.

BOKELMANN HAD A chance to win his own game, then, but popped up for the third out. And despite threatening to score in the tenth, Heights was unable to put any more runners across home plate and the game was called after the tenth inning was finished.

In all, Cordova pitched four and one-third innings, giving up both runs, five hits and two walks while fanning five. Bokelmann chucked five and two-thirds stanzas, allowing three hits, no runs, and three walks while whiffing three. Posselt went the full ten innings against Heights, giving up ten hits and one walk while striking out six.

Heights Netmen Near League Title

The Arlington Heights Park District's entry in the Leighton tennis league claimed at least a share of the league title in the 16-and-under class and clinched the crown in the 14-and-under class with a pair of victories last week.

The two classes claimed double victories over Tennaqua and Barrington Bath and Tennis Club to remain undefeated this season, winning in the 14-year-old class, 3-2 and 5-0, and in the 16-year old class, 3-2 and 3-2.

Against Tennaqua, Heights found itself in trouble in the 16-year-old class when Tennaqua claimed the first two singles matches. But then Jeff Seeger and Mark Weeg claimed victories in third and fourth singles to knot the score at two-all. And the doubles combination of Jon Deevy and Bob Stubing won the rubber match and the meet for Arlington with a 6-4, 7-5 victory.

In 14-and-under competition against Tennaqua, Doug Myer led off with a win at first singles but Clare Gates was beaten at second. Nancy Skarzynski won third singles, but again Tennaqua evened the score with a win at fourth. But John Walsworth and Doug Scott came through for Heights with a victory at doubles to win the match.

Hosting Barrington, Arlington Heights had a much easier time of it, winning all but two matches.

Rob Zimmack led off in 16-year-old singles with a victory, but Dana Morien then fell at second singles. Bob Stubing also fell at third singles, but Jeff Seeger followed up with a win at fourth. And again the doubles team pulled the match out of the fire, Bob Bauer and Jon Deevy claiming a 6-4, 6-2 win.

Hoffman Race Taking Shape

Shaffer Springs and Bartholomew are currently in a hot battle for first place in the Hoffman Estates Park District Softball League. Both teams are getting close competition from the rest of the league as well.

Shaffer Springs and Bartholomew have 3-0 records and Schaumburg Transportation is right behind at 2-0. Diamond Cue has a 2-1 record and still is in the running.

Diamond Cue won the first half competition with a 6-0 record. Schaumburg Transportation and Shaffer Springs were 5-1, Schaumburg Jaycees was 2-3, Bartholomew was 2-4, Hough was 1-4 and the Hoffman Fire Dept. and the Hoffman Jaycees were 1-5.

The standings for the second half season are:

	W	L
Shaffer Springs	3	0
Bartholomew	3	0
Schaumburg Transport.	2	0
Diamond Cue	2	1
Hoffman Jaycees	1	2
Schaumburg Jaycees	0	2
Hoffman Fire Dept.	0	3
Hough	0	3

But in 14-year-old competition it was all Arlington Heights, as Nancy Skarzynski, Jim Merkel, Doug Myer and Clare Gates all claimed singles wins, and Doug Scott and Mike Skarzynski followed up with a win at doubles.

THE MORE CHEVYS WE SELL ... THE LESS YOU PAY! ... AND THAT PUTS THE DISTANCE BETWEEN US AND COMPETITION.

We put a lot of cars on the road (one out of every four cars you'll see is a Chevy). So we can stretch our profits thinner — taking a little bit less on each car we sell. And we make it up in volume. Our volume saves you money. That's simple economics. You can afford the luxury extras in a Chevy, for what you'd pay for a stripped-down model somewhere else. The competition can't beat Chevy. They can't even come near our volume prices. Only we cut the price before you start to deal.

Ninth District Story — Confusion!

by LARRY EVERHAULT

Getting legion baseball games played as something like organizing party games for small children in rowdy moods. The harder you try the harder it is to do.

The Ninth District, in a perennial state of chaos, has come in for a lot of criticism this year — as most legion fans know by now. That criticism has reached a crescendo this week with the playing — or, mostly, attempting — of the post-season tournament.

With all of the weird happenings, tremendous confusion and constant difficulty in getting games in, many coaches have probably been tempted to say, "The heck with it — let's not even try to play any more baseball this year."

UNFORTUNATELY, they have had to play this week — and as soon as possible. That's because it's tourney time now, and a league champ has to be determined and sent to the Cook County playoffs.

Part of the blame for the whole horrible mess can be placed on the miserable weather the area has seen for much of the summer. However, much of it must also be attributed to a lack of communication, foresight, and planning.

The end result? Well, for one thing, everyone's been kept guessing — and often, angry. But for another, some incidents have occurred which, in retrospect at least, are pretty humorous.

There have been so many times this year when one team or the other failed to show for a scheduled game that it would be impossible to enumerate them all. One of the most annoying — which didn't involve the Ninth District — victimized the Logan Square Lions recently.

THE LIONS HAD one of their frequent weekend trips planned, this one to Wisconsin. They were to play doubleheaders in Madison Saturday and Beloit Sunday. After rising bright and early, the Lions packed their equipment and set off.

They arrived in Madison in plenty of time for the twin bill that was never to be. Surprise! The Madison team was nowhere to be found.

After a little investigation, coach Larry Nomellini learned that the Madison nine was in Eau Claire, more than 100 miles away, for another contest. Not exactly what you'd call a gracious host.

SO THERE WAS nothing left for the Lions to do but hold an intersquad game — after traveling 150 miles for nothing. Even with the practice, Nomellini must have feared his boys were getting rusty from not playing a game that day. He remedied this by playing a tripleheader the next day at Beloit.

Another of the many "cases of the mis-ing teams" occurred last weekend when the River Grove squad seemingly disappeared into thin air. It was rumored that the whole team had been kidnapped, it had been that long since anybody had seen it. Some fans were about to contact the Bureau of Missing Teams (uh, persons) but decided it wasn't worth it.

Here's what happened: River Grove and the second place finisher, one of three possible teams, were to square off Saturday at 1 p.m. at Maine South High School in the first round of the post-season Ninth District tourney.

COMPLICATION No. 1 arose when it rained most of the week before. Des Plaines, one game behind Palatine, was to try and tie Palatine for the title but the game was eventually postponed five times. Until it was played, second place couldn't possibly be decided (Park Ridge also had a shot at it).

A downpour Saturday morning washed out all of that day's scheduled games. Solution? Very simple. Move Saturday's entire schedule to Sunday.

This being decided, the real complications started.

SUNDAY MORNING, Des Plaines showed up at Maine South for the game which was to start at 9 a.m. Palatine, reluctant to play with its one-game lead and wishing to give its ace pitcher as much rest as possible, finally arrived 45 minutes late. The game wasn't played anyway because much of the field was still under water.

Not knowing all this, we foolishly assumed the original schedule would hold and ventured to Park Ridge at 1 p.m. Not a soul was in sight.

Upon returning, we found out that the title game was just getting underway at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights and that River Grove would play the second place team, still any one of three, at 5:30 at Maine South.

PALATINE WON the game, leaving Des Plaines and Park Ridge in a tie for second. Park Ridge won a coin toss for second place. (A playoff would have been the logical way to decide it, but who has time for an extra game?) So Park Ridge was to play River Grove.

Park Ridge was at the appointed place at the appointed time, but River Grove wasn't. After a half-hour wait, Park Ridge was declared the winner by forfeit.

The next day, other teams began complaining that Park Ridge hadn't had to use a pitcher and should be forced to play to get a win. River Grove, which was contacted by some amazing feat, also squawked that they hadn't been informed of what was going on.

PARK RIDGE, wishing to be fair, allowed the game to be rescheduled for Monday. Guess what? River Grove was still hiding out. This time the game was forfeited, angering five other coaches again. As of Wednesday afternoon, the River Grove team still hadn't been spotted in these parts in days.

Were they rubbed out by the Mafia? Were they swallowed into the ground by a sudden earthquake? We don't know.

Then there have also been some "cases of the missing umpires." A couple of them went like this:

Palatine was scheduled against Arlington in a critical regular season test. Due to another breakdown in communication, the men in blue weren't around well after the game was to have started.

Larry Mlynarz, Paddock sportswriter, was pressed into emergency duty to call balls and strikes, while three scouts manned the bases. Mlynarz was unperturbed by the verbal abuse he received but reported, "I figured I wasn't doing too bad until I looked around and saw a rope and noose hanging from the backstop."

Then last Monday, no umps showed up for the Des Plaines-Logan Square tourney clash at St. Viator. (Half of the tourney had been moved there because no one could figure out how to remove the water from the Maine South field, a natural lake basin.)

Anyway, Des Plaines coach Keith Koentopp was eager to get the game in somehow. So he wandered over to Rec Park, where Arlington Heights was taking on Wheeling, and asked to borrow an ump or two. His plea was ignored.

SOME FANS thought Koentopp should disguise himself and put on a blue uniform, but this wasn't necessary. A nice fellow who lives across the street from St. Viator volunteered to arbitrate with the stipulation that if the game didn't go the full nine innings, it wouldn't count.

As you've probably guessed already, it didn't go nine innings. The start was so late that only 6½ frames could be completed. Logan Square, losing 8-3 and facing elimination with another defeat, was saved by darkness.

What will happen next? Well, just about anything could. Thinking about it staggers the imagination.

MAYBE ONE of these days, all seven league teams will show up at the same field at the same time with all the umpires at another site. Then the umps could have their own game and the teams could play a round-robin meet, with each inning being divided into sevenths. The teams not batting could provide pitchers and fielders on a rotating basis. It would be like a big track meet. If you don't finish first, you can shoot for second or third.

Impossible? No, it isn't. Anything is possible in legion baseball.

Keefe's Lands Paddock Berth

Keefe's Pharmacy moved back into the win column this week, defeating Striking Lanes 7 1/2-2 1/2 and amassing enough points to clinch their appearance in the Paddock Invitational Tournament as representatives of the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League.

The Pharmacist's victory was the more crucial because it was over second place Striking Lanes, the defeat knocking the Bowlers down to fourth place behind George L. Busse and Kirchhoff Insurance.

George L. Busse helped their own situation with a timely 7 1/2-2 1/4 victory over Mount Prospect Savings and Loan to wind up in second place, while Kirchhoff Insurance, with an 8-2 decision over Illinois Range, moved into third place, a mere half-point behind.

Kruse's Tavern, meanwhile, loused-up their own situation when the best they could do was squeak to a 5 1/2-4 1/2 win over Busse-Biermann Hardware and had to content themselves to remain in fifth.

The lower echelon teams, meanwhile, seemed to be in a dog fight of their own, endeavoring to escape the cellar Carter Music Shop battled to a 5-5 tie while Kersting Garden Center put together their third consecutive victory, a decisive 6-2 win over Licht's Paint Store, which dropped Licht's into a tie with the Gardeners for last place.

Low gross shooter for the night was Chris LaCaruba of the George L. Busse team who scored birdies on 10, 13 and 14 to come home with an even par 36 over the second nine. Next best low scores were a quartet of 39s composed by Don Snyder, Hal Jauch, Ed Laing and Jack Keyser.

Low net honors went to Bob Kline with a 46 gross 31 net.

Team standings July 22:

Keefe's Pharmacy	88
George L. Busse & Co	72 1/2
Kirchhoff Insurance	72
Striking Lanes	71
Kruse's Tavern and Rest	69
Busse-Biermann Hdwe	64 1/2
Illinois Range	64
Mt. Prospect Savings & Loan	60
Carter Music Shop	57 1/2
Louie's Barber Shop	56
Licht's Paint Store	50 1/2
Kersting Garden Center	50 1/2

Grove High Netmen Win

Backed by four singles victories, the Elk Grove tennis team's high school boys division handled Addison Trail 5-2.

Pete Carriglio bumped Ken Skopec, 6-1, 6-4. Pat Massey blanked Bill Federicks, 6-0, 6-0. Chris Lesnink stopped Bruce Knieper 6-1, 6-0, and Chuck Carroll beat Jim Calvin, 6-2, 6-0.

The Grove's only doubles win came when Mark Greenberg and Mike Smith outlasted Vanroon and Keys, 6-4, 6-1.

Steve Maresco and Al Lewandowski fell before the combination of Wilson and Wolinski, 6-1, 6-2. And Mike Kinn and Bob Pastel also were stopped by Bernstein and Bean 7-5, 6-4.

Addison won the girls division 8-4 and the junior boys division 5-2.

Recently Carroll Stream invaded the Grove for a meet and the hosts nearly blanked them on each level. The high school Grenadiers won, 7-0, the juniors won 7-0 and the girls won 5-1.

The Elk Grove team will take on Fenton this afternoon at one o'clock. A week from today the Grenadiers will host the league tournament in which a separate title will be handed out to the winner. In this way there's a chance that there might be a league champ and a different tourney champ.

BROKEN-FIELD MANEUVER was a part of the action Monday as football took the spotlight in Arlington Heights Park District summer program. It's not too early to start thinking about football and gloves — at least for this day.

If you're counting on a new VW, you can stop at '1909

In fact, when it comes to money, a VW will save you a lot of counting after you buy it, too.

Chrysler's (gets up to 27 mpg)

On a 100-hour ever needs any between changes)

And, since the engine star cooled you never have to dish it out on anti freeze.

So if you don't like to count, buy a Volkswagen.

It figures.

Gators Clinch League Crown

The Gators clinched first place championship honors in Buffalo Grove's Farm League competition.

Manager Ed Mayer's charges concluded season play with an overwhelming 17-0 win over the second place Seals and a 1-0 win over the third place Hippos 19-6, are now deadlocked in second place with the Rhinos in the important loss column.

In the Minor League South Division, the Angels clinched first place honors with four consecutive wins over the past week extending their win streak to 11 straight after a slow start. The Angels rose from an early season record of 2 wins and 3 losses to finish with an overall 13-3 record. Manager Egon Junge's Angels will face the North Division Astros in a 3 game series for the League championship.

THE SOX OF the Major League all but clinched their divisions title with three more wins over the past week to bring their overall record to 15 wins and a single loss. The battle for second place is still contested between the Phillies and the Tigers, with the Phillies holding the edge in the loss column.

The Sox victories featured two consecutive no-hit pitching performances by Doug Richter. In an 11-0 rout of the Yankees he walked two, struck out seven and one batter reached on an error. The next time out Richter shut out the Cubs 3-0 allowing only three walks while striking out nine. In the other Sox tilt, Manager Gene Murny's charges defeated the Indians 11-3. Throughout the season the Sox offense has featured a well-balanced attack and fearless base-running, while the defense performs almost flawlessly in support of their hurlers.

In other Major League games, the Tigers shut out the Yankees 8-0 behind Glenn Sieczka who struck out 13 batters while recording his fourth shutout of the season. Ted Steffens led the offense with a 3-run homer. In another game Jim Hudkins led the Yankees to a 12-4 win over the Cubs with 4 hits in 4 times at bat.

IN MINOR LEAGUE games, the previously unbeaten Astros suffered their first loss at the hands of the Orioles 14-7. The Astros rebounded the following day defeating the Giants 9-5. The Cards, deadlocked for second place in the North Division with the Orioles defeated the Orioles 8-2 in a showdown, but were humbled the following day by the Pirates 8-7.

In other games the Cards and Pirates took turns defeating the Giants 14-1 and 7-4 respectively. In the South Division the Angels defeated the Twins twice 13-7 and 8-6 after trailing 6-1 and 5-1 going into the late innings. The Angels also defeated the Athletics 4-2 and the Mets 12-7. In the battle for second place in the South Division, the Athletics lost to the Mets 4-3 but defeated the Twins 16-3, while the Senators retained their edge beating the Mets 14-10.

Rain Slows Down Softball Season

As of July 16, the standings in the Rolling Meadows Park District's Men's 16-inch Softball League are as follows:

	W	L
Bank & Pharmacy of R M	7	3
Rolling Meadows Bowl	8	4
Hallersafter	7	4
Nitehawks II	7	4
Vandy Real Estate	5	5
Method Manufacturing	4	7
Rolling Meadows Fire Dept	3	8
The Castaways	1	8

Due to excessive rain, all teams have made-up games to squeeze in between now and July 27th, when the championship semi-finals are scheduled to begin. A Sunday double header is scheduled at all three of the softball diamonds (two diamonds at Carl Sandburg and one at Kimball Hill).

The teams will be playing their regularly scheduled games on Tuesday and Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at those diamonds.

YOU MISSED! That might have been Logan Square catcher Mike Golden's remark when Des Plaines' Tom Bartlett failed to make contact with the ball. However, his teammates did and were leading 8-3 before the District Nine Tournament game had to be called on account of darkness.

One of the very best ways you can get a new baby started in life is by buying him or her a U.S. Savings Bond. And once you're started, keep on with it. As the baby grows, the Bonds you keep buying will grow, too. When the baby is ready for college, the Bonds will be ready to help pay for college.

NOW—Higher Rates!

Savings Bonds now pay 4.25% when held to maturity—and Freedom Shares (sold in combination with E Bonds) pay a full 5%. The extra interest will be added as a bonus at maturity.

And now you can buy the Bond/Freedom Share combination any time — no monthly commitment necessary. Get the facts where you work or bank.

GROUND-BREAKING ceremonies were recently held for an L. Karp & Sons Bakery Supply on Estes Ave., Elk Grove Village. The 52,000 square foot warehouse was designed by A. Epstein & Sons, Chicago. Scheduled to be completed in December of this year, the building will feature a sugar supply system for food processing fed by 12,000 feet of tubing across the roof of the building. An added feature will be the establishment of an in-service training school for bakers and doughnut makers for the benefit of the entire baking industry, according to Jack L. Karp, president of the company.

COOK COUNTY REAL estate transfers increased 8.7 per cent in the first six months of 1969, but mortgages and mortgage considerations were slightly lower, it was reported by Cook County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen. Half-year totals showed 8,753 transfers filed, compared with 8,179 in the same period of 1968. Restrictive lending policies and a shortage of funds in the usual sources in mortgages contributed to the slower activity in mortgage filings, according to Olsen. The number was down 0.8 per cent from the 1968 figure of 41,468.

THE MOUNT PROSPECT State Bank has added a new credit program available to all qualified checking account customers. The new service called "Ready Credit" allows customers to create a loan by writing a check according to Richard Hughes, vice president. The amount of each customer's credit line, from $500 to $5,000 is established by the bank when the Ready Credit application is approved.

A POP ORGAN concert will be held at the Karnes Music store, 9900 Milwaukee Ave., Des Plaines Tuesday, July 29, at 7:30 p.m. Guest Organist Ronnie Vaughan is a graduate of Elgin Junior College and has completed his junior year at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. Admission to the concert is free. Refreshments will be served and a door prize will be given away.

THE CHICAGO, Milwaukee St. Paul and Pacific Railroad announced recently that it plans to discontinue a pair of passenger trains known as the Varsity and designated Nos. 117 and 118 now operating on a reduced schedule basis between Chicago and Madison Wis. The notice of intention to discontinue the trains was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission setting Aug. 18 as the effective date. The railroad cited declining patronage and continuing deficits as reasons for its action. It provides daily passenger service from Chicago to Madison on its trains Nos. 11 and 22 the Sioux.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON CO. will display a replica of its Zion nuclear power station to be one of the largest in the world at the Lake County Fair July 23-27 from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. The true-to-scale model of the pressurized water reactor plant was made for Edison by Western Electric Corp. and shipped to Chicago from Pennsylvania. Chairman J. Harris Ward also announced that the company was awarded a $100 million issue of four year 8 per cent first mortgage bonds to a group of underwriters co-managed by the First Boston Corp. and Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. He said the annual money cost to the company, exclusive of expenses is 7.74 per cent.

THE ANNUAL MARTINIQUE — Drury Lane outing will be held Tuesday, Aug. 5, by the Northern Illinois Home Builders Association. The DuPage County builders will see "Dear Me the Sky is Falling" starring Virginia Graham. The evening will begin with a dinner at the Martinique restaurant followed by the play in the Drury Lane theater.

CHICAGO AREA FORD dealers recently attended the Tascas Dealer Performance Seminar at U.S. 30 Drag Strip near Gary Ind. Traveling from city to city, the Tascas seminar is housed in a 40-foot van stocked with a Boss Mustang analysis machines and the tools needed to keep the performance cars performing. While mechanics demonstrate their skill in servicing performance cars, Bob Tascas, a Rhode Island Ford dealer, tells the dealers and their sales staff how to sell them.

ROBERT W. GALVIN, chairman Motorola Inc., recently announced record second quarter sales and other revenue of $214,176,002 up 22 per cent compared to last year. Earnings for the quarter, $137 a share, were up 32 per cent from the same quarter in 1968. In the Apollo 10 and Apollo 11 missions, Motorola equipment was involved in every stage from lift-off to re-entry, including transmission of voice and TV signals.

Mirror Manufacturer Names Guzy To Post

Elmer Mike Guzy of Arlington Heights has been appointed eastern midwest sales manager for Hoyne Industries, Inc., 13951 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Calif., manufacturer of mirrors, frames and decorative glass tile.

Guzy will be responsible for sales east of the Rocky Mountains and will headquarter at the new plant 5829 Ogden Ave., Chicago. Ronald Greenberg continues as western sales manager, responsible for sales west of the Rocky Mountains, with headquarters at the home-office plant in Los Angeles.

Guzy has been in the glass business for more than 21 years and is a widely known figure in the trade. He was recently with Century Industries, where he was vice-president and sales manager.

A MODEL home of Blume Construction Co., Arlington Heights, will be featured on the new TV Showplace of Homes program on WFLD-TV Channel 32 between 11:30 a.m. and noon on Sunday July 27. The show spotlights new homes, apartments, and townhouses in the Chicago area, assisting the prospective home buyer in planning a personal visit to a home-site.

BAIRD & WARNER INC. real estate financing reached an all time high for the first six months of 1969 with a volume of $25,127,140, a 22 per cent increase over the same period last year, according to Laurence H. Cleland, senior vice president and manager of the firm. He said the company's concentration in 1969 on industrial properties reflect lenders' efforts to diversify their interests. He anticipates the greatest mortgage activity in the coming months to be in FHA insured loans.

RECENT CONVENTIONS at Arlington Park Towers, Arlington Heights, include Peat Marwick Mitchell and Co., Seeburg Corp., Phillips Petroleum and Horseman's Benevolent Protective Ass'n.

Next Van You See May Be Your Own

If you're among the millions of families moving this year, it is well for you to know as much as possible about moving and to beware of the pit-falls often occurring when people move their household possessions.

The Better Business Bureau lists three main considerations for those people migrating to another state or even within the same town.

First, be sure you are dealing with a reliable company. Though the moving and storage industry is a substantial one, there are a few fly-by-night companies in existence. An investigation of the firm's reputation for fair handling can be done in advance by asking for and checking references or by making inquiry at a Better Business Bureau. Inspection of the warehouse if goods are to be stored is important.

Second, understand that the cost estimate on the job is not binding on the company, and in the case of a fly-by-night firm, may be substantially lower than the ultimate charges. An estimate may vary from the final charge, which must be collected in accordance with the lawfully filed tariff required by the Interstate Commerce Commission, if the move is to another state. Your assistance in arriving at an accurate estimated weight of shipment by calling attention to the contents of closets, attics, basements and garages will assure a more accurate estimate.

Third, be sure you are adequately proected by insurance or extended carrier liability against loss or damage. The customer must determine what protection is available. For moving within a city, for instance, protection offered may be narrow in its coverage. In a move from one city to another in the same state, the laws of the state control the requirements for coverage. In moves from one state to another, regulations of the I.C.C. limit a mover's liability, but for an additional charge or with the purchase of transit insurance from an insurance company, greater coverage may be gained.

In addition to these considerations, there are other steps that will smooth the way. Packing should be done well in advance, discarding all items of little use. Movers be moved should be disconnected. Furnishings will help with the packing or in getting proper cartons for packing. Appliances to be moved should not be overloaded. Valuable and personal items should be packed separately.

At the proper time, a range to have the utilities disconnected and remove drapes, swing sets and any other items to be moved.

Notify the post office, government agencies, department of motor vehicles, insurance companies, charge accounts and publications of the change in address.

Make travel and hotel arrangements before moving. Pets and house plants must also receive special care.

Sound Suppression

Separate apartment buildings for adults and couples with young children have been planned at Kassuba's Fairway Trace in Des Plaines, where the first apartments of the new 504-unit rental community are now available for occupancy.

"We have already rented 68 of the 72 units in the first building," said Fred Choate, manager "proof that tenants appreciate the separation of apartment communities into 'all-adult' and 'young family' buildings. Acoustical materials have been incorporated for sound suppression."

Seven four-story buildings are planned for Fairway with additional buildings to be designated 'all-adult' (no children under the age of 16 permitted as residents).

Fairway Trace is at 9700 N. Dee Road, near Golf Mill Shopping Center, Golf Mill Theater and the Morton Grove Movie Theater. A 22-acre park, with recreational facilities planned, is four blocks away.

Set in 12 acres of wooded, landscaped grounds overlooking the Green Lake Golf Course, the buildings are interspersed around a large swimming pool with diving board; a wading pool and play areas for children; private parking areas and gas-lit strollways. A separate 50 by 65-foot recreation building equipped with showers adjoins the pool area.

The buildings each have two elevators. They have fully-carpeted hallways, separate laundry rooms with washers and dryers, master color TV antennas and individual storage facilities.

There are one, two and three-bedroom apartments, each with its own private patio or balcony and with living and dining areas, bedrooms and closets. All apartments are unfurnished but are equipped with wall-to-wall carpeting and drapery rods, and within 10 days, can be furnished completely through a local furniture-leasing company. They have individually-controlled baseboard gas heating and air-conditioning units.

The kitchens are equipped with Westinghouse electric appliances including refrigerators, dishwashers, disposals, vent fans, and have wall-length walnut-finished cabinets, and gas ranges. The bathrooms are ceramic-tiled and have built-in mirrored vanities.

Rentals run from $190 per month to $250 and $300 for the one, two and three-bedroom units, respectively. The models may be seen from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

ASSURANCE OF PRIVACY accounts for the rapid rental of apartments before the occupancy date, according to Fred Choate, manager of Fairway Trace in Des Plaines.

Seven four-story buildings planned will be designated "all-adult" or "young family" buildings. One, two and three-bedroom apartments are available, each with its own private balcony or patio.

Listing Service Elects Directors

New officers and board of directors for M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service were recently elected.

Jack L. Kemmerly, Kemmerly Realtors, is president; other officers include: Aldo Cinquini, Arlington Realty, vice president; and Terry Bolger, Bolger Realtors, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Bill Annen, Annen & Busse; Willis Nieman, Gallery of Homes Northwest; Roger Walter, Baird and Warner; Robert L. Nelson, Robert L. Nelson, Realtors; and Robert Starck, Robert Starck & Co.

Ward's Promotion For Bartleson

Warner H.
Bartleson

Warner H. Bartleson of Mount Prospect, has been appointed merchandise control manager in Montgomery Ward's refrigeration department. It was announced by James Lutz, executive vice president in charge of merchandising. Bartleson, 32, had been central buying manager for housewares and traffic appliances.

He joined Wards in 1959 as an assistant merchandiser in the St. Paul catalog house. He later became senior control buyer in the same house, central control buyer in the Kansas City catalog house and systems analyst in the Chicago office.

Born in Cut Bank, Mont., he attended Flathead County high school in Kalispell, Mont., and St. Olaf college in Northfield, Minn.

Boucher in Institute

Richard Boucher, 919 Lincoln Square, Elk Grove Village, housekeeping and central supply services director at St. Alexius Hospital, participated in a three-day Institute on Hospital Housekeeping conducted by the American Hospital Association held recently at their headquarters in Chicago. The Institute was sponsored by the Tri-State Hospital Assembly, Illinois Hospital Association and the Chicago Hospital Council.

Among topics discussed by representatives from hospitals in all parts of the United States were costs, scheduling, quality control, reducing personnel turnover, incentives and labor relations.

Leroy E. Burkland, 231 Montrose, Wood Dale, will retire July 31 after more than 45 years service at Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., Chicago.

A second vice president in the operating department, Burkland joined the former Illinois Merchants Trust Co. as a bookkeeper in 1923. He later was supervisor and manager in the Continental account-purchasing division.

He was elected assistant cashier in October, 1950, and second vice president in the operating department in January, 1966.

Exteriors Vary at Three Fountains

At Three Fountains Apartments in Plum Grove, Palatine, one of the most attractive features of the development is the variety of the architecture.

Now nearing completion, exterior styling of Three Fountains' eleven three-story buildings is reminiscent of the baronial estates of 18th century Europe, according to the management.

Entrance to Three Fountains, via a winding drive and an old world stone gatehouse, is on Algonquin Road.

Covering approximately 25 acres, the buildings are irregularly positioned along curving, finished avenues.

Rentals at Three Fountains start at $200 a month for the one-bedroom suites and $255 a month for the two-bedroom suites. All of these Scholz-designed apartment homes include heating and air conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, individual storage and parking facilities. Indoor parking is also available, with electronic units carried in residents' cars to operate the garage doors.

Exterior lines of the individual Three Fountains buildings incorporate mansard roofs and mullion windows, and construction is of brick and stone in subdued colors.

Each suite has a balcony or patio just outside the living room. This overlooks the landscaped grounds and provides an extension of the living room for family relaxation or entertaining.

Exterior styling for each building — containing from 40 to 50 suites of one and two bedrooms — has been varied. One building may recall the Italian renaissance period; another, French provincial design, and the next, the southern colonial concept.

Interior layouts for the individual suites also vary. Baths in each apartment vary from one to two, and kitchens feature color-matched appliances.

Furnished model apartments are open daily at Three Fountains, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. They may also be viewed by appointment.

New Boutique At Arlington

Imported ribbon knits are among the specialties of the Clothes Horse Boutique, newly opened in Arlington Park Towers, Arlington Heights.

The store carries nearly 100 lines of clothing, including Dior and Sarni. Mrs. Jeanne Milke, manager of the boutique, said, "We have everything from casual and sportswear to evening gowns, from low to high-priced merchandise." Jewelry, hats and other accessories are also available.

Located to the right of the hotel lobby, the Clothes Horse serves both hotel guests and local residents. Mrs. Milke describes an "elegant, Las Vegas" atmosphere to the boutique.

The store will provide fashion shows for conventions at the hotel and luncheon shows at the Horseshoe Club. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Moran, owners, operate two other Clothes Horse boutiques in Wisconsin, one in Beloit and the other at the Playboy Club on Lake Geneva.

of Pittsburgh. Formerly, he was probation officer for Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and counselor, Personnel Training Center, St. Francis Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Karnes Becomes Biggest Dealer

Marion Karnes of Karnes Music store in Des Plaines, recently announced his purchase of the 40-year-old retail portion of the Lyons Band Instrument Co., thus becoming the owner of the largest unit and dollar volume band instrument operation in the United States, he said.

His new acquisition has been renamed the Lyons Musical Instrument Co. and relocated at 2399 Devon Ave., Elk Grove Village. Ernie Carr, former district manager of H. & A. Selmer, was appointed general manager of the new division.

Karnes said that the total selling operation would result in a 20 per cent increased sales volume for the 1969-70 school selling season. He states that the Lyons, acquisition will almost double the sales volume from band and orchestra instruments previously sold by the five Karnes stores.

Karnes also announced that a free piano clinic for piano teachers will be held Aug. 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Des Plaines store. Given by William Gillock, the workshop will consist of a lecture and demonstration on his new course of study, "piano all the way."

Marion Karnes

EACH BUILDING FEATURES its own variation of architecture, from Italian Renaissance to French Provincial, at Three Fountains Apartments in Plum Grove, Palatine. These Scholz-designed apartments also feature interior layout variety, with one or two-bedroom suites available.

Great Potential of NW Fair

Response to the Northwest Suburban Fair and Exposition, sponsored by Paddock Publications has been very good, according to planners of the Sept. 17-21 event.

"Though half the time has elapsed during which space can be reserved over two-thirds of the space has already been taken," said William Dubinsky, who along with his father Frank is producing the show. "We have almost 60 firms committed about one-third new accounts and two-thirds among those who exhibited last year's proof of the great success of last year's show. Though space is limited, there is still room left for other companies to join in the excitement of the fair."

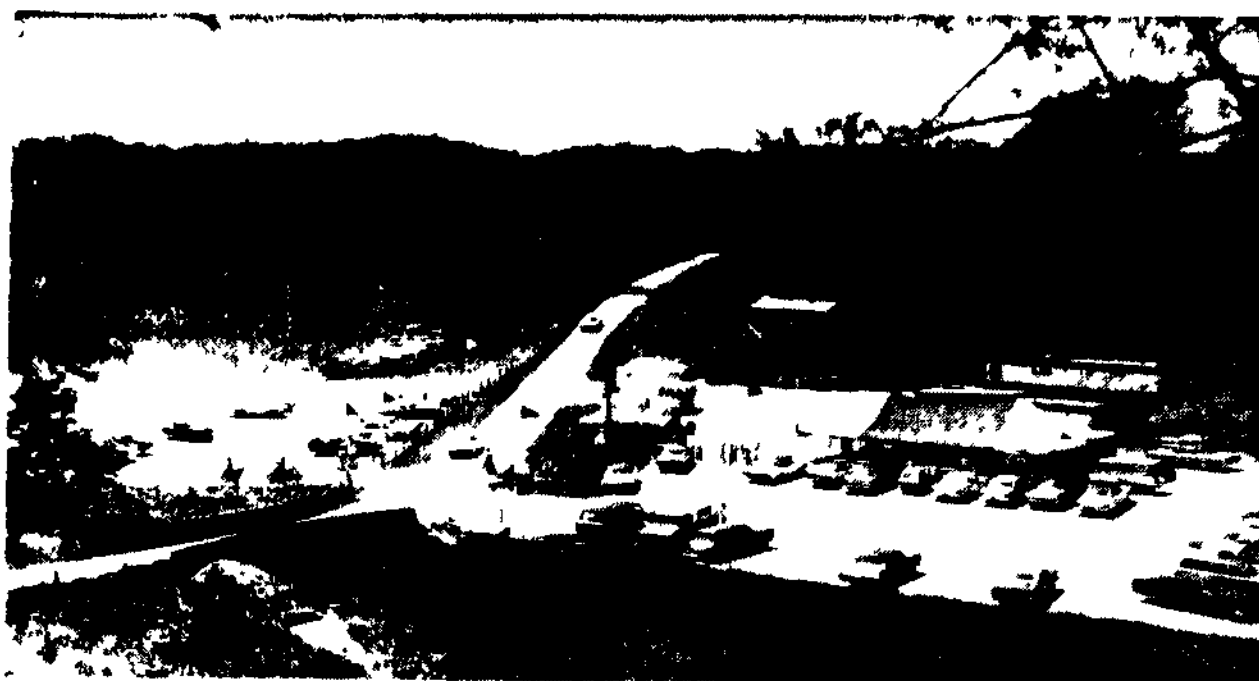

Companies which have already reserved space for the fair are widely diversified, including such firms as Club Internationale, a European travel group, Investors Diversified, for those interested in stocks and other investments, Palatine Pro Sports Center, a local supplier of sporting apparel and equipment, World of Wigs, with demonstrations of latest in wigs, the Last Straw with a line of straw wares, Lost National Lakes, a real estate resort promotion, and politicians, including Schlickmann for Congress and Mathewson for Congress.

Two important points to remember according to Robert Y. Paddock, executive vice president of Paddock Publications, are that 65 per cent of last year's exhibitors have returned again this year and that there are probably over 100,000 new people in the surrounding area covered by Paddock Publications since last year's show.

the Northwest Suburban area and businesses located here.

Exhibitors in last year's show returning in the fall range from small independent companies such as Heinz Viennese Pastry and W. D. Electric to larger firms such as Western Electric and Landwehr's TV and Appliances. The many non-commercial elements in the show will put visitors in the best frame of mind when they visit the business section of the show, said Paddock.

For further information about the fair and exposition call Bill Dubinsky at 394-2800.

APPLE CANYON LAKE property office, hospitality center and parking areas shown above will be covered with water when 400 acres of water are impounded by the new 1,000-foot dam. Apple Canyon Lake is a development of the Branigar Organization, Medinah.

Add Hospitality Center

A new hospitality center will soon be open at Apple Canyon Lake, the private recreation home site development now under construction by the Branigar Organization Inc. according to Maynard O. Hestrom, vice president of the developing company. He said the center will cater to entire families of interested visitors to the development.

The hospitality center is designed to make visits to Apple Canyon Lake a pleasant and enjoyable experience for the entire family," Hestrom said. "The installation will have brightly colored tents where visitors will see films of other Branigar developments to acquaint them with the quality and attention to detail which characterize all of our projects. There will also be a kiddie zoo, a playground and backboard rides."

"A snack bar will be available," Hestrom said. "We expect many family groups to visit us since the lake is only a two-hour drive from Chicago and we believe that the hospitality center will give every visitor a taste of what recreational living will be like at Apple Canyon Lake," Hestrom said.

The hospitality center will be open every day from 10 a.m. until dusk," Hestrom said. Apple Canyon Lake is now under construction 17.5 miles northeast of Geneva.

Expressing Personal Taste

At Sleepy Hollow, a community just west of Dundee on Rt. 72 — visitors to the model home group are discovering opportunities for exercising their personal preferences in interior decoration.

Several of the models have been cited for awards by Parents' Magazine, American Home and other nationally-known publications. Designer Don Scholz, head of Scholz Homes, Inc., says: "At Sleepy Hollow, we believe interior layout and basic features are of utmost importance. That's why we make a special effort to use attractive and unusual interior ideas — ideas that actually invite buyers to express their own individual tastes in decorating a home."

ONE OF THE MODELS is the "Southbridge Harbor," a ranch plan with two-and-a-half baths. Available in a wide choice of exterior styles, the basic layout offers an interior which allows plenty of opportunity for original ideas in decor.

The first such opportunity is found in the front entry. The guest closet takes up only one-third of the wall area on one side — leaving wall area for decoration.

On the opposite side of the foyer is the entrance to the living room. A formal fireplace is at one end of the room; however, the room lends itself to more informal decor, if desired.

THE OUTSTANDING feature of interior concept in the "Southbridge Harbor" is the arrangement of the family room, kitchen and breakfast nook. These are all semi-open to each other, creating an entire integrated living area. Located at the rear of the house, the breakfast nook and the family room have sliding glass doors opening out to the patio. An unusual feature is the special serving counter between kitchen and patio.

Other features inviting decorative effort include the informal fireplace and beamed ceiling of the family room, and the room-divider between family room and informal eating area of the kitchen. This consists of a series of polished, matched grain turned posts; however, other divider styles may be utilized.

ANOTHER AREA given special attention for decorative effect in the Sleepy Hollow models is the bathroom. "Ideal" is the family bath of the "Saybrook" — a two-story Colonial home with five bedrooms. Here, for added convenience and interest, there are two sections which may be closed off from one another. Of course, lighting, fixtures and built-in vanity are of latest design.

Sleepy Hollow is open to inspection through the week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily — 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays — and, on Sundays, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

MULTIPLE DECOR opportunities are available in the Scholz-designed models at Sleepy Hollow, located on Rt. 72 just west of Dundee. Photo inicates two sections which may be temporarily closed off in the bathroom of the Saybrook model, a five-bedroom, two-story Colonial design.

Evans Firm Makes Debut

Roger H. Evans, a new real estate firm, is now located at 399 Palatine Road, Prospect Heights.

The owner of the new enterprise, Roger H. Evans of Wheeling, has been active in the real estate field for the past ten years, formerly associated with Peters and Evans, Realtors, and the L. B. Andersen real estate firm. He is a member of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors and has served on its board of directors, as well as on the associate committee of the Illinois Board of Realtors.

Evans received a B.S. degree in economics from the University of Illinois. He was recently appointed to the Urban Land Committee of the National Institute of Land Brokers.

EVANS SPECIALIZES in the development of land for investors in industrial, commercial and residential properties, as well as appraisals. Evans' sales staff includes Bill Allen, Paul Doetsch, Paul LaDue, Don Johansen, Joan Evans and Harold Evans.

The new agency uses the REALTRON computer service sponsored by the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors. Through the use of this multiple listing service, a salesman may obtain within minutes information on homes listed in the area meeting a buyers' requirements.

Carlson is Promoted At Chemetron Corp.

Kenneth C.
Carlson

Promotion of Kenneth C. Carlson, 122 N. Addison St., Bensenville, to payroll and office services manager is announced by Chemetron Corporation, Chicago.

Carlson joined the company, a leading producer of industrial and medical gases and related equipment, chemicals, metal products and process equipment, in 1942. He attended Walton School of Accounting.

Two Graduated From Motorola

William P. Mahoney, 1113 W. Miner St. and Vincent J. May, 12 N. Evanston, both of Arlington Heights, were members of the thirteenth graduating class of the Motorola Executive Institute, held recently in Vail, Ariz.

The 15 company executives who completed an intensified one-month management development course at the school received their diplomas and congratulations from William J. Weisz, executive vice president, Motorola Inc., during a commencement exercise.

Mahoney is manager of materials administration and is located with the firm's Consumer Products Division in Franklin Park. May is assistant division controller at Motorola's Communications Division, 4501 W. Augusta Blvd., Chicago.

Crawford Named Sales Manager

John R. Crawford, 524 S. Lincoln Lane, Arlington Heights, has been appointed sales engineer for the tri-state Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana area by UOP Johnson Division, Universal Oil Products Co. His offices are located at 95 Randall St. in Elk Grove Village.

UOP Johnson manufactures custom-designed screen, filter and stainer elements for a wide range of separation applications in a variety of industries. UOP Johnson is headquartered in St. Paul, Minn. The parent firm, Universal Oil Products, is based in Des Plaines at 39 Algonquin Road.

Crawford is a member of the Chicago Chapter of the Filtration and Separation Society, and his background includes long experience with industrial filtration and pumping equipment. He also holds membership in the American Chemical Society and the Chicago Waste Water and Sewage Society, and for many years was active in the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

He was graduated from Tufts College, Medford, Mass., in 1941 with a B. S. in chemistry.

Graffy Named Plant Manager

Thomas F. Graffy of 4212 Auburn St., Rockford, formerly of Mount Prospect, has been named plant manager of Imperial-Eastman's Aeroline Products Division, Rockford, according to Frederick W. Winter, Imperial-Eastman president.

He will be responsible for the production, development and design of bent tube assemblies, the plant's principal product.

Before joining Imperial-Eastman, he was chief design engineer for the Industrial Controls Division of General Precision, Inc., Morton Grove.

Graffy attended Purdue University but was graduated from Chicago's Aeronautical University with a bachelor's degree in aeronautical engineering. He also attended Northwestern University and the Illinois Institute of Technology where he worked toward a masters degree.

Mrs. Ruthanne
Johnson

Mrs. Ruthanne Johnson of Arlington Heights, has been appointed advertising staff assistant at Kraft Foods according to an announcement by Chester R. Green, vice president of marketing.

In her new capacity Mrs. Johnson will work on Kraft's advertising program involving various product lines, the Youth and Home Economics advertising and Kraft's expanding educational and film programs.

She joined Kraft in 1951, and since 1958 she has been a member of the marketing department in which she has fulfilled numerous marketing assignments. She has a Bachelor of Philosophy degree from Northwestern University.

She Joins Allstate

Mrs. Barbara K. Geister, 2306 Algonquin Road, Rolling Meadows, has joined the Allstate Insurance Companies as a Personnel Interviewer in the Personnel Department of the firm's Illinois Regional Office, Skokie.

Fettes Elected V.P.

Robert E. Fettes

The board of directors of Container Corporation of America today elected Robert E. Fettes of Glenview, a vice president of the company which has a plastics plant in Addison.

Fettes has been associated with the company since 1954, when he joined as internal auditor in the corporate headquarters in Chicago. He has since served as plant controller in the Fernandina Beach, Fla., and Los Angeles, Calif., shipping container facilities, and in positions in the department of the company controller. In 1966, he was made company controller, a position he will continue to hold.

Mr. Fettes is an alumni of the University of Notre Dame (B.A. 1949) and the University of Chicago (M.B.A. 1950), and served as a First Lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force from 1950-1953.

Hayley is in Program

Wheeling resident Ralph Q. Hayley, who is a staff manager of the Prudential Insurance Co.'s Palatine district office, located at 235 N. Northwest Hwy., recently completed a five-day management training program held in the company's Mid-America home office, Chicago.

According to Frederic J. Thiel, CLU, manager of the office, Hayley was among 18 staff managers from Prudential offices in Illinois and Indiana who were invited to attend the course in the Chicago-based regional office in the Prudential Building.

Hayley became associated with the company as an agent in June, 1959. He was advanced to his present position as staff manager in September, 1968.

Dana Joins Developers

James H. Dana

James H. Dana has joined Bennett and Kahnweiler, Chicago-based industrial real estate developer and broker, it was announced recently by Marshall Bennett and Louis S. Kahnweiler, partners.
